

"THE TRYSTING PLACE"

A. A. PLAY.

A roaring evening's entertainment is going to be put on to raise money for the benefit of the Athletic Association. Two one-act plays will be given. One of the plays, already selected, is "The Trysting Place." The cast is as follows:

Lancelot Briggs, an inexperienced young gentleman . . . Roland Hohn
Mrs. Curtis, an attractive young widow . . . Cecilia Hough
Jessie Briggs, an active young lady . . . Adeline Ritschel
Rupert, Jessie's devoted lover . . . Roy Pfeiffer
Mrs. Briggs, a widow . . . Caroline Guggisberg
Mr. Ingoldsby, an elderly bachelor . . . Howard Vogel
Mysterious Voice, Mrs. Curtis' fiance . . . Joe Schueller

"The Trysting Place" is a secluded room in a large hotel, where victims of Cupid seek shelter from the alert eyes and gossip tongues of the other people of the hotel.

However, "The Trysting Place" becomes so popular a room that the appointments of various couples who meet there, happen to conflict. Lancelot, in order to avoid his mother and sister, hides under the settee. Later Jessie's fiance, Rupert, takes refuge in a big chair so as to escape from Mrs. Briggs, who disapproves of him. Then Mr. Ingoldsby, an "old flame" of Mrs. Briggs appears and proposes to her.

Suddenly the Mysterious Voice makes his presence known. Lancelot and Rupert are dragged forth from their hiding places. After some hot words, they are reconciled.

The other play, which is to be given with "The Trysting Place," has not yet been selected. This entertainment promises to be one of the best ever put on in the High School and we expect to see every member of the student body there.

QUIZ PAPER OF A CERTAIN FRESHIE.

Anatomy is the human body which consists of three parts, the head, the chest and the stummick. The head contains the eyes and brains, if any. The chest contains the lungs and a piece of liver. The stummick is devoted to the vowels of which there are five, a, e, i, o, u, and sometimes w and y.

Mr. Stewart reminds us of a piano. You ask why? He is grand, upright and square.

Said a needle to a sock, "I'll stitch you through and through."

Said the sock to the needle, "I'll be darned if you do."

Charlotte B. (on way to Madelia): "What's wrong with the car? It squeaks dreadfully."

Joe K.: "Can't be helped; there's pig iron in the axles."

NEW ULM ELEVEN MEETS DEFEAT AT MANKATO AND LAMBERTON

MANKATO GAME 51-0 LAMBERTON GAME 32-6

Fighting desperately against a stronger team, New Ulm high school went down to defeat Saturday before the speedy eleven of the Mankato high school. Although the local line held like a stone wall the Mankato backfield with its quick and shifty attack was able to sweep the ball down the field.

The game was called at 2 p. m. on the Fair Grounds with New Ulm kicking off to Mankato. Mankato carried the ball to its 20-yard line. For the first seven minutes of play the ball was carried back and forth on the field without either side scoring.

After Mankato found that it could not make any ground through line smashes it resorted to end runs and an aerial attack with more success. The first half ended with Mankato having secured three touchdowns. During both the first and last periods, Nelson, kicking for New Ulm, out-classed the best Mankato punting.

In the second half, Mankato is said to have played the best game of football it has staged this fall. In the last part of the third quarter New Ulm had a chance to score, when Nelson, completing a pass from Keckeisen, carried the ball to Mankato's six-yard line. The ball was lost by a fumble. Later in the game Nelson had an opportunity to drop kick, but missed. New Ulm did not get near the Mankato goal again.

The game ended with Mankato having the long end of a 51 to 0 score. It was a clean and hard fought game throughout. Following the game the New Ulm boys watched Mankato Normal and Parker college play a contest during which neither side was able to make a score.

On October 25 the local team will play Madelia here. A game for November 4 has been scheduled with St. Peter. The team will also play Sleepy Eye, November 11 and Glencoe, November 17. Both of these games will be played here.

Lorna: "Does that word mean 'scarcely'?"

Miss Treadwell: "Scarcely. Irene translated this for you and you should have gotten it."

Irene: "I know, but I'm so green giving her a tip."

The New Ulm football team met defeat last Saturday while playing against Lambertton. Carl Spaeth did the best work for New Ulm, while Peterson and Bendixen starred for Lambertton.

First Half.

New Ulm received the ball and fumbled and after Lambertton had a few downs they went down the field for a touchdown. New Ulm received the ball on the 20-yard line. Keckeisen fumbled the ball, but luckily Dave recovered it. New Ulm punted and after one down Lambertton completed a pass and made a touchdown. It was our ball again and we tried passes, but they did not work, so Nelson punted.

Lamberton passed the ball which Nelson caught and gained five yards. Nelson punted again and Lambertton, after passing, brought the ball close to their goal. They tried a dropkick, but failed to put it over the bar. New Ulm got the ball on the 20-yard line. Passes again failed so Lambertton got the ball. They made thirty yards on a pass, but did not score. The half ending 12 to 0.

Second Half.

The second half New Ulm fought to win, but only made one touchdown. The half started with New Ulm playing the offensive. They failed to gain so Lambertton got the ball. Three passes were tried by Lambertton, the third scoring a touchdown for them. A goal kick was made giving Lambertton an additional point. New Ulm failed to gain ground so we punted. The ball being near Lambertton did not score.

New Ulm got the ball but could not gain anything so we tried a pass. Lambertton caught it and made another touchdown and a goal kick. The ball was kicked off again, New Ulm receiving. Lambertton got the ball after our four downs. They tried a pass which Nelson caught. He had a clear field and being a fast runner he scored a touchdown after running eighty yards. Plym also tried a goal kick, but he kicked too low. New Ulm now kicked off, Lambertton receiving the ball on the 30-yard line. They tried passes, but Keckeisen got the ball. Nelson made good gains, but Lambertton got the ball and tried to score. The final whistle blew and Lambertton got another victory by a 33 to 6 score.

GIRLS' BASKET BALL

PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

The basket ball season for girls has been looked forward to and a winning season is predicted. There is enough material in the lower classes this year to enable last year's members to have much opposition for positions on the team. Although last year's captain, Florence Schneider, and also Bessie Dietz and Wanda Nelson are lost through graduation, there is still enough nucleus for a winning aggregation.

Four of the girls that will be back this season are members who won their letters last year. At the present time a few of the members are ineligible to play, but there is another month in which they may succeed and it is hoped that they will clear the scholastic bars without further difficulty.

The team has not yet found a coach, but it is known that Mr. Church will not take the position this year. There have been rumors around lately that Mr. Dirks will coach the varsity squad and the girls will surely be very fortunate in securing a coach like Mr. Dirks.

The members of last year's squad that will be back again this year are Ochs, Simmet, Schleuder, Dahl, Hintz and Hein. This material is promising and the student body hopes that the girls' varsity will be as strong as it was last year and that the N. U. H. S. girls can claim district championship.

TAG DAY A BIG SUCCESS.

School Drive on Friday, Oct. 13.

The A. A. Tag day held in the High School, Oct. 13, was a great success. A squad of girls led by Blanche Huelskamp, held up all of the pupils. The receipts, although not as large as last year, were very satisfactory. About $30.00 was collected.

Down Town Drive, Saturday, Oct. 14.

The tagging for the down-town drive was given over to three different squads. The morning squad led by Oscar Muesing, and Irene Ochs, collected approximately $55.00. The afternoon and evening squads were led by Caroline Guggisberg and Lucy Schneider. A total of about $130.00 was collected in the down-town district during the afternoon and evening.

Special Mention.

The Athletic Association wishes to thank Mr. H. O. Schleuder especially, as well as the general public for contributions. Mr. Schleuder gave five dollars, the largest individual donation and the A. A. certainly appreciates it.

Mr. Church: "Bernard is chemistry hard?"

Bernard: "Yes, it is very hard."

Mr. Church: "Potatoes are hard until you boil them and then they become soft. That's what you want to do with chemistry. Study until it does become soft."

THE HONOR ROLL.

It is within the reach of every student to be on the honor roll if he tries. Put a little more time on your lessons and after your name has appeared on it once I am sure it will appear again. If your name is on the honor roll it raises your standing in the estimation of your teachers, fellow students and the public who see your name in print. Make your school proud of you by having your name on the honor roll. It may be hard at first to get your name on the Honor Roll at the High School, but there is nothing like trying and it will make it easier to do the same when at college.

There were three Seniors, no Juniors, three Sophomores and four Freshmen on last month.

"CLASS SPIRIT."

Class Spirit is an element every class should possess. Not only one or two members of the class, but every member of the class should be filled with it. Many of us may think that we have class spirit, but we often find that it can hardly be found when considering how much spirit one really should have.

It is possible, that many High School students do not know what is meant by "Class Spirit." It certainly seems as though they don't. Many students think that all they have to do in order to show their interest in their class is to want everything they see or hear of and then give the honor to themselves. They are usually all right there when something is brought up which is of interest to them. Then when it comes to putting it across about half of them drop out saying, that they haven't time to help. This is a very poor excuse. Well, perhaps half will stick for a while at least until they get tired of the proposition, whatever it happens to be and then they get "cold feet." Some students pretend to be brimming full of class spirit, but we often find that those are the ones that do very little for their class, but criticize those that are trying to do things for the benefit of the class. But, of course, they never look at things in that way. They simply get a notion into their heads and then want to rush it through, never stopping to consider the cost or the amount of work it takes. Then, if someone wants to reason with them, to find out if their proposition can really be put across they say that he is "bucking" their plans. Then they start talking about having someone come and give the class a speech on class spirit. They should always remember that it is not the one who wants the class to have or to do things, but, the one who sticks to the job until it is finished that possesses real, true class spirit. Anyone can make a stab at something, but it takes will-power to stick to a job until it is done.

Now friends, the real meaning of class spirit is to step in at every chance you get and do something that will benefit your class and make it known to everyone as a wide-awake class, full of pep and practical action. As already stated there are those who make a rush at things, without stopping to consider all the factors involved. Then, too, there are those that never pay any attention to the affairs of the class. Others that fail to pay their dues, and still others that never go to a class meeting. What is to be done with a class of that kind? When you find a class that pulls a dozen different ways, you get the same effects as when you hitch a half dozen good horses and a half dozen lazy mules to a wagon. The result is that the wagon is not moved, the same with that kind of a class.

Wake up! students, and do all you can for your class. Help it accomplish something. Make your school life worth while and let people know that your class is doing more than merely existing. You will never regret that you did something to make your class famous. Now is the time to prepare for later life, so let's all dig in and show what we can do.

IN CRITICISM AT SCHOOL.

Maybelle—Instead of demonstrating alone she took the class right along.

Verna—I halted on the wrong foot.

Lorna—She omitted to tell the class to "Dress Right," so some were a little ahead of time.

Miss Russell—Should boys with dirty hands be sent from class?

Ivor Price—No, they get dirtier in New Ulm than they do in Cambria.

Miss Erickson—You must report the temperature of the school teachers every week.

Mr. Hein—For goodness sake, don't keep dressing the class every time.

ALUMNI NOTES

The Mankato Teachers' College has taken a flock of '22 students into its fold. At the beginning they all felt lost, being so far away from home; but they are getting more accustomed to their new surroundings and are progressing rapidly in their studies. Every Friday brings home Ruth Hummel, Gertrude Esser, Irene Karstad, Bessie Dietz and Wanda Nelson. May the week-end trains never stop running between here and Mankato!

Helen Meile has betaken herself and wardrobe to St. Mary's College at Faribault. It is the school which her mother attended. Helen plans to finish at the University of Minnesota.

Popular? Well, just watch Edward Witt, '22, struttin' around with a whole bunch of girls at his heels. He has remained faithful to his Alma Mater and is taking a post-graduate course in the Normal Department. Katherine Pfaender is also a member of the Teachers' Training class.

The Magician and Musician of the Class of '22 has chosen the latter and is playing for a traveling show company. The upper classmen will recognize him as "Hortense," or speaking more politely, Robert Fisher.

Miss Louise Fritsche of the Class of '18 has completed her course at the University of Wisconsin and is teaching in the Blue Earth High School. Carl Fritsche of '22 is attending the College from which his sister graduated.

More teachers! Lillian Eyrich, former editor of the Graphos and Eleanor Gewerth, both last year's graduates, are attending the State Teachers' College at Winona.

The nursing profession has claimed of our Alumna. Beatrice Gaag, '22, entered the School of Nurses at the University of Minnesota. Dorothy Hein, Alwina Pfaender and Elsie Sandau, all graduates of the Class of '21, are taking the same at Rochester.

Walter Anderson, our old friend Andy, has become a newspaper man. He is head linotypist for the Window Reporter at Window, Minn.

Helga Hauenstein, '21, is stenographer in the office of a wholesale hardware house in St. Paul.

We suppose the answers to examination questions in certain subjects are something like this:
 A skeleton is what you have left when you take a man's insides out and his outsides off.
 The liver is an infernal organ of the body.
 The heart is located on the west side of the body.
 Nicotine is so deadly poison that a drug on the end of a dog's tail would kill a man.

FOR WRITING LESSON PLANS.

15 minutes of time,
 1 sheet of paper,
 1 rusty pen,
 A pinch of energy.
 Blanche: "I came near being an actress once."
 Epps: "How interesting. How was that?"
 Blanche: "I had my back in a cast."
 Elvera (to Vic): "Do you like tea?"
 Victor: "No, but I like the next letter."

A CONVERSATION BETWEEN TWO SMALL BOYS.

"Say, Johnny, will you skip school if I do?" asked Billy as they were returning to school.
 "Well,—"
 "Aw, come on, I know a keen place for fishing," interrupted Billy.
 "Where? I won't tell nobody if you'll tell me, honest I won't."
 "If you'll go with me I'll show you the place."
 "I'd like to go, but what will we tell the teacher?" inquired Johnny.
 "Shucks, my big brother can write excuses for us," Billy replied. "Your a fraidy cat, that's all you are."
 "I am not. Why I could lick you with one hand," boasted Johnny.
 "Listen, Johnny, don't you want to go to that fishin' pond?" coaxed Billy.
 "But if I went and my Dad found out I'd get a lickin'."
 "Your Dad wouldn't find out, besides what are you afraid of him for?" asked Billy as they reached the road turning from school to the woods.
 "I don't think I'll go, Bill, and I just know you're scared of your Dad."
 "I am not, why—"
 "Sh-s-s-s-s, Billy. There comes your Dad now."
 "Where? Say come on, let's hurry and get to school or we'll be late."

TO THE JUNIORS.

Here's to the class of noted fame,
 Here's to the class that has made its name,
 Here's to the class that never shirks,
 Here's to the class that does the work,
 Here's to the class that has the fun,
 Here's to the class that gets things done.
 Well, may she follow her motto bright,
 Well, may she work with all her might,
 High in fame may each member go,
 High may he climb, though he be but slow;
 Then may he turn from the place he is won,
 To thank this class for the things it has done.

 For the girl is late who slumbers,
 For she has to fix her hair.
 Rats are here, and switches plenty,
 But the styles, they do not stay;
 How to catch them in their changes
 Is her aim from day to day.
 Not dances and not ball games
 Are our only end and aim,
 But to act that each tomorrow
 Find us zeros next our name.
 Time is long and tests are pressing,
 And though hearts are torn with fear,
 Still we're hoping for promotion
 To the rank of Senior year.

LITERARY

P. L. S. MEETING.

The meetings are becoming more organized and attract the boys' attention more and more. The "Proteans" are beginning to show improvements in speaking. They also get into heated discussions and they don't feel as if the floor were going out under them.

Misbehavior.

But one incident marred the meeting. Two Proteans who felt rather full of life had to begin to cut up, while Mr. Stewart left the room to call in the new Editor of the Review. They ran away when asked to give an extemporaneous speech.

The Red Devils as designated by Roland Hohn in his humorous story began to get red and see fire. The judges passed their death sentence, which will be brought up at the next meeting. If you notice two "shaky Proteans" you will understand in what a situation they are.

Second Meeting.

The second meeting of the Protean Literary Society was held on Tuesday evening, October 17. The secretary read his report and the president read Robert's Rules of Order. The program was a great success. It was as follows: The 1922 National Shoot by Eugene Waterston; High School Days by Oscar Muesing, Harold Vogelpohl, Edward Witt, Roy Pfeiffer and Willard Price; Why the Class of 1933 Should Have an Annual by Wesley Gebhard; Original Humorous Story by Roland Hohn.

Debate on whether or not the Kansas Industrial arbitration court should be established in Minnesota.

Affirmative of Debate by Roy Pfeiffer and Roy Gebhard. Negative of Debate by Marvin Solberg and Carl Spaeth. Turkish Uprising by Oscar Muesing. Mr. Stewart pointed out to the Proteans of what value the ability to speak was to a High School student in future life and why trying out for debate is important. The Proteans feel sure now that they can debate better than the Daughters of Thespis. Mr. Stewart then gave his critic's report and the meeting adjourned.

D. O. T. PROGRAM.

Last Monday evening, Oct. 16, the D. O. T. society met for their first meeting and commenced their work for the year under the leadership of Cecelia Hough. The meeting opened with a song to Thespis, in which every member took part. Then the Constitution was read by Cecelia Hough. Every member showed her good will by listening very attentively. This membership material predicts the outcome of a successful year.

The program was as follows:
 Life of Thespis and History of High School Societies ..Lorna Schleuder
 ReadingElizabeth Hintz
 Piano SoloMiss Treadwell
 Parliamentary Drill. Debate on "Resolved, That Bachelors Should Pay Ten Dollars for the Support of Old Maids." The most interesting points were given by various members, which proved to be educational, especially to the teachers. The critic, Miss Russell, gave us very favorable reports and the meeting was adjourned.

BETWEEN HALVES OF THE LAMBERTON GAME.

Orated by Coach Gregor.

Why you big bunch of tow-headed idiots, you don't know nothin'. I could carve all you guys know on granite and put it in my eye and never feel it. Why, you chicken hearted canaries, the normal class could run up a hundred to nothing score on you.

Mason! did you think if you stood and held that ball it would hatch? And you Athey! I don't see why they didn't leave your arms stick out straight like on an ordinary signpost. Hooper, you're supposed to start the same day as the team. If you were just a little bit slower you would have to be tied to the earth to keep up with it. Root, I don't see what kind of a fool I am, trying to make a football player out of you when they are paying 11 cents a pound for ox meat in South St. Paul. And Peavey, playing safety. Two stone hitching posts out of three would get by you in a six-foot alley. Cluglir, the backfield is only eight feet away. So you don't need to throw the ball as high as you can to get it to them. Laudon, you might catch a hay stack running with your arms wide open, but that is no way to catch a football. And Whitcomb, if one of those 75-pound Lambertons tackles would point his finger at you and yell "shame, shame," you would holler for your mama for all you were worth. Manning, they didn't give you that ball to nurse. You're supposed to move with it. The rest of you birds stood around as if you had paid your admission and were watching the game. There is the whistle. Now get into 'em this half or I'll—Sen Jen So Fre.

WHEN I AM A SENIOR.

The dignified seniors of today will soon be vacating their seats. In due time we childish freshmen will be occupying their honored places. Their privileges, dignities and honors will fall on our irresponsible shoulders only with time and hard study. Those privileges, dignities and honors will, of course, be welcomed. After those long years of study we all admit that the seniors deserve their rewards.

When I am a senior I will expect all the "looking up to" and admiration that is expressed by the lower classmen of today to be bestowed on me. In my senior year I expect to try to look just as dignified and proper as the senior of today does, and even more than they have so far expressed by their actions and words.

I hope by the time I am a senior to have mastered the art of studying to so great an extent that I can simply sit and look at my book to gain my knowledge. Then watch the silly lower classmen "dig" to get their lessons while I sit in blissful state of enjoyment on the south side of the Assembly. Janet Henze, '26.—Sen Jen So Fre.

RADIO CLUB.

There has been a need of a radio club in the high school for the past several years. Such an organization under the auspices of the science department would keep the students, with an inclination for radio, banded together for the mutual benefit, to keep themselves posted on new developments and improve their knowledge of the theory of radio and the telegraph code.

It has been suggested that a series of talks be given on the fundamental principles of electricity which would lead up to the practical working radio reception and transmission. A class in code practice would be conducted which should prove of special benefit in obtaining a government transmitting license of which there are only six in Luverne.

All persons in this high school who would be interested in such an organization are requested to meet in the science room Thursday at seven thirty-oclock.—Luverne Echo.
