

FOOTBALL TEAM WINS LAST GAME OF SEASON

DEFEATS CATHOLIC HIGH, 12-7.

In a fast and furious football game, which left the result in doubt until the last minute of play, the New Ulm high school defeated the Catholic high school by a score of 12 to 7 on the Fair grounds Wednesday afternoon, November 22. Both sides fought hard in the last game of the season.

New Ulm was the first to score, going over for a touchdown after the Catholic team had worked desperately to protect its goal line. New Ulm failed to kick goal and the score was 6 to 0.

Catholics Score.

In a brilliant attack in the last quarter the Catholic high school through the use of two well executed forward passes went over for a touchdown. The team was successful in kicking goal, giving it the long end of a 7 to 6 score.

The New Ulm high school now staged a comeback. With three minutes to play, a pass from Schueller to Nelson netted 30 yards, placing the ball on the Catholic high school thirty-yard line. On the next down New Ulm made five yards. On the following play Schueller went around end 25 yards for a touchdown. Nelson failed to kick goal.

The Catholic high school again showed an amazing burst of speed and following the kickoff carried the ball in rapid plays to New Ulm's thirty-yard line. It was at this point that the whistle of the referee brought the struggle to a close.

The line-up for the two teams was as follows:

N. U. High.	Catholic High.
Schugel ..... R. E.	Stadick
Gebhard, E. .... R. T.	Permantgen
Williams ..... R. G.	Goblirsch
Teynor ..... C.	Eichten
Leonard ..... L. G.	Schmaus
Fritsche ..... L. T.	Fesenmaier
Esser ..... L. E.	Franta
Gebhard, R. .... Q. B.	Ranweiler
Spaeth, Capt. .... R. H.	Forster
Keckeisen ..... L. H.	Tauer, Capt.
Nelson ..... F. B.	Macho
Schueller ..... L. H.

A week ago last Thursday, the faculty and all the classes had their pictures taken in front of the school. They were sold the next day for fifteen cents apiece. The football fellows had their pictures taken for the Annual.

A debate held in Public Speaking class last week proved very interesting to the class. The question debated was: "Resolved, That a woman can have a career and be a successful housekeeper." Irene Ochs, Florence Hellman and Irma Steinberg upheld the affirmative, while Howard Vogel, Ernold Miller and Marvin Meyer upheld the negative. The affirmative lost by a few points. The class as a whole acted as the judges.

New Ulm Debates Sleepy Eye Here On December 14

FIRST DEBATE IN NEW ULM IN YEARS EXPECT FULL HOUSE

The first H. S. debate to be held in New Ulm for years will take place Thursday evening, Dec. 14th, in the High School Auditorium, when the local team clashes with Sleepy Eye on the question, Resolved: "That The Kansas Type of Industrial Court of Arbitration Should Be Established in Minnesota." The New Ulm debaters will uphold the affirmative of this question.

The team representing New Ulm is composed of Elizabeth Hintz, first speaker; Clarence Rolloff, second, and Howard Vogel, third. This team was selected after extensive tryouts and beyond a doubt, they represent the best debating talent that we have. The negative team, composed of Roland Hohn, Wesley Gebhard and Caroline Guggisberg, is working with the affirmative team and, if possible, they will be given the opportunity to debate some other school during the year. After studying the theory of debate and delivery, the speakers have made an intensive study of the question and have been debating among themselves daily. Every effort is being made to turn out a winning team.

Elizabeth Hintz was on the debating team of 1920 and won the girls' declamation contest last year. She is on the Honor Roll and has been very active in student affairs. She is also the president of the Girls' Literary Society and Editor of the Graphos.

Clarence Rolloff was a member of last year's debating team and is at the present time president of the Boys' Literary Society. He has had considerable experience before the public.

Howard Vogel, winner of last year's district oratorical contest, has also had considerable experience in speaking and dramatics.

Roland Hohn, the youngest member of the team, although he has never debated, has shown considerable ability as an actor. He will, no doubt, be one of the first debaters next year.

Wesley Gebhard, member of the Senior class, has also demonstrated that he has considerable reasoning ability and will make a strong bid for the first team later, should we win the Sleepy Eye debate.

Caroline Guggisberg debated on last year's team, and possesses considerable debating ability. She has also taken part in dramatics and is very active in the affairs of the Senior class. She is president of the Senior class.

The debating team, will, no doubt, receive the full support of the student body, and it is expected that the assembly will be crowded on the night of the final debate. Debating is an inter-scholastic activity and should receive the support of the students as well as the community. The New Ulm Football team fought hard for victory on Armistice Day. The debating team will put up just as strong a fight on the night of the fourteenth. Come out and make them feel that you are with them.

D. O. T.

The D. O. T. had its meeting Monday, December 4, since it was postponed Monday, the 27th. The roll call was taken and every member responded by giving his favorite holiday. Then the D. O. T. song was sung. Miss Halverson gave an interesting talk on the "Life of James Whitcombe Riley," and Miss Tripp gave "The Bear Story," one of his poems. The current events given by Miss Lohren were very interesting. The Impromptu speeches took many by surprise. They were amusing and showed a variety of opinions. "The Prospects for a 1922 Annual," Cecelia Hough, and "Should Girls' Basket Ball Be Abolished?," Hildegard Hein, were some of the most important ones. Everyone enjoyed the teachers' program and we hope to have them take part in the program again.

Mildred Fesenmaier has left school. We understand she has accepted a position in Schulke's department store.

SUPERINTENDENT GLOOR IN FAVOR OF GIRLS' BASKET BALL.

Several Schools Vote Against Basket Ball.—Local Team Progresses.

Ever since the Teachers Convention was held, the Superintendents of the 11th district, have had a hard time deciding whether or not girls' basket ball should be abolished. The majority of the superintendents of this district voted in favor of Basket Ball, as did Mr. Gloor. Tracy, Redwood Falls, Marshall, Canby, Minnesota Lake, Mankato Teachers' College, Gibbon, Nicollet and Bethany are the teams that will play. It will be impossible for the local team to arrange games with most of the above teams because of the distance. Mrs. Church has scheduled two games with Mankato Teacher's College, the first will be played at New Ulm on January 19th and the return game will be played at Mankato February 10th.

The girls' varsity is expected to be as strong as the one of last year. Mr.

Jessie Briggs ..... Adeline Ritschel
Scene—A "quiet" room at a fashionable summer hotel.

Time—Between five and six in the evening.

7. Music ..... High School Orchestra

Joseph Keckeisen was very dignified in his part as judge. Joe Schueller played a dual role. In the first and last scenes we saw him in the person of Antonio, the high school senior, while in the second scene as James, the butler, he brought down the house with his haughty actions.

Bassanio, the leading man, was well interpreted by Oscar Muesing. Hilda Steinmetz, as Portia, played opposite him. She bids fair to be a theatrical star. Fred Leonard was unusually good in his part of Shylock, the Jew, as also Bernard Esser in the part of Tubal. Erna Grussendorf and Eugene Waterston played up to their parts as friends of Bassanio and Portia remarkably well. Theodore Fritsche, in the character of Launcelot, by his witty remarks and clever acting won

 There are 23 on the list this month as compared to 17 last month. Alice Meile had an A in all five subjects. This is an excellent record for any student and especially for a Freshman.
 Erna Grussendorf has the unique record of a report card with all "A's" for every month in the six subjects she is carrying.

FLUNKING.

I have observed that some High School students think that it is more commendable to be on the Flunking roll than to be on the Honor roll. If they were to wake up for one minute they would realize the fact that they are wrong. But the trouble is that most Flunkers do not wake up till the day of the examination comes. During school hours their bodies are in school, but their minds are wandering miles away. After school they go to their flunk classes for no other purpose than to kill time. They do nothing to help the school in athletics or other activities and are nothing else but a nuisance. In general they are "Useless Ornaments."

Most pupils think that they are money ahead if they work instead of going to school. The best way for them to find out will be to try it. I think they would soon realize that going to school does them more good and is more pleasant than manual labor. Then if given another chance to return to school they will be glad to accept it. But—they will have to "Wake Up."

FRIDAY ASSEMBLY.

Friday, Nov. 24th, thanks to the Home Economics department—and Mr. Stewart, a good old afternoon assembly was again held. The occasion for the event was the style show staged by the girls of the Home Economics department, who successfully demonstrated the work and practicality of this department.

Madame Spriestersbach, under whose guidance the show was given was the demonstrator and those demonstrated were her eight models, Blanche Huelskamp, Cecelia Hough, Florence Frederickson, Frieda Olstad, Florence Hellman, Irma Peterson, Mildred Epple and Lorna Schleuder. Madame pointed out the fact that school clothes should be plain and durable and be well cared for. She said that every one should be careful to wear what is becoming to his person. Each model in turn demonstrated one of the following points:

1. The tendency of long lines to make a person appear taller and more slender.
2. The tendency of crosswise or horizontal lines to make a person look smaller and stouter.
3. A bad color scheme.
4. Carelessly kept school clothes.
5. Clothes suitable for school wear, which were a middy suit and a sweater outfit.
6. Extravagant dress for school wear.
7. Extravagant coat and hat for school girl.

Then feeling well—er—rather proud of themselves, the models appeared one by one in their work dresses and Madame Spriestersbach gave the actual cost of each, which varied from $5.90 to $10.50, and the retail value estimated as high as $25, and explained each dress, stating that the girls had done their work exceedingly well and as a whole better than any class had done which she had ever supervised.

The assembly period concluded with short parts from "The Merchant of Venice Up-to-Date" and "The Trusting Place" to advertise the plays, which were given the following Tuesday night.

Most all of the teachers spent Thanksgiving at their respective homes.

A corps of girls and boys put on a campaign for selling tickets for the A. A. plays. Verna Dahl, Fred Lippman and LeRoy Haenze sold the most tickets.

LOCALS

Louis Schugel visited the Twin Cities last week for three days.

Many students were kept busy the past week selling tickets for the A. A. plays.

Miss Elizabeth Erdmann of Mankato spent the last week-end with Miss Halverson.

Mid-semester exams were given in the chemistry, physics and higher algebra classes.

Miss Erna Hummell of Henry, S. Dakota, was a visitor at school one day last week.

All pupils who receive A for their daily marks will be exempt from the monthly examinations.

The Annual staff has given the engraving contract to the Minneapolis Bureau of Engraving.

Amy Mather went to the Cities a week ago last Saturday to attend the Minnesota-Michigan game.

Mr. Gloor sold tickets to the students for the Flonzaley Concert at the Armory at reduced rates.

The boys' basket ball team has scheduled a game with Comfrey to be played here on the 15th of December. Let's have a crowd out for the first game and display the old-time B. B. pep!

The Sophomore girls have been busy practicing basket ball the last two weeks. They have a large number of players out for practice and there is great rivalry for the places on the team. They entertain hopes of capturing the class championship this year. Gladys Wagner is captain.

The Freshmen class had their first basket ball meeting last Friday. Edna Pollei was elected as their captain. As no teachers were available as coaches, a few of the first team girls have agreed to undertake coaching them. They have good material and a winning team is predicted.

The girls' varsity squad has had basket ball practice twice. Not many girls were out. Let's see if we can't double the number out at the next practice. The last year's players won't be too rough on you. Try and get their positions away from them. Many wonderful things have been done.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS FOR NEXT FALL ARE GOOD

School Spirit Excellent.—Good Men Back.

The gridiron season of 1922 has passed into history and the athletic efforts of the school are now concentrated on basket ball. Looking back over the season we see the N. U. team meeting defeat four times and tasting victory three times. Although the balance is against us the season has its redeeming features.

In the first place we started the season with but two men with any former experience in football; the rest had never played the game, but were anxious to learn. Around these two men the coaches endeavored to build a team and their efforts were not entirely in vain. In the first game of the season we faced Glencoe on their home grounds. Owing to our inexperience we were lost the first half, but came back in the last half and very nearly turned defeat into victory. The next game was a victory over Madelia. The Mankato game gave our team some valuable experience, owing to the fact that the Mankato aggregation was fast and played a high grade of football. New Ulm put up a brilliant fight during the first half, but was unable to withstand the attack of the shifty Mankato players the last half.

The Lamberton game was probably the most disastrous game of the season, but at the same time it tended to put renewed pep and fight into the team. The next game was on the home grounds with Madelia. New Ulm easily won this game. Training for the big contest of the season the team put forth every effort to defeat the fast Sleepy Eye eleven. After two weeks of intensive drill the two teams lined up for the fracas on Armistice Day. It was a battle royal from the first to the last whistle. Sleepy Eye scored two touchdowns early in the game and the contest settled down to a bitter struggle for the remaining three quarters. Although New Ulm was unable to score it put up a game fight and kept the ball in the center of the field. When we consider the fact that Sleepy Eye held the St. Peter championship aggregation to a 3 to 0 score we feel that our team delivered the goods. The Catholic High game was a real thriller and New Ulm turned apparent defeat into victory the last two minutes of play. Score 12 to 7.

In the second place the football season of 1922 had its pleasant aspects when we consider the fact that a squad of 25 to 35 players reported for practice regularly and worked diligently toward mastering the fundamentals of the game. Most of these players return to school next fall and around them will be built a team worthy of any school the size of New Ulm.

With the exception of Plymouth Nelson, Roy Gebhard, Carl Spaeth, David Williams, Victor Zimmermann, Aurie Gehrke and Frank Forstner, all of this year's aggregation, will return next fall. The football spirit among the boys of the school is good and we will find even greater enthusiasm next fall. Let the slogan be, "New Ulm, a football town."

On the other hand the students at large have shown fine spirit. Truck loads of rooters accompanied the team every game out of town. Enthusiasm ran high and the weekly pep fests and the cheering on the home grounds was of the first order. The student body football spirit will be better than ever next year.

And thus we see that although we did not win the majority of our games we worked diligently for the cause and will come back next year with a determination to put out a first-class football team. Let every boy in high school keep the good old game in mind during the rest of the school year, and all through the summer vacation, and come back in the fall determined to outdo our opponents in the greatest American game—Football.

much applause from the audience. Lorna Schleuder was well adapted to her part. Gladys Wagner, as Miss Threedice, interpreted well the part of the stern school ma'am.

The glee clubs and the orchestra made their first appearance on that evening. Our musical organizations are a credit to the school.

The scene of the second play, The Trysting Place, was a quiet room in a fashionable summer hotel. Roland Hohn was exceptionally good as the young lover, in the person of Launcelot Briggs. Cecelia Hough in the character of Mrs. Curtis, a young widow, was one of the best in the play. Roy Pfeiffer was well suited to his part as Rupert Smith. It can easily be said that Caroline Guggisberg, playing the part of Mrs. Briggs, the mother of Launcelot and Jessie, could not have been better. Adeline Ritschel, as Jessie Briggs, was unusually good. The part of Mr. Ingoldsby was taken by Howard Vogel and he played it in his usual excellent style. The mysterious voice proved to be J. Schueller.

The A. A. netted a neat sum through the efforts of the members of the casts and the Misses Tripp and Russell, who worked hard to make these plays so successful.

HOME ECONOMICS NOTES.

Doughnuts and coffee were served after the open program Wednesday night, in the Domestic Science department.

Look forward to a Xmas sale! The Freshman cooking class will sell delicious fruit cake and a variety of Xmas candies.

Recently the Senior sewing class visited the New Ulm Steam Laundry, where Mr. Oswald kindly showed them about the place.

Miss Spriestersbach is teaching the Home Furnishing class the art of Bateek work, which is very popular now and which demands a great price in the market. If you are interested you are welcome to visit the department and see how it is done.

The Exhibit by the H. E. Department in the Bee Hive show window met with the greatest of approval. The department wishes to thank Mr. Ochs for his kindness in estimating the retail value of their wool garments, which they had made and also for giving over the space in the show window for their display.

Stop! Look! and Smell! was the war cry the Tuesday before Thanksgiving, as everybody crowded to the door of the H. E. department. The Freshman cooking class under the directions of the chief cook, Miss Rieger, was preparing a scrumptuous Thanksgiving dinner and, according to Miss Spriestersbach, who was invited as critic, it was "some feast." May the Senior Domestic Science girls in the adjoining room be possessed with severe colds on such occasions here after!

Mother: "Certainly, dear."

Homer: "But, mother, I never see any pictures of angels with whiskers."

Mother: "No, dear, men get in with a close shave."

Miss Tripp: "I want you all to write a theme on 'What I Would Do if I Had $50,000.'"

Johnnie Esser sat idle until the papers were called for, when he sent in a blank sheet.

Miss Tripp: "Where is your theme, John?"

Johnnie: "That's it. That's what I'd do if I had $50,000."
