

State Bond and Mortgage To Present Scholarship

A scholarship to a member of the class of 1964 will be presented by the State Bond and Mortgage Company.

Following is a letter received by Mr. L. Fjelstad, superintendent, from Mr. Ford Winslow, president of the company:

"Fifty years ago, on August 18, 1914, the State Bond and Mortgage Company was founded in New Ulm, Minnesota, by a group of local professional and businessmen. Because the men of State Bond and Mortgage Company, both past and present, believe that the future growth and opportunity of our community and our country depend largely upon the education of our youth, we will present a $200 scholarship to a worthy graduating high school senior chosen by your school officials. This scholarship, to be presented in June, 1964, is to be given as a memorial to the founders and to all the men who have contributed to the growth and success of State Bond and Mortgage Company. We hope to make a scholarship available during ensu-

Two Students Win In Mason Contest

The essays of Sharon Hogfoss and Dick Kanstrup were chosen as winners in a local contest, sponsored by the Grand Lodge of Masons, from 15 essays entered by NUHS seniors. One of these winning essays will be entered in state competition.

The NUHS faculty selected six essays out of the 15 to compete in local competition. They were those written by Sharon Hogfoss, Jeanette Lang, Candy Stone, Dick Kanstrup, Bill Chambard, and Bill Burnett.

Sharon and Dick received a $25 savings bond and were guests of the Masons at a banquet on Saturday, February 22.

The top state prize will be $500 scholarship for the top girl and boy. The second highest boy and girl will receive a $250 scholarship.

The money won is to be used by the students for advanced study in college, technical or trade schools.

31 Will Participate In Declam Contest

Thirty-one students will take part in the local declam contest to be held at 7:30 p.m. March 6, in the auditorium, with the district contest following at Gibbon, March 14.

For better organization, the various groups of declam students have been divided into sections, with a different teacher assigned to each group.

Miss Berberich is coaching those involved in memorized oratory and serious interpretation; Miss Reinert, original oratory and story telling; Mrs. Ackerson, humorous interpretation and manuscript reading; and Mr. Oien, discussion and extemporaneous speaking.

Eagle Nears Completion; Only 20 Pages Unfinished

Only 20 pages of the Eagle are left to be finished and sent to the American Yearbook Company for processing and printing, and the cover design has been chosen according to Mr. Marti, photographer, and Mr. Jones, adviser.

This year offset printing is being used, for it is supposed to produce clearer printing and pictures.

A staff of juniors is being trained to do the processing so that they will be ready to do the work on the 1965 Eagle.

The final collection of subscription money is to be completed soon.

The $200 is to be available to the recipient for further education at the school of his choice, without regard to type of school or field of study."

Specific details concerning the scholarship will be decided upon in the near future and the information will then be given to the seniors.

Jeanette Lang, John Erickson Score High

Jeanette Lang and John Erickson have been named the local winners in Time magazine's twenty-eighth annual Current Affairs Contest. Other high-scoring individuals include Donan Berg, Richard Sundstrom, Richard Kanstrup, and Pamela Schlottmann.

The Current Affairs Test consisted of 105 questions on national and foreign affairs and was given to every senior in Mr. Harman's social classes.

The top scorers were awarded certificates of accomplishment by Time magazine.

Graphos To Join 50-Year Club; Has Been Changed Much In Past

By Vicki Peitz

In just two years the Graphos will join the 50-Year Club. It was at an assembly in September, 1916, that the first issue was given to students. It was published every second Thursday during the school year by the Walter Liesch Publishing Company, which published a weekly paper for Brown County, a forerunner of the Daily Journal.

Subscription rates were from five cents a single copy to seventy-five cents for a year's subscription.

Armin Koehler was the first editor-in-chief, assisted by an associate editor, a business manager, assistant business manager, athletic editor and five news editors.

The format of the Graphos has changed somewhat since 1916. The page size has grown from 10½ by 12 to 10½ by 16.

Another change is that the first copies had no pictures as we do now, and there were no pages designated specifically for sports columns or senior sketches.

Some of the New Ulm firms that advertised in the Graphos then are still in existence such as The Fountain Inn (Eibner's), New Ulm Greenhouse, Backer's Pharmacy, Farmers & Merchants State Bank and Citizens State Bank.

The name Graphos, from the Greek word meaning "to write," was suggested by the principal, Mr. Percy Hutson. Apparently Mr. Hutson was an enthusiast of Greek because the boys' literary society, which he organized for upper class students, chose the name Protean Literary Society; and the upper class girls' society was called Daughters of Thespius. They were well known as the P.L.S. and D.O.T. Only the Graphos has survived passage of time.

Some items from the February 22 issue include the account of NUHS victory over St. James, 29-13; the victory of the girls' basketball team over the girls' team from St. James, (score unknown); and a description of three German plays given to raise money for the school library and the Athletic Association.

Next Boys Stater Will Be Picked From List of 24

Attention junior boys! If your name is on the following list you're being considered for American Legion Post 132's representative to the 16th annual Minnesota Boys State.

The list consists of these 24 boys: John Aaker, Donald Amundson, Patrick Boesch, Bruce Burdorf, Dean Falk, Charles Forsberg, Henry Frisch, Tom Ginkel, John Griebel, Michael Griebel, Neil Gulden, Gregory Heille, William Hintz, Neal Hoffman, Dennis Kral, Allen Lambrecht, Kenneth Lang, Thomas Lentz, Bruce Melzer, Thomas Noyes, Roger Schmid, John Schnobrich, John Schroeder, and Robert Tanley.

Boys State will be held during the week of June 14-20 on the St. Paul Campus of the University of Minnesota.

The qualifications which the boy who goes must fit are these:

1. Scholastically he should be in the upper third of his class.
2. A leader—type boy.
3. Able to get along with others.
4. Mentally alert and physically clean.
5. Vigorous and enthusiastic with courage, good personality and good character.
6. Honest and thrifty.
7. Loyal and with a serious attitude toward and intensive citizenship training program.
8. A good sportsman.

The faculty, using the above eight points as a basis for selection, will choose one boy and an alternate to go to Boys State.

Tetanus Shots To Be Given

Diphtheria-tetanus shots will be offered to all seniors and freshmen on March 9. These shots are a part of the regular program and the students will be urged to take advantage of this opportunity.

Debaters Finish Season At Annual State Tourney

The 1963-64 debate season ended Friday and Saturday, the 14 and 15, at the Annual State Debate at the University.

The debate topic was "Medical Care for the Aged under Social Security."

Teams of John Schnobrich and Ben Pieser lost all five, and Greg Heille and Charles Forsberg won all four debates.

Out of the twenty-five schools entered, Alexander Ramsey came in first, then Hopkins, and third place was Worthington.

John Schnobrich had this to say about the tournament, "We came to pretty tough competition. We weren't up to it as a team. It was kind of hectic, but I had a lot of fun because I knew almost everybody from other debates."

The totals for the year: The debaters won 79, lost 47, for a percentage of 62.7, and won three trophies (on display in the office).

They traveled 2400 miles, entered in 11 towns, and used 15 students.

Mr. Oien is already at work on next year's debating season. The subject is international arms control. Next year the debate team loses only one member (Mr. Oien hopes) and that is the only senior on the team, Ben Pieser.

'My Sister Eileen' to be Staged By Senior Class April 17, 18

"My Sister Eileen" will be staged by the seniors on April 17 and 18. The play, a modern comedy, takes place in Greenwich Village, New York.

The director of the play is Mr. Jensen, with student directors Pat Wandersee, Ben Pieser, Zana Lundeen, and Ron Wieland.

Tryouts were held the first full week in February. The cast includes: Leading parts: Eileen—Diane Nord; Ruth (Eileen's sister)—Ginger Knopke; and Mr. Appopolus—Ron Leach.

The rest of the cast includes: Jensen Carl Rolloff; Lonigan—John Erickson; The Wreck—Dick Sundstrom;

Mr. Fletcher—Dick Meyer; Helen Toomis—Sharon Hogfoss; Frank Lippencott—Willis Runck; Chic Clark—Dick Kanstrup; Cossack—Hilarian Brey; Violet Shelton—Dolly Webster; Mrs. Wade—Jane Fritsche; Robert Baker—Don Brown; Walter Sherwood—Bill Burnett; A Prospective Tenant—Geanie Stone; and The Consul—Mike Stewart.

There are other cast members who have walk-on or minor parts. Rehearsals, which started February 10, are being held when there is access to the auditorium, between basketball practice and games.

Committees for the senior class play, "My Sister Eileen," have been chosen. The chairmen are as follows: Costumes—Kay Aufderheide and Jane Vogel; Properties—Arlene Gag and Julie Pugmire; Publicity—Linda Holland and Pam Schlottman; Make up—Willow Ahrens and Anita Hesse; Business—Pat Korth and Dorothy Young; Construction—Donan Berg and Dan Loose; Ushering—Marlene Dittrich and Leora Boelter; Sound—Dave Lohman.

Some of the committees are already hard at work painting flats, making posters, and rounding up properties.

Outlook

NUHS

Bring Back Boy's Home-Ec.

Recently there has been some demand for the return of a boy's home economics class. As amusing as it may seem to some, there is a good reason for bringing back boy's home-ec. to the NUHS curriculum.

This class will give many future bachelors, temporary or permanent ones, the skills they will need to take care of themselves around a house or apartment. A possible outline for the year in this class might cover home mechanics for two 6-weeks periods, clothing for one and one-half 6-weeks periods, and foods for two and one-half 6-weeks periods.

In the home mechanics unit, the students would learn how to do the simple repair jobs that frequently frustrate housewives and, yes, even house-husbands too. The fixing of lamps, cords, toasters, and broken furniture—all this would be taught in the home mechanics unit.

In the clothing section, such things as sewing, grooming and choice and care of clothes would be covered. Here the boys would learn the hows and wheres of sewing on buttons, mending sox, buying clothes that will last and look good too, and generally looking sharp.

The foods unit would include choice of foods and some cooking. It is here, in what would probably be the most popular part of the course, that problems begin to arise. Under the present set-up, the home-ec. teachers are overloaded. Not overloaded enough, however, in the eyes of the administration to warrant the hiring of another qualified teacher. Also, under the aids system to which NUHS subscribes, none but a fully qualified teacher may teach such a class. Full qualification means having a major in home economics.

But whatever the problems, we believe that after a half a decade's absence, boy's home-ec. should be returned to the curriculum. It is a worthwhile course and deserves more attention than it is now getting. We hope the Administration is fully considering this matter for there is today a definite need for such a course.

JWB

The WAG

Adverbs really are interesting to study! In C.P. English, Ben Pieser used "near" as an adverb in a sentence. "Don't come near me."

Miss Kayser's reply was "What about me?"

During the past few weeks, seniors have been busy completing their research themes. Dick Kanstrup wanted help with his outline, so he asked Miss Kayser when he could come in.

She said, "How about the eleventh hour?"

In first aid we studied about snakes (shudder!) Snakes, according to Mr. Werner, like things that are nice and warm, (such as humans). So if a snake is approaching you, throw a cigarette (lighted) or a blow torch at it. If this fails, and it bites you, don't worry it won't kill you; you'll just wish you were dead!

In one of our more gruesome moments we thought of a game designed to brighten those unshining parties. In fact, if either Janeen Onstine (or any of the Onstine trio) or Jackie Aaker (Jackie comes one of a kind) is at the gathering, this little funnies is guaranteed to deteriorate said get-together very swiftly and fastly.

The object (?) of the game (?) is to paraphrase poems to fit someone or something, and in a manner sure to make the authors thrash around in their graves. Thusly:

Dirge for Chemistry Class after June 1

Half a League, half a league.
 Half a league onward,
 All in the valley of Death
 Rode the sixty.
 "Forward the valence card!
 Charge for the benzene ring!"
 Into the valley of Death
 Rode the sixty.

The very best subjects are teachers, however.

Mr. Werner

He dwelt among the trodden ways
 In Emersonian One,
 (When he wasn't having Red Cross Aid
 Or giving salesman fun.)
 He lived alone, and few could know
 When Werner ceased to be.
 But he is in his grave, and oh!
 How grieves the CAP!

Sometimes we didn't need to paraphrase, even.

R. A. Jenson (a Future Farmer)

Blessing on thee, little man,
 Barefoot boy, with cheeks of tan!
 With thy turned-up pantaloons,
 And thy merry whistled tunes.

Mr. Lynott

Mr. Lynott
 What do you say
 Under the gravestone
 Hidden away?

"Would Mr. Otto Werner come to the principals' office please?"

Miss Kayser on the Night of February 10

Someone came knocking
 At my wee, small door;
 Someone came knocking,
 I'm sure-sure-sure;
 I listened, I opened,
 I looked to left and right,
 But naught there was a-stirring
 In the still, dark night;
 Only the college prep class
 Tap-tapping on the wall
 Coming to bestow me
 Their research papers all."

Thank you to Alfred Tennyson, William Wordsworth, John Greenleaf Whittier, Stephen Vincent Benet, and Walter De La, who all gave their Personal Permission.

Junior Chit Chat The Spectator

by John Anderson

ATTENTION ALL ROUNDBALLERS AND MATMEN:

Undoubtedly you all think that New Ulm is a good, progressive town, but do you know who founded New Ulm? Gymnasts, called the Turnverein, started this town on its way. Remember whom you are representing when you go to your meets and games.

Have you noticed the new sign near the cemetery? It came out shortly after the government report on smoking. It reads "This is Marlboro country."

Recently, as I was lurking about the halls, trying to scrape together enough printable material for a GRAPHOS article, I noticed a few suspicious characters whispering among themselves. They were plotting to build a Time Capsule that would not open until 3064.

As soon as I was able to untie the ropes that cleverly hampered my mobility, I rushed right off and wrote to THE GRAPHOS of my discovery. Some of the things to be included in the capsule are:

Chemistry wordbooks, cafeteria meals, Graphos deadlines, report cards, Anacin's combination of ingredients, Phy. Ed., Room 201, Mr. Jenson's blue-green tie, Schedule 1, Mr. Voves' hair (So there would be lots of extra room), Mr. Werner's jokes, Joe Ubl, and research papers.

As you see, all of these things were chosen for their value to NUHS and the important role they play here, but mainly because then they won't be around until 3064.

"Speech," now that's an interesting word. To some people it means a way or form of talking. But to some juniors it means—Speech, now, is becoming more and more interesting. The second hour started the course out by boring boring Mrs. Ackerson something silly. However, she did put an end to this silly nonsense. (She threatened to fail the whole class—but don't tell anyone; we wouldn't want anyone to get the impression that the second hour has stupid people in the class.)

Everyone livened up after Mrs. A's pep talk. (Hammers, hatches and the like.) Jackie Borchert dropped a few elephants from the sky along with some other delightful adventures. You know Jackie. . .

Then there was Louise Brinkman who brought noodles to class and stuck them in water until they were soggy and goopy. My first instinct was, oh my goodness what next! Then she told us she thought all humans were noodles. Then I really flipped, I thought what is she, some kind of a nut! She did have good points in her speech which did compensate for first impressions she gave.

Mary Eyrich became a knife. Somehow I couldn't see the resemblance.

Have you ever seen a human tree? Talk to Marilyn Gieseke for details.

Boy, that girl is a real pill! Who? Dianne Hall, of course. No offense to Dianne, but last week we gave speeches on changing the family structure. Dianne wanted to make people be born from pills. Water it and it will grow!

You probably get the idea we're fond of speech. We're not, we just want A's in the course.

Answering to the nickname of "Avis," is an energetic redhead, Ginger Knopke. Ginger is kept quite busy with band, choir, GAA and devoting much of her time to the Senior Class Play, "My Sister Eileen," in which she plays Ruth. After graduation, Ginger plans on attending college and would like very much to travel in Europe.

One of the big idols of our Senior Class is Steve "Walt" Koeckeritz. Besides being selected to represent NUHS as Boy's Stater in his junior year, Steve participates in select choir, boys' chorus, class play, basketball and baseball. Generally Steve is a happy-go-lucky guy, but his big pet peeve is people who think they're tougher than the "Karate Kid." When asked what famous person he would like to be "Walt" answered, "Hoss Cartwright, because then I would be bigger than Sonny Romberg." As for the future, Steve plans to attend the U of M or St. Olaf.

"Lots of money with little effort" seems to be Eugene Kraus' idea of an ideal life. However, Eugene doesn't have too many complaints about his life just as it is. He enjoys hunting, fishing, and basketball and loathes the idea of getting married! (Some girl will soon change that.) More of the "strong, silent, type," Eugene surprised many of us with some of his speeches last year.

Melvin Kitzberger, another member of our senior class, enjoys working on his car, horseback-riding and skiing. Melvin is presently employed at Madsen's Super Value and plans to continue working there after graduation. His most memorable moment was prom in his junior year and his only pet peeve is, "people who think they know it all."

"A husband with a million dollars," a career in dental assisting, and "lots of fun" are a few things Janet Kretch had planned for her future. At the present, however, she's content to suffer (?) through her senior year. Happy-go-lucky, fun-loving, and outspoken from the word "go" Janet's presence is always felt. Perhaps her view of life is best summed up in these words, "I want school two hours of every day; something exciting to do every night, and lots of clothes."

Attention "Teahouse" participants! Remember the guy who "misplaced" his trousers five minutes before an entrance the night of a performance. Well, he's still displaying the same sort of individual "talent". Norman Langhoff has toned down his activities, however, so that now he almost always remembers to attend Intramural Basketball games Thursday night and even fits horsebacking in on the weekends.

Making a steady contribution to the honor roll keeps Jeanette Lang a busy and well-known student. Drawing and reading take up a great deal of her leisure time; writing for the Graphos and being an assistant librarian fill her list of extra-curricular activities. Traveling, she feels, will broaden her knowledge of herself as well as others. Jeanette's idea of an ideal life for a teen-ager is "no alarm clocks." Fumes escaping from the chemistry lab will remain in her memories of NUHS. Jeanette is probably the only student in the history of NUHS who has called Mr. Voves a "bald eagle!"

Generally called the "sleeper" in German II, Duane Lambrecht keeps the class in an uproar most of the hour. To Duane an ideal teen-ager would be one who possesses a sting-ray, neat clothes, a pleasing personality and plenty of money. Participating in choir, Swing Band, and Band makes him a musical asset to NUHS. Junior prom and the many interesting noon hours in the senior hall will be among his memories of high school. He feels his most exciting moment was the day he completed his research paper for College Prep!

Who's been prancing through the halls with a cheerful smile on her face? Karen Kolb, naturally. Haven't you heard? She's been accepted at St. Olaf. Although studying takes up much of Karen's time, she still finds time to bake, sew, read and participate in all feminine sports. Karen likes people who let her do the talking and give her lots of birthday presents. (She doesn't know anyone like this yet). Always active and up on the latest fads—she still is scared to death of the Beatles. She thinks they bite!

Hutchinson Nips NUHS 72-61 In Final Minutes

The Eagles kept up the pace set by the highly regarded Hutchinson players in all but the final two minutes to end their winning streak by losing to Hutch 72-61 here Friday, February 14.

The Eagles shot a good 41 per cent, but Hutchinson shot a better 47 per cent.

Carl Mochring was high scoring man with 27 points for Hutchinson. Dan Loose was high for New Ulm with 23.

The Eagles are 5-4 in the SCC and 8-8 for the Season.

Five NUHS Grapplers Place In Conference

Five New Ulm grapplers placed at the conference wrestling meet, Saturday, February 8, in Waseca.

Tom Zitzman, 112-pound class, and Tom Noyes, 133-pound class, placed third; while Greg Burdick, 95-pound class, Chuck Shay, 103, pound class, and Rodney Ackerson, 145-pound class, each placed fourth.

Doozers, Benders Take Bubble Bouncer Tourney

NUHS (Special Report)—Two rip-snorting games marked the fifth round of the six-round intra-mural tourney in the big gym here on February 13. Emerging victorious were Rich Breu's Doozers and Mike Stewart's Benders. The wins left these two super-squads locked in a tie for first place.

In the first game, Tom Seifert's Raiders were soundly thrashed by the Doozers 44-19. Willy "The Wart" Runck led the Raiders by scoring 12 of the team total. Seifert, who scored a mere five points, was second high, although he might have scored more had he not fouled out in the fourth quarter. "It was a mess," he said when questioned later.

High-point men for the Doozers were Rog Wellman with 14 and Rich Breu and Bruce Burdorf with 12 each. The Doozers now stand 4-1 in the season.

Fairfax Steals Match From NUHS Grapplers

Fairfax sneaked by New Ulm wrestlers, 29-21, in a close match at Fairfax on Thursday, February 6.

Five men scored points for NUHS at this match—Chuck Shay, Tom Noyes and Butch Burnett by pinning their opponents; Tom Zitzman and John Albrecht by decisions.

The varsity wrestling team finished with a 3-win and 9-loss record. With only four members of the A squad being seniors, two-thirds of the A squad will be back next year to pin down points for NUHS.

Benders squeaked past John Botten's Devils 50-45. Both teams showed good balance, but the Benders' greater bench-strength told the tale in the final quarter.

Shorthanded throughout the season, the Devils have hung fiercely to third place and now stand 2-3. Consistent high scorers for the team have been Botton and John Erickson who scored 14 and 13, respectively. Erickson played a rough and tumble game, fouling four times in the first quarter but playing it cool the next three. The Devils were in close contention until the very end, holding their last lead with 4:15 gone in the fourth quarter.

After falling behind, the Benders were forced to tighten their ball control which won the game in the final minutes. Team captain Stewart scored 14, while Ron Roberts scored 10 points. Fine offensive drives were made by Leroy Lough, while Dave Schwartz paced much of the defensive play.

Eagles Trounce Glencoe, Springfield In Recent Basketball Winning Streak

The Eagles trounced Springfield 78-58 here, Tuesday, January 28.

Springfield was rattled early in the game by the New Ulm's full-court press and fell behind.

New Ulm made 28 of 40 free throws, but took only 16 field goal attempts the last half.

New Ulm had a sizzling 52 per cent.

With Springfield spreading its defense, the Eagles got few shots in the last half but they made their shots count.

New Ulm didn't go for a high percentage game but played good ball the last three quarters.

The Eagles, after holding an eleven-point lead once, had to rally in the final seconds to beat St. Peter 63-62, Friday, January 24.

A free throw by Sonny Romberg with eight seconds remaining proved to be the winning touch on the game.

A key situation for New Ulm was at the end of the first period when Neil Gulden found the mark with six seconds remaining and Dan Loose stole the ball and made a lay-up in the final two seconds.

The time has come to raise our purple and white banners and take the lead throughout the state of Minnesota. We were the twelfth school to initiate wrestling, the sixth to begin gymnastics but now we have a chance to be FIRST—the first school in this state to have Roller Derby in our auditorium.

Here is a sport in which everybody can participate. Size and gender are of no consequence. There is group spirit because each teammate depends on the others to score. There is fierce competition between teams and it is an exciting spectator sport. What more could we ask!

Think of the fun you could have as a participator, elbowing your competition over the outside rail or whipping one of your jammers out in front of the pack. Imagine the fights and the feuds you could have hitting the other team's skaters with your crash helmet.

If you are the least bit interested, fill out the following form and return it to the Benchwarmer box in your local neighborhood school library.

The Benchwarmer staff has found a new Intra-mural roundballer who is a good deal of fun to watch. He is "Swede" Erickson, master of the Erickson Long Arm Block. The ELAB, as it is called, is well illustrated below.

Swede uses the ELAB only on rare occasions, and it is a treat to see it more than once or twice during the course of a game. Its uses are many: blocking shots, blocking passes, blocking defensive moves and blocking the view. We of the staff believe that the ELAB will soon be as popular a court tactic as the full-court press, the lay-up or the wing-T formation. We think you as an audience will enjoy it too, so get out and see the games.

Military Recruiters To Brief Senior Boys

Military Recruiters from the army, Navy, Marines, Air Force, and Naval Reserve will be at NUHS on Wednesday, March 11, to meet with all senior boys. They will each give about a five-minute summary on the advantages of their particular branch of the Armed Forces. They will then hand out cards which the boys may fill out and send back.

This meeting is scheduled before Easter so that if any of the boys are interested in joining one of the branches they will have the Easter vacation to look into it.

Fairbault School To Present Concert

The sixteen member concert band from the Minnesota Braille and Sight Saving School at Fairbault will present a program for the students of NUHS on Wednesday, March 18, at 1 o'clock. This band, which has several engagements each spring all over the state, is made up of 8-12 graders, blind or partially blind students.

The program will consist of eleven numbers, primarily marches, and six instrumental solos. The hour-long concert is played without the use of sheet music since each student has his part memorized.

In preparing for the concert, Mr. Korpinen the director, who is a violinist, teaches the music, note by note, to each individual. He plays the note on his violin, and the pupil in turn plays it on his instrument, thus learning to play by ear. After each pupil has learned the entire selection, the group meets and practices as a band.

Under the direction of Mr. Wilko Korpinen the band has scored "A" ratings in the district and state music festivals the past two years.

The Minnesota Braille and Sight Saving School is a residential school for visually handicapped students in grades 1 through 12 and is college preparatory. The students are from throughout the state of Minnesota.

PROM?

Juniors, please note! Though May seems like a long time away Miss Westling suggests that meetings should be started soon to get things started on the prom.

GAA Girls Improve

Dropping of balls, falling down, and stepping over the bowl line all started out the new year for the GAA girls in bowling.

The girls bowl after school on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. There are about three weeks of bowling left.

Much improvement has been shown over the weeks, and the girls are still trying for a 300 game.

After bowling the girls will play basketball.

Two Student Teachers Aid Home Ec Dept.

Two practice teachers are now assisting Miss Westling and Miss Stoppelman in the food and clothing departments, respectively. In the clothing department is Miss Bernadine Hoelt. Activities in her class now have the senior girls making children's clothing, with a style show planned for the first week in March. Parents of the girls are to be invited and lunch will be served by the food department. The classes will also go downtown and compare clothing in the stores with home made clothing in order to evaluate prices and quality.

In the food department is Miss Kathleen Salisbury. One of the various activities was a Valentine Party last week. This was put on by the eleventh grade girls who invited fifteen faculty members as guests—the teachers that didn't have classes first hour. The eighth grade girls also had a party in their class and invited two custodians, Mr. Schlieman and Mr. Strand. During these parties the classes practiced how to be good hostesses, how to carry on conversation with adults, and how to plan and prepare for a party.

Students to Hold Lenten Services

"How to associate Christianity with the everyday problems of youth," is the theme for the youth services being held every Wednesday morning during Lent at Friedens Church. Seven church youth groups are presenting the services. Each Wednesday a layman from the church conducting the service gives a short meditation.

A breakfast of rolls and cocoa is served in the church basement preceding the services.

The first service was held on February 12 and was given by the Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational Church. The second service was held by youths of the EYB Church. The following services will be presented by the Methodist Church, (February 26; the Baptist Church, March 4; the Episcopal Church, March 11; Our Saviors Lutheran Church, March 18; and Friedens Church, March 25.
