5 Teachers Leaving New Ulm High Faculty

Four vacancies for next year in our school system were announced by the New Ulm Board of Education.

Miss Jean Treadwell, who teaches English and Latin, plans on retiring after serving our school for 39 years. She came here from North Branch and had previously spent a year of teaching at Alden.

Miss Anne Kittleson is also planning to leave this year. She has been our school nurse for the past five years but has now decided to leave the field of public health and enter the field of anesthesia. She will be studying at Northwestern Hospital in Minneapolis.

James Baril has accepted an assistantship at Washington State College, Fullman, Washington. He has taught German in the senior high, and seventh and tenth grade English for the past 2 years.

Miss Joy Herrmann, 4th grade instructor at Emerson school, has also turned in her resignation. Her future plans are not yet known but will be announced later.

Mr. Wood has been awarded an assistantship at the University of Iowa for the next school year. While there he will be teaching American government and working toward his Ph. D. in political science.

During the summer he hopes again to work for the United States Custom Service at the Canadian Border, and will go to Iowa in September.

Mr. Wood, who has been on the NUHS faculty for the past three years, also has his Masters Degree from the University of Iowa.

Our Sympathy Is Extended

The sympathy of the faculty and student body of NUHS is extended to the parents of Dennis Thompson, seventeen, who died at Union Hospital, on Thursday, March 26, where he had been a patient for a week.

Dennis was a junior, a member of the band, choir, and FFA. He had been doing photography work for both the Graphos and the Eagle. Dennis was quiet but conscientious, and had many interests and was always faithful and dependable. He will be missed as a worker in the classroom, the corridors and extracurricular activities.

At the funeral, March 30, at Our Savior's Lutheran Church, in Butternut, the Madrigals, a caroler group from NUHS, sang. Two junior boys, Gerald Tobias and Bob Sandson, and senior, Ronald Dahlthorp, were pallbearers, as well as three boys from his church.

A number of students and faculty members also attended.

World Affairs Test To Be Given To Special Social Class

The World Affairs Program, which has been offered to the Upper Midwest students, will be climaxed with a final test April 10.

The fourth hour social class which has been participating in this program will be among the 20,000 students who will be taking this test. The top 50 of the entire group will then be given daylong final test and will be honored at a banquet in Minneapolis.

The six students making the best records in the state will be awarded a four-day trip to New York and the United Nations. The group will have the opportunity to meet world figures, attend briefings and attend firsthand "the world's hope for peace."

New Ulm's one act play, which gained an excellent rating in district competition.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Student Teachers Arrive

Miss Janet Kraft from the University of Minnesota will be teaching Home Economics with Miss Westling. She will be here from April 6 to May 6.

Mr. Richard Lawrence will teach the Commercial Department from March 31 to May 1. He will be taking over most of Mr. Olson's and Mrs. Franklin's classes. Mr. Lawrence attends Mankato State Teachers College.

Spring Meeting of County Teachers Set

The Brown County Education Association, an organization of all teachers in the country, has set the date for their spring meeting for Tuesday evening, April 14, at 6:30 in Hanska. The BCEA has officers, inspirational speakers, and occasional discussions pertaining to problems of education. Dr. E. W. Ziebarth will speak to the group after the banquet.

Eight NUHS Students to Vie in Speech

In the Regional Speech Festival on Thursday April 9, eight students from NUHS will represent our school.

They are as follows: discussion, Bertha Larson and Lois Karl; memorized oratory, Leslie Lueck; original oratory, Ann Vogel and Myron Frisch; pantomine, Alan Runck; extemporaneous speech, Gary Kleinsmith and Howard Vogel.

The winners of the Regional will then go to the state on April 17.

Concert, Band Clinic, Attendance, a Success

"One of our best crowds ever at a band concert"—"A very successful band clinic in the little Theater"—commented Mr. Strang concerning the spring concert and clinic on last Sunday. In the audience were many band directors and brass specialists from surrounding towns.

Don Jacoby, CBS Chicago Studio, trumpet specialist, complimented the band. He felt they did a terrific job in following his direction.

After the concert, 100-150 students and directors attended the clinic in the Little Theater.

Eagle

Final plans for the Eagle are in progress with the printing already started and the final pictures being taken. The cover design, which is based on a silhouette picture of two NUHS students, is being made by H. J. Dahl Company, Minneapolis.

H. J. Dahl Company, Minneapolis. The New Ulm Publishing company is doing the printing.

One Act Flay Flaces Third

The one act play, "The Enemy" placed third in the one act play contest on March 16. The play that placed first was "The Monkey's Paw."

The only criticism of the play concerned the right side of the set, which the audience had difficulty in seeing.

Shots Schedules for Two Classes

Diphtheria shots for freshmen and seniors will be given on April 13 in the cafeteria. The charge will be 50 cents.

Everyone who can should take advantage of this opportunity, for within the past several months, cases of diphtheria have been found in Minnesota. In fact, several individuals died of the disease. The shot is good protection against this disease.

NUHS Applies for Math Project

Mr. Blackstad is asking the National Science Foundation for an application to be one of the 20 schools in Minnesota to participate in a project in teaching of mathematics. One of his next year's classes would be used in the experiment and the results compared with the other classes in the country.

The project is to develop new techniques and a new text for math. At present the plan is being tried in seven schools in Minnesota. The theory of this plan is to teach logical solutions to problems rather than standard arithmetic.

This program is a national one but the research is being done in Minnesota which has more schools participating than any other state at this time.

Cast To Present Play On April 17-18 At 8 p.m.

Thunder on Sycamore Street, senior class play, will be presented on April 17-18. The plot has touches of humor, yet it is really a serious production. The play is based on what happens in a community when an exconvict moves in.

The cast is made up of eighteen speaking parts. They are Phyllis Hayes, Karen Darlington; Clarice Morrison, Bonnie Harmening; Mrs. Harkness, Lori Merwin; Mrs. Carson, LaVonne Alfred; Caroline Hayes, Kathy Herrick; judy Blake, Patt Hayes; Anna Blake, Valene Wieland; Grace Denton, Sue Vogelpohl; Irma, Betty Hostelka; Mrs. Allister, Marlys Gronholz; Roger Morrison, Howard Vogel; Frank Morrison, John Holland; Joseph Blake, Dave Silcox; Mac, Jerry Schroeck; Chris, Charles Mitchell; Charlie Denton, Bob Winslow; Bill Mcallister, Al Runck; Arthur Hayes, Joe Koeck. A mob scene in Act III will include Virginia Broste, Betty Helseth, Elroy Ubl, Roger Kleinschmidt, Lynn Luepke, and Jeff Radke.

The assistant directors are Curt Christiansen and Kay Parsons. The works of Reginald Rose, author of the play are very popular around her. Many of his plays such as Dino and Twelve Angry Men are being presented in neighboringtowns.

Boys' Stater To Be Selected

Seven junior boys have been nominated as candidates for the Tenth Annual Boys' State. The candidates are John Farrell, William Fritz, Ronald Guggisberg, Thomas Karl, James Rolloff, Lynn Thomas, and Gerald Tobias. The Ben J. Seifert Post, –132, of the American Legion will send one of them with all expenses noid

Qualifications for this are:

Scholarship: shall be in the upper third of his class.

Leadership: Shall have evidenced traits of a very definite leadership. This phase of the qualifications should be given more than equal weight with the other considerations.

Other qualifications: loyalty, courage, cooperation, character, and service are additional traits desired.

About 20 teachers who have had these boys as their students will make the selection.

Y-M Conference Delegate Chosen

John Holland has been chosen as NUHS's representative at the 13th annual Young Men's Conference sponsored by the St. Paul Rotary Club, April 26, 17, and 28. Roger Kleinschmidt was chosen as his alternate.

Each Rotary sends two boys; New Ulm's Rotary sends one from NUHS and one from Trinity and furnishes their transportation. In St. Paul, the St. Paul Rotary Club will be their hosts and furnish their food and lodging.

The boys will hear challenging speakers, stay at the home of a St. Paul Rotarian, get a vocational interview in the field of his choice, take trips and attend social events.

This conference is to assist selected high school seniors in choosing a vocation and in planning their future course of education.

Do You Agree?

Are extra-curricular activities the only kinds of accomplishments that should be recognized by the awarding of a high school letter? Many thinking people have become interested in the answer to this question.

In a number of high schoolsthroughout the United States, steps have been taken to add a letter award for recog nition of scholastic achievment.

Here in NUHS, 500 points are given to the National Honor Society, and 250 points for being in the upper third of the class for a three-year period. But the total still does not give an individual the 1500 points for a

Could the committee or people concerned present a plan whereby scholastic acheivements would receive more recognition here, and a letter awarded to students who have done outstanding work in their classes?

Spring Is In The Air

Of all the seasons, spring seems to be the most exciting. The bright sunny days bring new vitality and ambitions. Yoy see evidence of it everywherekids playing marbles, jumping rope, going on hikes-doing all these things that children have done for many years past. "Play ball!" this is the call and baseball players feel the thrill of the first home run. On the golf course golfers practice their swing with a vision of their hole-in-one. At the track, runners limber up, sure that this year is their year to break the record.

Spring is exciting for the spectator, too, for in a sense we are all spectators in the wonderful magic of spring. Rivers and streams rushing along, trees budding and suddenly after a rain, the fresh feeling that overcomes you and makes you feel glad that you-re

Spring, too, is the time of Easter when our Lord rose from the deadto bring newness of life to Christians

Spring is a time of renewal of all thing:—a wonderful time for both young and old- a time to dream, and a time to work to make those dreams come true.

Students Given Reason For Doing Homework

"So much. I'll never get it all done! Why do you give us so much home work to do?" Everytime a teacher gives an assignment, whether it is small or large, the students will grumble about it. This is not a habit of just a few students in a specific grade; but boys and girls ranging from first grade to seniors in high school well, for one reason or another, complain about the huge assignments given them by their teacher.

Why do students always do this? If anyone of us, I believe, would stop to analyze this situation. I am sure we would understand the importance of homework.

Learning to read a page in a book would not deny any of us any good if we were not able to do it by ourselves. How, would we get very far in this world if we had todepend on a teacher to help us everytime we were confronted with a problem? Learning to get things done by ourselves is just as important in life as learning to read a book or write the abc's.

Home work then appears to be one of the basic elements in the development of the mind along with the 3 r's because it enables a child to fifure things out by himself without a teacher by his side.

As the years go by, the home assignments which are given are increased in length and difficulty. By the time students reach junior high level, their minds should be developed to the point where they can grasp ideas more readily and are able to learn things on their own quite efficiently; but home work does not end here. Through the rest of high school and college, home work must be continued so that the mind may grow and grow, never allowing it to stand still.

Nils Iverson in one of our enthusiastic athletes. During the school year he has played football, basketball, and baseball. His interests in baseball continues during the summer when he plays for one of the local leagues. Beside sports, his interests include all types of good music, economical cars (Nash Rambler, of course), horses, and 44h hour Social. In the future, Nils will either work on a farm or enlist in the service.

Joe Koeck is well liked for his calm and collected personality. The only thing that seems to bother him is teachers who don't understand the senior class. Joe, who likes to collect travel folders as a hobby, enjoys track, volleyball, and handball. After graduation, Joe will go to Dunwoody Institute in Minneapolis to study electronicss.

Sharon Kosek has the popular hobby of collecting stuffed animals and small animal statues. When she is not collecting, she enjoys playing records and dancing. Much of her spare time is used in teaching her Sunday School class and being assistant Brownie leader. Shareen, who finds it hard to tolerate juniors, will enter the field of nursing shortly after graduation.

Al Runck, one of the humorists of the senior class, is usually cracking a joke of some type or another. His interests are varied and include intramural basketball or should we say "intramurder." Al's hobby is raising turkeys so naturally his pet peeve is people who tell jokes pertaining to this subject. Although he hasn't decided what he

Snooping Around

NUHS

Here's real snoopery! Just before vacation Miss McLaughtin, in checking lockers, found 94 library books that had been either not checked out at all or else were months over-due. One was due last September. There are still other lockers to be checked, reports Miss McLaughtin.

Mr. Anderson and his Advanced Algebra class were discussing the girls' defence angle of the Judo assembly. Mr. Anderson said he thought that a good loud scream would be as potent as anything to chase away the "wolf." Mr. Tobias said, "Oh, but that would bring a million men!"

Our apologies to Howard Stolt. In the senior sketches last issue we said he was from Cambria, but his home town is Court-

Mr. Olson to Chrissie Oswald the day she "dropped" her petticoat in the library and then later, her book on the floor in the hall.

"Chrissie, you're always dropping things, aren't you?"

The Line-up? Well, that's what seems to appear in front of the senior lockers before tests. Right, boys?

Carol Flatau has started working at State Bond and Mortgage and Arlene Broackhoff, at the New Ulm Rural Telephone Company.

The dramatics department has received two new spotlights since Easter vacation. Mr. Jenson, dramatics instructor, is trying to build up the equipment for the dramatics department, and there is a chance that more will be added this year. With the two recent additions and the two purchased last winter, NUHS now has four good balcony spotlights. All will be used in the senior class play.

Now that spring housecleaning time is here. Mr. Jenson is again asking students to check at home to see if there are any types of clothing that may be usable as costumes for plays, etc. The dramatics department wardrobe can really use many different types of fashions. Don't throw away old clothes. Bring them to school-perhaps they will be a valuable addition to the collection already will major in, Al will be studying at the U. of M. next year. Congratulations, Al, on winning at the District speech festival with your pantomine!

Valene Wieland, one of our homecoming attendants, is a popular girl with many interests. We know she has acting ability because she has done well in many of the plays here at school. Val participates in many of the activities such as choir, G.A.A. and has performed at basketball games as a twirler. She didn't miss a basketball game either, but there's probably a reason for that. She enjoys bowling and dancing, and in the summer she spends a lot of time water skiing. Val would like to become an airline hostess, but will decide on a definite future vocation

Don Scheible, a person of few words, is a well-liked individual with a friendly personality. In his spare time he likes to listen to popular records, of which he has quite a collection. At the present, his main goal is to be able to win with a deck of cards without cheating. Hope you succeed, Don. The Navy will have another New Ulmite among its personnel after May 28 because his plans are to enlist in this branch of the armed forces upon graduation.

Colleen Fugmire, Idaho's contribution to the class of '59, has a sparkling personality and can usually come up with new ideas, whether it be making up new dance steps or using her artistic ability in other ways. She was one of our homecoming attendants and participates in debate and choir. If you see Colleen carrying mail bags downtown, she's just running errands for the Credit Bureau. She also seems to be trying to improve German-American relations. Next fall Colleen hopes to major in home ec. at Brigham Young University in Utah.

Larry Johnson, a senior who's always ready for a good time, usually has the latest fads in clothing and is always neatly dressed. Trinity girls and activities at school-intramural basketball and wrestling take up much of his time. He enjoys bowling and this spring will be out for baseball, too. One of Larry's dislikes is "kids who think they're all it." When he graduates, Larry plans to go into the Navy for four years and then become a farmer.

Leslie Lueck, a Lafayette fan, who's always pleasant and cooperative, has most of his interests in music demonstrated by his taking an active part in choir and band. Directing the girls sectional in choir wasn't always the easiest job either, was it? Next year Les will be studying music at Luther College in Decorah, Iowa. Good luck to you in the Regional speech contest, Les, with your memorized oration.

Did You Know-

- That Mr. Heile never graduated fromhigh school? (explanation at end of column.)
- That there are only 20 boys out for track? Shame on you boys! Mr. Epp needs 50 or more to make up a squad.
- That Mr. Armstead may come home this summer if he gets a 3-week vacation?
- That there are 40 boys out for baseball, including junior and senior high?

That there are 32 regular class days left

At the end of his junior year, Mr. Heile took college entrance exams, passed, and was admitted to college.

TAKE LEAVE

Strange things happen when people don't understand what has been said! The other day a group of senior girls were "gabbing" in the halls and someone noticed how curly Doreen Davis' hair was. When asked if she had a permanent, she said, "Oh no! I've got my license!" (Well, that's the way it is sometimes!)

The girls are done with modern dancing in gym now-but some of those dances were really a riot! I mean they were original and "different!" One class protrayed "Snow White" while another did a cowboy scene from the early West! It included card players, piano players and everything! (Like I said—it was really different.)

We now have proof of the teenagers' being able to do more than one thing at once. The other day in college prep, Howie Vogel listened to the tournament games, while still answering Miss Kayser's questions! As Jeff explained, "Howie just has a powerful brain that picks up sound waves!"

Here's wishing the juniors lots of luck on prom this year. Remember boys-"Only about 39 shopping days until From!"

There are two "diseases" going around now-but it seems like only the seniors get it the worst! One is "senioritis," which has been spreading all year, but now there are also touches of "spring-fever!" (Crazy, huh?)

At the show "Th" Inn of 6th Happiness," a group of senior girls were sitting in one row. When the planes were flying over in one scene, one little boy looked up and yelled, "Look ma!" Just then Audrey yelled out, "no cavities!"

What will college prep class be without Tony Rolloff? No more games for Ted, no laughs for Bob and no hairy legs for Karen. Miss Kayser is making arrangements to have the rest of the class sent to various European

by Larry Boelter

All of us throughout our lifetime have met many people whom we have considered to be "just an average guy." Actually, there are very few people who do not have some peculiar traits or quirks different from the majority of people.

You have seen the television cigarette ads where a judge reworks antique cars and a lawyer studies geology (or something to that effect), and each states that in both pastimes and cigarettes, every man should think for himself.

There are many people, however, that do think along similar lines. And then there are those who try to be the average or what they think is average. This is shown by articles and gathered data termed "keeping up with the

If I were to describe the average male Cauasion, senior high school student. I would have to divide the students into three groups as follows: farm student, athlete, and those who live in town but do not engage in extra-curricular activities (usually having a part-time job or some outside interest). Most will have some interest in pop music, cars of all kinds, magazines, girls, movies, and anything that sounds exciting. Every teenager tries to get a feeling of freedom from their parents and anything, within reason, that they can do to feel mature, they will attempt.

In a country such as Russia it is comparatively simple to establish who is the average person. Here in the United States, however, our democratic way of life permits people to do more of the things they want. This makes it harder to establish an average that will fit a sizable group of people.

Track

Track got off to an early start this year and prospects for the coming season look promising.

NUHS thin clads started getting in shape before Easter by running up to Herman Heights and back. Practice at Johnson field began on March 30.

There are several boys who were standout on the team last year that are returning. Lyle Hames will be in the short distances and is expected to come very close to the school record for the low hurdles. Curt Christiansen will also be in the short distances and will be relied upon to place in the broad jump. Last year Curt jumped 20 feet 2½ inches. Joe Koeck was hampered by an illness last year but is expected to do well in the long distances.

Others returning are Doug Wiesner, Mike Good, Doug Bloedl, Jerry Skalla and the Knopke twins.

Among the plans for the coming season is a college meet to be held in conjunction with a high school meet at Johnson field.

Golf

The outlook for the season looks fairly good even though Bill Knopke will be absent from the team this

Senior Roger Kleinschmidt will probably be first man on the team. Last year Rog had the best average in the South Central Conference and he was a representative to the state high school and state Jaycee meets. He became the youngest person ever to win the New Ulm Country Club championships. Bob Winslow or John Farrell will be in the second spot, and from there on it is a toss-up.

So far the golf team is scheduled to participate in eleven meets.

ennis

The tennis team is expected to be strong this year with all of its region champs returning. John Holland, Mike Young, Ken Hartman, and Ted Fritsche will be back along with others, as tennis is becoming one of NUHS's fastest growing sports.

Baseball

The baseball team lost a number of seniors last year, but there seems to be quite a bit of potential in the younger players.

The main bulk of the team returning will be in the infield. There will also be quite a few pitchers trying to win a spot on the first nine.

New Ulm usually has a pretty fair baseball team and if things run true to form this year, Coach Zahn should be able to develop the team as he has in the past.

Hames Selected Outstanding Athlete

The combination of outstanding athletic skill and even greater desire to succeed earned the Athlete of the Year honors for Lyle Hames of New Ulm High School at the fifth annual Athletic Appreciation Night Saturday.

Over 300 persons, the largest crowd ever, attended the fete which also named Tom Janni as Holy Trinity's most outstanding and Gene Kock as the top prep athlete at Luther High

No tickets were available at the door Saturday as the sponsoring New U.m Club was forced to turn down numerous ticket requests Saturday morning and afternoon.

Hames, who naturally earned New Ulm High School's award as well, has been outstanding in three sports for the past three years and is also class president at his school. He has already been named as honorary captain in both football and basketball.

In football he was a regular for two years and was complimented as "a capable, conscientious young man who exemplifies the ideals and attitudes we are trying to teach."

In wrestling he built up a tremendous three-year record of 53 wins and 7 defeats in one of the toughest wrestling conferences and regions in the state.

His three-year overall record is considered equal to scoring 1,000 points in basketball and generally only four of five players out of a 50school area reach that figure each year.

Hames took second in the South Central for three years, had two district championships and one runnerup, and finished first, second and third in regional competition. New Classrooms Added In 1959-60 School Year

Because of the increased enrollment, the new classrooms on the third floor, new wing, will be opened to students for the 1959-60 school year.

The teachers to have rooms in this section are mostly those from junior high, especially 7 and 8 grades. Mr. Heile, Mrs. Kleene, and Mrs. Schroeer will be given their own rooms. This will mean that there will not be any doubling up of rooms such has been done with the biology, chemistry-physics, and home economics rooms.

"Each teacher will be able to have a room of his own," commented Mr. Lynott.

G. A. A.

"Pushing on white; blue, free shot," says Miss Mueller.

This is just one of the many calls that the participating referee may have to make while the senior high girls are playing basketball, the sport which is now being undertaken in G.A.A.

The Captains of each grade are as follows: sophomores, Margaret Palmer, Paulette Melzer, and Connie Stone; juniors, Nancy Newton, Marjorie Blaalid, and Norma Wieland; seniors, Chareen Kosek and Virginia Broste.

Toward the end of this basketball unit the girls will choose an all-star team from each grade composed of the best players. These teams will then be competing for the championship. All of the girls are working very hard so as to become a member of the all-star.
