Girls' Stage Crew Ranks Increase; Workshops Held

The Better Half, also known as the girls' permanent stage crew, is busy again this fall. On their agenda has been such things as cleaning the prop and costume rooms, repairing the costumes and properties, and choosing new members.

The girls plan to hold workshop to learn how to put on makeup, to care for costumes, and the filing of the costumes and props in an organized system. The Better Half members are also to serve on the play committees as instructors and are to help the committee members carry out their particular duties.

The sophomore and junior girls that have been chosen as new members are Jane Halverson, Kathy Fritsche, Sue Holland, Lynn Schwartz, Andy Schmid, Kay Vogelpohl, Margie Hagg, and Sheila Lingenhag.

'Lower Half' Elects Officers

The stage crewthis year consists of four seniors, four juniors, and three sophomores. These boys have the responsibility of taking care of all backstage work for all events.

The stage crew, headed by Mr. Jenson, help in the staging of class plays, music programs, assemblies, and other programs that come to NUHS. Sometimes, stage crew members also work at community concerts and civic programs.

After working all year long, the stage crew is rewarded with a banquet in the spring.

Feuerhelm, Becky Abrahamson, Gayla Lueck, Connie Arbus, Tom Sands, Jim Aufderheide, Bob Wieland, Bill Koeckeritz, Brad Vogelpohl, and Allan Schiller and a girls' triple trio. Included in this latter group are Sally Sievert, Marsha Luebbert, Diane Hagberg, Katie Engel, Gail Wichman, Jane Halverson, Marianne Lohman, Sue Holland, Jane Alwin and Pam Stone.

The select choir has 70 members, and the choral club has 54 members.

The last of the Bel Canto tryouts were held on Wednesday, October 6. Of the 24 girls those already in are Myrene Jones, Sharon Albrecht, Janice Femrite, Kathy Fritsche, Judy Walston, Kathy Anderson, Betty Christenson, Jan Hagg, Gayla Lueck, Sally Vogel, and Pam Stone. Thirteen more names were added on October 9.

Vickie Pugmire, Susan Feuerhelm, Barb Kleene, Marianne Lohman, Roberta Opel, Linda Newton, Andy Schmid, Bonnie Seibel, Connie Arbus, Karen Lampright, Kathy Engel, Becky Abrahamson, and Susan Schwartz.

Open House Set; Parents Invited

"Invest In Learning" is the theme for the American Education Week, November 7 through 13, which will be high-lighted by the annual open house.

The junior high open house will be held on Tuesday evening, November 9, in the high school cafeteria; the elementary and senior high, Thursday evening in the Jefferson School and high school cafeteria, respectively.

The administration will soon be sending invitations to all parents for the open house festivities. There will be visits with the teachers, tours of the school and coffee.

Hours for the two evenings will be 7:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m.

The administration would like to see as many parents present as possible.

Students to Get Two Day Reprieve

A two-day vacation is scheduled for the students on October 21 and 22 while the faculty attends the Southwest MEA Convention in Mankato.

The Queen ...? H.C. Activities To Climax Friday

"Catch Us If You Can" will be the cry as NUHS swings into its 1965 homecoming festivities, October 14 and 15, ending with the coronation of the queen at 7:30 p.m. and the game with St. James at 8:00.

The highlight of Thursday's activities will be the announcement at the pep fest in the auditorium of the queen from the following group of girls: Jeri Ahrens, Pam Weise, Pam Cordes, Connie Johns, Ann Fesenmaier, Sally Sievert, and Karen Lampright. Various skits and a feed are also planned.

A parade to Johnson Field Friday will start at 6:30 p.m. The parade will include the band, homecoming queen and attendants, students, cheerleaders and class floats.

After the game a senior high dance is scheduled for the auditorium and an alumni coffee will begin at 9:30 p.m. in the home economics room.

Modern Style With the change to offset printing, the 1965-66 Graphos has had a face-lifting. This printing, the 1965-66 Graphos has had a face-lifting. This year the school paper will be printed by the New Ulm Daily Journal. This change in location also means a change in method of printing. In place of the old-style press printing the Graphos staff will be working with "offset."

In offset the stories and headlines are printed on galleys, cut to the appropriate shape, waxed, and pasted on to a dummy sheet which is exactly like the printed page. Special negatives are used in place of pictures. When this process is completed, a picture is taken of the entire page; the newspapers are merely photostatic copies of this picture.

Although type-faces for headlines are limited, many features of the offset method make it easier to add variety and more pictures can be used at less expense. The editorial staff hopes to make cartoons a regular feature of future issues. A new nameplate is also being considered.

'Eagles A Go Go' Chosen '66 Theme

"Eagles A Go Go," a new pace-setting type face, and a trend toward the new and the newest, these will all be features of the 1966 Eagle as commandeered by editor-in-chief, Ruth Webster, and division heads, Sandee Gillick, Ruth Klossner, Don Nelson and Steve Plautz.

Among the new features for the year book will be a curriculum section, adding four pages to the total of 106, and colored end sheets.

SALES is the key word for the October meetings with business and advertising working hand - in - hand to boost sales from 725 in 1965 to over 800 in 1966. Sally Vogel, business editor, is planning a number of

Teachers Wed

Wedding bells rang during summer vacation for MissReinert, Miss Stoppelman and Mrs. Schroeer, all NUHS teachers. They are now Mrs. Tom Green, Mrs. Jim Lund and Mrs. Lowell Schmidt, respectively. selling devices such as giving a free annual or a cut rate to the holders of lucky numbered receipts.

Organizing of the large volunteer staff and planning of the general lay-out for this year's annual filled the agenda of the weekly Tuesday night meetings during September. Members of the senior class were asked to sign up in five areas - copy, typing, advertising, business and layout - to work during different times of the year. The division editors are in charge of layout; Janice Femrite is copy editor; Myrene Jones is typing editor; Sally Vogel is business editor; and Marlene Mack and Linda Huhn are the advertising editors. Katy Knopke is photography editor.

Deadlines, the word that strikes fear into the hearts of every editor, are coming up fast and furious for the editorial staff. The first in a series of four comes on November 29. At this time all division pages are due along with the curriculum and faculty sections and the title, table of contents and end pages.

All-Girl Staff Heads Paper

Ruth Webster and Sandi Woods are the new 1965-66 co-editors of the school paper, the Graphos.

To cover the field of sports, the Graphos has summoned a girl, Bobbi Lieberman, to be the Sports Editor. In care of correspondence and distribution of the Graphos are Diana Bergstrom and Therese Hirsh. Business managers are Jeri Ahrens and Connie Johns.

Columnists Joleen Lowinske and Gail Wickman are in charge of writing the WAG, Gayla Lueck is the GAA reporter and page editor, and Paul Brandel is the columnist for all FFA news.

EDITORIAL

Look at our editorial cartoon - cute isn't it? Well, it's more than cute; it means something. Apathy is a vocabulary word; it's also the prevailing attitude in some sections of the auditorium during pep fests and assemblies. Apathy comes from the Greek word pathos - and you've got to admit the support our cheerleaders get is pretty pathetic at times. Apathy denotes selfishness. Get it?

DOWN WITH TRADITION

The 1965-66 editorial staff of the Graphos is launching a campaign. It is to be called the "For Heaven's Sake Let's Not Waste Twenty Dollars and Sixty Hours Writing Out 'I Never Got to Know You Very Well; but When Ever I Saw You, You Had a Friendly Smile on Your Face' on the Backs of Our Senior Pictures." It's nickname will be the FHSLNWTDSHW-OINGKYVWWEISYYHFSYFBOSP. Sounds great, huh?

This old Tradition was fine in 1905 when there were seven in the graduating class; but with class sizes the way they are, we feel that "picture collecting" is a little impractical. Giving pictures out should be limited to, at the most, fifty of your closest friends – the ones you really know and have worked with and have "run around with."

Seventh graders who ask for senior pictures to use as status symbols are on the Black List as the editors are concerned. Seniors who feel obligated to leave a token of themselves to anyone who asks should invest in thousand calling cards, rent an airplane, fly over the fair city and scatter them evenly over the area.

Another suggestion would be to put an ad in your school newspaper - that's us. Just contact the business editors for the rates.

NEW SKETCH POLICY

A new "senior sketch" policy has been adopted by the Graphos. This year instead of writing sketches on each upper-classman we are featuring the leaders of the class.

We plan to include articles on the lettermen, Eagle editors, student council officers, and other prominent students of the senior class.

We hope no one will feel slighted because of this change in policy, but we found that with nearly 200 seniors, writing the sketches proved very difficult and timeconsuming. We also felt that the sketches were too space-consuming and that some of the articles were slanderous.

The Candid Column

Room 301 - Alias the "Beehive"

Mr. Senske told all of 5th hour history that if they were to have the windows open that they should stand ready with books to swat the bees. When one got through and stung Barb Mogen on the neck, Mr. Senske bawled out Bill Koeckeritz for not "bee-ing" a better "bee catcher."

Homecoming Date

Gerry Hesse asked Mr. Greenslit

WAG

Well, as usual Jo and I have waited until the last minute to write our column. As a result we have nothing to write; and when there is nothing to write, we've found it best to write nothing; for when you write something when there is nothing to write, people tend to think you a little strange. But if we write nothing, even when there is nothing to write, Miss Kayser will get angry; and when Miss Kayser gets angry, we get angry; and when we get angry, our friends get angry. When our friends get angry, their friends, their fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers and pets get angry, and our mothers get angry. When our mothers get angry, our fathers get angry. When our fathers get angry, our brothers get angry; when our brothers get angry, our sisters get angry, their friends get angry, and their dogs, cats, and rabbits also get angry. When everyone gets angry at each other, wars break out. When wars break out, people get killed.

You didn't realize how important to world peace this column is, did you? Just remember: Not all pickles are green!

whom he was going to take to the homecoming dance. Mr. G. said, and I quote, "Just an old skag." Dear departed Mr. G., I hope he wasn't refering to his wife!

Lifeguard Wanted

What the football boys needed in past weeks was a couple of lifeguards instead of coaches; the rain came down so hard they were thinking of issuing hip-boots instead of football spikes.

Rolling Wheels Gather Momentum

The most unusual thing happened on the way home from the Waseca game Friday. Two wheels came off the student bus! As the player bus stopped, the driver asked "What happened?" The student bus driver's reply, "We lost two wheels." "Well, did you find them?" They were found alright! They had hit a sign, completely knocking it over.

Poor Cow

Roberta Opel was peacefully eating in the cafeteria one day when she found a dime in the bottom of her glass of milk. How's that? Getting paid for drinking your milk!

Presidential Election

Mrs. Franklin's home room had to vote four times for all of the student council officers and representatives before any were elected.

Social Light

In Social class Jan Hagg was asked "Are you a great American?" The reply—"Don't you have to be dead first?"

The Three Fingered One, Minus Two

When Ken Schaeffer apparently forgot the boy's hair style regulation, Mr. Voves made him go to the boy's washroom seven times to comb his hair properly; Mr. Voves then had to go with him to show him how. Ken finally came back with it watered down and the regulation two fingers above the eye brows. I guess Mr. V. is just jealous.

The Custodian with the Hairy Hand

Barb Roiger and Judy Baumann were going through the dark tunnel one noon hour. All of a sudden they saw a head and hand behind the door. They screamed and took off. They decided to go back to see what it was but not without two boys. George Marti and Loren Jones, plus Pam Stone and the girls, went back again. The boys started laughing: It was just a custodian.

Better Half

With great fear and trembling, sixteen of us ascended to the uncharted regions of Emerson. Armed with brooms, needles, thread and scissors, we were determined to enter the attic and costume rooms and conquer them!

Fourteen of us stayed in the costume room, struggling to label and sew. Two of us armed only with our brooms and a dustrag, dared to enter the attic. The soft grey particles of dust lay like fungus; it had spread over chairs, tables, pictures and lights.

Despairingly we started clearing it away from one sector of floor. Soon the air we breathed was choked by spores. We knew we must escape before it was too late!

Rushing down the stairs into the costume room, we saw an unbelievable sight: fourteen bodies were slowly disappearing under mounds of clothes, but there was laughter; someone was conquering the clothes. If the costume room could be won over, so could the attic. We decided to return to the upper regions.

Soon the dust was again flying, but this time we knew we could win. Clouds began flying off chairs and tables as we sorted, fixed and dusted them. Even though we had to stop before we had completely finished, we knew that on the next expedition we would emerge victorious.

As you may have guessed; this has been an account of the first workshop meeting of the Better Half. During the year we will keep you posted on our future exploits with the "The Hole in Emerson."

NU Loses Battle of Eagles

New Ulm Falls Heir To Fire Water Jua

To get a better cheering response from the student body, a Fire Water Jug will be presented to the class that turns up the volume loudest at the Homecoming Pep Fest. The rare Jug was obtained from an Eagle's nest, high in the Rocky Mountains; it symbolizes courage, sportsmanship, and loyalty.

Each class will have a chance to exhibit its noisemaking skill, and the winner will get temporary possession of the coveted Jug. The class in possession must, however, continue to whoop the most at succeeding pep fests to keep the Jug.

The class president of the victorious section will come forward to receive the Jug.

FFA

The New Ulm FFA chapter had a busy summer. New Ulm's dairy team made up of Tom Haala, John Schroeder and Roger Besemer won the State Dairy Judging Contest.

Alan Wiltscheck and Mike Jutz each raised about fifty mallard ducklings, to be released for wildlife and for hunting when they are about one month old.

The New Ulm FFA chapter had a test plot this year on which they raised twelve varieties of oats and soybeans. The reason for this is to show the people how certain varieties react under similar conditions. This year's plot is on the David Rolloff farm.

At the Brown County Fair, New Ulm boys scored high. John Fluegge had the grand champion market pen of hogs, Eugene Wellmann showed the champion barrow and John Schroeder had the Junior champion with a calf. There were also many blue ribbon winners.

There was a soils school at Sleepy Eye in which Lloyd Hoffmann of New Ulm took first place with a score of 270 out of a possible 300 points.

Dale Mack and Lynn Brey were selected as the two outstanding freshman and were rewarded with a week's vacation at the state FFA camp near Virginia.

GAMES FRIDAY: St. James at New Ulm (HC), St. Peter at Hutchinson, Waseca at Blue Earth, Glencoe at Fairmont.

Now that the Eagles are in the heat of the football season, they must endure every conceivable type of setback. They get kicked in the shins, spiked on the hands, bruised in the ribs, clawed in the face, and elbowed in the stomach. Then when they get out of the locker room, there's practice.

Debaters Acquire New Ass't Coach Mr. McLean

"Should there be compulsory arbitration and management?" is the topic for debate during the 1965-1966 year. The team consisting of 30 members will be coached by Mr. Oien, assisted by Mr. McLean.

Members of the negative team are: Connie Johns, Myrene Jones, Kay Vogelpohl. Barbara Kleene, Bob Brandel, Greg Schwab, Scott Fodness, Roger Hippert, Rosiland Glotz, Lynn Mecklenburg, Nancy Beck, Barbara Burnett, Paula Schuetzle, Debbie Dewanz,

The freshmen and sophomores will go to Worthington on October 30, for the first meet.

Last Minute Score Breaks 12-12 Tie

In one of their last opportunities to escape from the confines of the SCC cellar, the New Ulm Eagles lost á close battle to another Eagle eleven, Glencoe, by a score of 18-12, on October 8.

NU had a strong second half, scoring twice while holding Glencoe scoreless, until, with 1:08 left to play, the "them" Eagles broke through for a winning TD.

Outstanding offensively for Glencoe was end Dennis Richter, who broke through New Ulm fortresses for 118 yards.

Twirlers Make Winter Plans

Six girls - Paulette Boock, Linda Huhn, Connie Johns, Rhonda Lowinske, Boesch, and Julie Konakowitz this year's twirlers, will be spinning their batons for many school occasions.

Twirling lessons for prospective members will be held during November; an announcement will be made as to exactly when they will begin. The beginners' class will be taught by Connie Johns and Jackie Lowinske. Paulette Boock and Rhonda Boesch will instruct the advanced class.

Performing with the band at football games, attending Band Day on September 28, and making flashlight routines for basketball game performances have been keeping the twirlers busy.

"The sky is falling! The sky is falling!" Like Chicken Little, everyone is excited about the possibility of a winning football team at NUHS in the next couple of years. A promising sophomore makes a good running catch and all of a sudden the Grandstand QB's predict "great things" for New Ulm gridders.

Feathers

But like Chicken Little, a person cannot point to an isolated incident and burst off on a glittering tangent of generalities. There is no reason why next year's team should fare any better than the Eagles are faring at present, because the ingredients that go into a winning team haven't changed for years and probably won't.

What are these ingredients? Heading the list is will to win. This doesn't mean knocking your brains out on every play, but it does involve retaining a level amount of spirit (never-saydie type) throughout four quarters. When New Ulm got a quick TD against St. Peter September 17 the whole squad got let down and lost their team spirit. That's when they lost the game.

The second ingredient is fan support. What is wrong with the students? Are they too sophisticated to come down off their pseudo-snobbish posts and whoop a little? If anyone (that means you too) would show these boys that they're behind them 100%, maybe, just maybe, they could rekindle that little spark in the ashes, and someday it would burst into flames, and New Ulm High School would know what it is like to have school spirit.

"The Skin of Our Teeth" by Thorton Wilder, a comedy based upon the survival of people in the ice age, the flood, and the great war, has been chosen as the junior class play, November 4-6. The junior high performance will be on November 4, and the senior high and public performances will be on November 5 and 6.

Mrs. Ackerson will direct the play, assisted by student directors Linda Newton and Susan Feurhelm. Mr. Dale Fretland, a student teacher, will

Three MSC Students Join NUHS Faculty

Three students from Mankato State began practice teaching at NUHS, October 4. Miss Barbara Schoeb is teaching vocal music; Mrs. Kathleen Sievrass, German; and Mr. Dale Fretland, English 12 and speech. All will be here until December 10.

Miss Schoeb, from St. Peter, likes it in New Ulm because she knows the town so well. She thinks the choir is really good and she enjoys singing with them. After graduation her plans are to teach music in some high school. Miss Schoeb believes that student teaching will be a very valuable experience.

Mrs. Siebrass' hometown is Mankato. Married to a Mankato High School teacher and mother of two girls ages 7 and 10, she commutes every day. Mrs. Siebrass has besides her German, a major in Russian. She thinks teaching in the German lab. is "a lot of fun."

Mr. Fretland is from Fergus Falls and will graduate from Mankato State on December 17, with a double major in English and speech. He will be helping out during the junior class play. Mr. Fretland stated that "Mrs. Ackerson is a fine director and the cast is good."

In college he's a member of the National Collegiate Players, a national fraternity. He participated in 18 of their productions, acting in 15, directing two and working technical on one.

Mr. Fretland enjoys hunting, fishing, skiing, swimming, baseball, horseshoe and many other sports. After graduation he plans to teach somewhere in the Midwest for several years and then get his master's degree. He would like to teach literature or the theater arts on the college level.

NUHS Band Makes First Appearance

by Roberta Opel

The New Ulm High School Senior High Band made its first debut of the year at the University Band Days in Minneapolis, September 25. The entire band, consisting of 85 members, left for Memorial Stadium at 6:15 Saturday morning. The mass band, composed of 6,000 musicians, was directed at half-time of the Minnesota vs. Washington football game by Dr. Frank Bencriscutto. The brisk winds blowing off the field gave many a band member a head cold not easily forgotten. The band headed home at half-time after a performance given by the University Band.

During the course of the year, the two bands, junior and senior high, will present two concerts. Under the direction of Mr. Strang and Mr. Iverson the band will perform a winter and a Spring concert.

The coming year holds many exciting events in store for the music department of NUHS.

Teachers Join Staff

Eight teachers have joined the faculty of NUHS this year. The Graphos staff has gathered together a few facts about them and presents this to you now.

Mr. James Schmidt, whose home town is Glencoe, a graduate of Mankato State College, is teaching mathematics and is the head gymnastics coach.

Mr. Donald Varpness, new football coach, hopes to create a new interest in football at NUHS. A native of Cottonwood and a graduate of Bemidji State, he taught in Gibbon for the past four years. Mr. Varpness is teaching industrial arts and is the assistant track coach.

'Generations' Welcome Students

The Generations, a new musical group consisting of John Gareis, bass guitar; Doug Schultz, drums; Steve Kramer, rhythm guitar, and Jim Geisler, lead guitar, played for the first combined assembly on Tuesday, September 7.

Other features of the program were a welcoming speech by Gary Gluth, a talk on band activities by Mr. J.F. Strang, a speech entitled "A New Leaf" given by Mr. Fjelstad, and a talk on the new record enrollment by Mr. Lynott. Mr. Olsen spoke on the topic "There's always something new," and the new coach Mr. Don Varpness talked about football.

The cheerleaders led the singing as the band played the NUHS school song.
