

FOOTBALL TEAM LOSES GAME TO ST. PETER

Injuries and Eligibility Rules Hinder
Boys Greatly.

SCORE 27-0.

Last Saturday our football team went to St. Peter to play the first game of the season. To begin the ill luck, we lost the toss and had to kick off. Our opponents received the ball but were brought down before advancing very far. However, they made their downs each time and took the ball across for the first touchdown. Their try at the goal was successful.

St. Peter Scores Again.

In the second quarter, our opponents got the ball on a fumble and took it across for a touchdown. The first half ended with the score 14-0 in St. Peter's favor.

In the beginning of the second half we received, but failed to make our downs and were forced to punt. Then by a series of line plunges, end runs and a forward pass, our opponents took the ball across for the third touchdown. During this quarter our opponents were inclined to think that we were beginning to play football in earnest, so in fear of being roughed too much, they appealed to the referee to have one of our men put out. The referee, acting somewhat under the influence of the St. Peter captain did their bidding.

Schueller Breaks Collar Bone.

However, we realized they were not of such a hardy constitution as our boys were and we let such little occurrences pass. At this time "Snooks" Herzog had the ill fortune to have his shoulder twisted and had to retire from the game. These two misfortunes, of course, weakened our team very much and to make matters worse, a few minutes later Joe Schueller broke his collar bone. So with three men out, our very much crippled team, fought their way through the rest of the game. Some of the subs were not used to their new positions but in spite of this fact, the team kept on with untiring energy only letting our opponents get one more touchdown, and that by a fake line plunge, which must be admitted was cleverly done.

A Little Hard Luck.

Although we lost we do not admit that they had a better team than we have. The team started out in the second half with great pep, and had it not been for the misfortune of losing three of our men, there is no doubt but that the score would have been different.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION IS WELL ORGANIZED

Subscriptions Show Membership of Nearly 100%.

FINE SPIRIT SHOWN.

On Tuesday morning, September twentieth, blanks were passed down each row and everyone was given a chance to sign up as a member of the Athletic Association. A total of about two hundred members was secured.

As soon as everyone had signed up, election of officers took place. The following officers were elected: John Graff, president; Esther Wiedenman, vice president, and Clarence Herzog, secretary and treasurer.

"Pay-Up-Day" Success.

The following Friday was set as pay-up day. So Friday morning everyone brought their "four bits" and those that forgot their money borrowed from someone else. All the money, with the exception of a few dollars was collected.

Athletics in our school are self-supporting and each year we organized an Athletic Association to look after managing and financing the Athletics. This year eleven new football suits have been purchased and are here, so when we see our eleven trot out on the field for the first game, we shall not need to be ashamed of them, either of their appearance or of their ability to play.

So far, the student body has stood behind the A. A. in every way. When students were asked to sign up, it was done cheerfully, and when asked to pay up this was done in the same way.

Be a Bloomin' Booster.

Let us then, keep up the good spirit. Later when we have home games, it would be a very encouraging thing to see as large a percentage of students on the sidelines as there are members in the A. A. Almost all of the money taken in from membership fees, has been spent on the new equipment, so that a good attendance must be had at the games or the season will be run at a loss. The A. A. stands for clean sport, and the best way for us to do the same, is to stand behind the A. A.

STUDENT INTEREST TALKS TO BE GIVEN

Prominent Local Men to Address Student Body Every Week.

REV. HOHN FIRST SPEAKER.

A plan is well under way to provide a series of Student Interest Talks by speakers from outside the school. These talks will be given during the morning assembly periods on Tuesday or Thursday morning of each week. These periods are thirty minutes in length, and it is planned to use from fifteen to twenty minutes of this time for some form of interesting and instructive entertainment.

Committee Appointed.

A committee consisting of the four class presidents: Clarence Herzog (Senior), Howard Haling (Junior), Celia Hough (Sophomore), and Fred Leonard (Freshman) met in Mr. Henry's office on Wednesday, and plans for arranging a regular schedule of opening exercise entertainments were made. Several outside musical numbers were suggested, and the names of about twenty prominent business and professional men of New Ulm were mentioned as possible speakers.

The nature of these talks, will of course, vary with the various speakers. The course as a whole will be known as a series of "Student Interest Talks," or "Life Work Talks." The committee believes that they will not only be very entertaining and interesting, but also very instructive and worth while. In addition to that, the plan will serve to interest the business and professional men of the town in the work of the school, and promote a spirit of co-operation.

Rev. Hohn First Speaker.

Last Thursday morning the student body was favored by a talk by Rev. Hohn. It was the first of a series of talks that are to be given to the student body by prominent local men, those in business as well as those engaged in professional work. While Rev. Hohn's talk was not very long, he gave the students a message that none will ever have occasion to regret. He urged the students not to look for the easiest courses, but to select more practical and difficult ones. He also brought up that in these days all students should be well versed in English literature as well as in history. Another thing that he brought to the student's attention was that of music. To be able to sing or play something of a musical nature was an accomplishment, that some should acquire if they were inclined that way. His talk as a whole was very inter-

GIRLS B. B. PRACTICE TO BEGIN SOON

Basket Ball Prospects Are Exceptional.

MISS CROOKER—COACH.

The Football lid is off and everybody's attention will be riveted on this manly sport. It is the forerunner and seasoner for basketball men. As yet no game has been devised to take the place of football for girls, so that they could have the privilege of several weeks of hardening outdoor practice to put them in prime for basketball. The girls of the New Ulm High School, however are quite fortunate in that physical training for girls is on the school program, and that an able instructor like Mr. Hein is in charge. Physical training aside from the exercise and manual benefits obtained, has a tendency to get a large bunch of girls interested in athletics and especially basketball.

Last Year Successful.

Last year the basketball season was a big success. Only one important game was lost, and that to a team outside of the district. It is not too early to surmise that the prospects for a winning team this season are very bright. Two of last year's best players are back at school. "Weedy" who played a consistent game on the first team for two years as forward can be relied upon to hold up her end again this year. "Ekes," who played a phenomenal game as guard last season and who helped to keep opposing scores low, is also back again, ready for another championship. There is very promising material in the Junior class, to say nothing about the Freshies. "Girle" and Florence Schneider have had some experience and ought to give other candidates for positions active competition. Olivia Meidl certainly has a chance for a place on the team and with consistent practice will make her position as running center. The field for jumping center will be the hardest to fill. With the graduation of "Rallie," this important position is vacant. As a whole the prospects are good for the best season yet.

esting as well as practical, and the student body owes Rev. Hohn a vote of thanks for it.

Why, look at this funny butterfly. I bet Miss Steinhauser would like it for biology. Let's take it down there. Where do we go? Down to the post office; across the street, and there you are. She and her mother are lying together.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1920.

LET US BE IN EARNEST.

There are about two hundred and twenty-five students in the New Ulm High School. They represent about one hundred and seventy-five or eighty families of the town. Each one of these families is sending its sons and daughters to the High School building for a fixed and definite purpose—to fit them to make a better showing in life—to be more successful. In many cases, I am sure, parents send students to High School so that they may secure an education, and fit themselves for a life work which will not require so much toil and sweat and sacrifice as that of the parents has demanded.—At any rate they are being sent to school because the merciless competition of the time forces the uneducated to do the drudgery of life. There is a severe penalty now—a-days for refusing to be educated.

That being the case the parents have fulfilled their side of the obligation when they spare the time and services of their children, and send them to school with the proper equipment. These fathers and mothers have, then, a right to expect their children to receive a good High School education, and be prepared to fill their respective niches in life successfully.

But—the facts of the case are well enough known. Not all High School students get a worth-while education, even though they spend four years in school and receive a diploma. Year after year students go through the school—getting only barely enough out of their courses to secure a passing grade, or merrily adding up a list of failures. They are content with that; it represents the "path of least resistance;" and so they "get by" and are satisfied.

This type of student is a failure for one cause only. He lacks earnestness. He has no fixity of purpose. He has not caught the vision of how a well-rounded education would benefit him.

He does not realize that he is wasting his parents' time, his teachers' time and his own time (most precious of all) in a careless, prodigal, spend-thrift way. Years later he will wake up to find his more earnest fellow students—ahead of him—living in comfortable homes, and amid pleasant surroundings, while he is paying the penalty of wasted earlier years of opportunity.

I do not know a better keyword of Success in any walk of life—than Earnestness. There is nothing which will make you more respected than to show a serious, earnest nature, when occasion demands; nothing which so clearly bespeaks an empty head as a silly tittering, irresponsible attitude when there is something to be done. The real work of the world is done by serious, sober-minded men and women.—High School Life is too close to real life to cultivate exactly the wrong habits. Let us have brains enough to see what is best for ourselves. Let Us Be In Earnest.

Ralph L. Henry.

GENERAL APPEARANCES.

Visitors are always greatly impressed by the general appearance of the town they visit. They do not always form the best ideas; it depends upon whether the town is kept clean. Cleanliness is one of the factors needed to make a town thrive.

Our High School building may be compared to a town because the general appearance from the outside leaves an impression on the passers-by as to what kind of pupils and teachers occupy the inside. Therefore, it is up to us, not only the student body but also the faculty, to keep it neat and clean.

There are many ways of doing this. The pupils should not rid their pockets of waste paper out on the lawn. The place for it is in the waste paper basket which is to be found in every classroom. It is just as easy to throw it in there as it is to throw it around outside. This matter chiefly concerns the student body.

Now comes the assistance the faculty can render. It looks much better from the outside if the windows in the different rooms are opened the same width from the bottom, if opened from the bottom, or the same width from the top, if opened from the top. The same is true of the shades. They should all be pulled down the same length and not one lower, or higher than the one next to it.

These are just little things that have been mentioned, but if we all do our share we will have a much better looking school building.

THINK THESE OVER.

1. It is much easier to be critical than to be correct.
2. The man that keeps doing something all the time never has to worry about his bank account.
3. Do it right at any cost. Slipshod methods spell failure sooner or later, but generally sooner.
4. The world's successful men and women are those who keep their word—who do as they promise at any cost.

5. FOUR things come not back:

- The spoken word;
- The sped arrow;
- Time past;
- The neglected opportunity.

6. The man who waits for just the right time to start never gets anywhere.

7. The knowledge which a man can use is the only real knowledge, the only knowledge which has life and growth in it, and converts itself into practical power.

MR. GLOOR TALKS ON EDUCATION.

On Thursday morning, September 23, Mr. Gloor spoke to the student body for twenty minutes on the subject of Education.

In the course of his talk Mr. Gloor mentioned five different definitions of education—ranging from the ancient Greek to one by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, New York. He pointed out that in each of these definitions, the thing emphasized was the securing of "perfection" of mind, body and soul. Each definition considers Education a well-rounded development of all the human faculties.

Mr. Gloor emphasized the point that education is not mainly what others do for us, but what we do for ourselves. He urged the students to seek to develop themselves, rather than to lean on their teachers and others. In concluding he further urged each student to set his goal high; to strive to do not only good work, but his best, and like Napoleon, when faced with the necessity of crossing the Alps, impassable for 2,000 years,—to say: "What has been done once—can be done again"

Mother, may I go voting?
Yes, my darling daughter,
But vote for the pretty candidate
Who uses toilet water.

Girl: "Well John, what are you doing now?"

John: "I'm blacksmith in a restaurant just now."

Girl: "Blacksmith in a restaurant?"

John: "Yes, shoeing flies."

NEWS FROM ROOM 114.

Did you ever stop to think what this world would be like if there were no school marms? Many would think that the world had come to an end. Take a peep into Room 114 and see if this world is coming to an end. We should almost say not, for in this room wonders are being created. Every single chair is very much occupied by a specimen of human being, who fully intends to be a teacher.

Each morning before their daily routine starts in they have the privilege of taking a walk to the different primary classes, which the rest of the students have not. These walks are enjoyed very much when the sun shines, but still more when it rains. The teachers-what-ain't found it very refreshing. The hardness of side-walks has been tested by only one of the "Going to be a teacher" so far. A very fine day was chosen to perform this experiment in. The experiment reads as follows: Go out walking on a very rainy day. Walk carelessly. Carry umbrella so it will catch the force of the wind. Do some slipping and strike sidewalk. List results.

Any High School student who wishes information as to the experiment and its results can apply to Helen W., Room 114.

The girls have to do quite a bit of imagining, especially if one of them has to act as teacher, while the rest act as her primary pupils. For some, the imagining is very easy, for their appearance helps them. As for instance Evelyn, Edna and Magdalene make typical teachers. But Deal and Rose on the other hand are perfect substitutes for primaries.

Well "nuff said" about Normal for this time. We know you are all very sorry you didn't take it—but too late.

NOTICE—The Normal Class challenges any High School student to compete with them in addition and multiplication.

ROLL CURTAIN PRESENTED.

The class of 1920 has greatly facilitated the work of the stage managers of the different plays and programs given in the High School auditorium by presenting the High School with a pretty curtain for the stage. It was painted by one of their own number, Willard Vogel, who has been working on it for the past season. The school board members who were present at the installation of the curtain have accepted it. We have always wished for a suitable curtain of that kind and certainly appreciate the work of the artist. Now let us see what we can do to make use of it.

D. O. T. HOLDS FIRST MEETING.

The D. O. T. Society held its first meeting on Sept. 12 in the High School Assembly. Quite a little interest had been aroused in that it had been rumored the society was not going to stay in existence on account of lack of interest. The meeting was opened by the president, Mildred Eibner, who very dramatically told her woes. Much discussion ensued and many questions were cleared up. Several members admitted that they were ignorant of the aims and purposes of the organization. It developed that the constitution had been lost and a committee was appointed to try to locate it or rewrite one.

Several of the Alumni were present and led in the discussion. Ballots were passed and the following officers were elected for the first term: President Margaret Bentdahl
Vice-President Miriam Schrader
Secretary Angela Floetl
Treasurer Aura Liesch
Sergeant-at-Arms Edna Nieman

A committee was appointed to draw up a program for the next meeting.

The newly elected Freshman class officers are: Fred Leonard, president; Oscar Muesing, vice president and Verna Dahl, secretary and treasurer. Miss Frederickson was elected class advisor. The class hours of this year have changed considerably from the time last year. Last year we had six periods, one hour each and this year we have eight periods, 45 minutes long in the morning and 40 minutes in the afternoon. The number of pupils in the Freshman Class of this year are sixty-eight, in the Sophomore Class forty six, in the Junior Class fifty-nine, and in the Senior Class there are forty-three.

Sophomore: "Why aren't all the Freshies here to vote for class officers?"

Freshie: "Because they aren't all of age."

Blanche Huelskamp, '22, is receiving treatments for a severe case of curvature of the spine and will probably be absent from school for ten or twelve weeks.

Plans are being put under way for the annual Junior entertainment to be given some time before the Christmas holidays. The Juniors feel certain that their "stunt" will surpass any that has been pulled off in previous years.

EXCHANGES

There will be an exchange department this year, the same as last year, and those who wish to read the exchange papers will be able to do so as soon as they arrive.

This department is very beneficial to the readers of its papers because new ideas may be obtained for the school and "The Graphos." In these papers we can find out what and how they are doing things in other schools.

"The Graphos" intends to exchange with about thirty or more other school papers, some of which will probably be, "The Otaknam," Mankato High School; "The Karux," Phillipsburg High School, Phillipsburg, New Jersey; "The High School Life," Devils Lake, North Dakota; "The Goldenrod," Wayne State Normal, Wayne, Nebraska; "The Rouser," Madison, Minn.; "The World," Central High School, St. Paul; "The Comet," Paris, Tenn.; "Lake Breeze," Sheboygan, Wis.; "The Gleam," Johnson High School, St. Paul, and "The Su Huta," Lake Crystal, Minn.

GOT HIM.

He (as the team goes by): "Look! There goes Joe, the halfback. He'll soon be our best man."

She: "Oh, Jack! This is so sudden!"

He (angrily): "See here, Betty, what do you mean by keeping me waiting here on the corner, looking like a fool?"

She: "Now Tom, I know I kept you waiting, but the rest you did yourself."

A little school girl once said that the most wonderful thing man ever made was "a living for his family."

IN NORMAL.

Fr.: "From what tree is that leaf?"
Edna: "It's from a coffee tree, it's the only tree in Turner Hall Park."

Principal to Freshie: "Will you please tell me the date of your birth and your nationality?"
Freshman: "I was born September 2, 1920 and I am of Methodist and Catholic descendants."

Principal to Freshie: "Come to my office at half past one."
Freshie: "What for?"

Principal: "You know what for."
Principal (next morning): "Why didn't you come to my office at half past one?"

Freshie: "You said I knew why I should come so I thought I need not come."

FACULTY LOCALS.

Miss Treadwell from St. Peter is staying at the home of her sister, Mrs. Beecher.

Miss Frederickson has Miss Gannon and Miss Zeunert to help her with the dishes this year. Miss Gannon is from Lodi, Wisconsin, and Miss Zeunert, from Cedarburg, Wisconsin.

Miss Carr's place at Mr. Henry Held's has been taken by Miss Crooker of Fairmont.

Miss Myrick of Le Sueur is staying at Mr. William Marks, on North Washington street.

And who do you think is up stairs? Miss Priestersbach, Miss Kellogg and Miss Potter.

Yes, they're a-keeping house.

We have with us also again this year Miss Elizabeth Schmidt from—ah, say it with care—Riverside, Minnesota.

Are your lesson plans all made for today? Miss Koch is asking for them. She is another one of the group of New Ulm resident teachers.
