NEW ULM SHINES IN CONTEST AT REDWOOD

Clarence Rolloff and Lucy Schneider to Represent N. U. H. S. at St. Cloud.

In the commercial contest held at Redwood, April 14, Clarence Rolloff walked off with first place in Shorthand and Lucy Schneider with third place in Typing II. Irene Muske lacked one-fourth per cent of getting third in Shorthand. Clarence transcribed his shorthand notes with over 98 per cent accuracy, and Lucy typed 53 words a minute. Other contestants from New Ulm were Leroy Haenze and Doris Haugen for Typing I. The trip was made in cars and Miss Almeter and Mr. Stewart accompanied them. After the contest they were entertained by the Redwood students and also received a feed.

Clarence Rolloff and Lucy Schneider will represent New Ulm at the state contest to be held at St. Cloud April 28, in the Shorthand II. and Typing II. contests, respectively.

With Clarence and Lucy as its representatives, New Ulm high school entertains high hopes of gaining some more state honors. Much credit is due Miss Almeter, as she is instructor of the typing and shorthand classes, which have made such a splendid showing at this contest.

A boys' track team was formed one day last week and they are working very hard because they wish to get in the finals, if possible.

THE P. L. S. HOLD INTERESTING MEETING.

The P. L. S. held a successful meeting on Tuesday evening. All the numbers on the program were very good and showed evidence that the boys had spent some time preparing their topic. After the regular program was carried out the P. L. S. held a business meeting. They decided to give an ice cream social on the High School lawn sometime in the near future. Mr. Meyer offered the services of his company of "Hawaiian Serenaders" to furnish music at the social. His kind offer was immediately accepted. As there are only a few more weeks until the school term is over, the P. L. S. decided to have at least two more meetings. All the Junior boys in the P. L. S. are to take part in the first program and all Senior boys in the second. The program on Tuesday night was as follows:

1. Current Events Carl Thies
2. Sydney Smith and His Gumps..... Oscar Muesing
3. Open Discussion: Resolved That the High School Should Have Student Government Oscar Muesing (Chairman)
4. Critic's Report Mr. Stewart

The Senior girls had a meeting recently at which they decided upon the uniforms they are to wear at graduation.

NEW ULM-CASS LAKE DEBATE FOR STATE TITLE TUESDAY NIGHT

SECURED DEBATE FOR NEW ULM BY WINNING TOSS OF COIN WILL UPHOLD NEGATIVE SIDE

The New Ulm debaters will meet the Cass Lake debating team, Tuesday, May first, at Turner Hall to decide the state debating championship. On April 12th the Cass Lake debating team won over the Duluth team by a 2-1 decision.

Supt. G. H. Sanberg of the Crookston school, who is president of the state debating league, sent word to Coach Stewart that New Ulm had won the toss and consequently the debate city could be chosen by New Ulm. The Cass Lake team selected the affirmative side of the question. New Ulm will uphold the negative.

Personnel of Teams.

The Cass Lake team is composed of three girls, Marguerite McQuire, Leila Goreusla and Elverna Omon. Supt. C. A. Pedersen of the Cass Lake High school is their coach. The New Ulm debaters are: Howard Vogel, Elizabeth Hintz, and Clarence Rolloff. Principal R. J. Stewart has coached them throughout the season. Cass Lake has upheld the negative side of the question, "Resolved: That the Kansas Type of Industrial Court of Adjudication Should Be Established in Minnesota," four times and the affirmative twice, while the home team has won three times on the negative and twice in the affirmative. As New Ulm had the bye in the last elimination, they met only two teams in the interstate contest, while Cass Lake met three. The New Ulm and Cass Lake teams are the two surviving teams out of a field of seventy who entered the contest last fall.

Principal R. J. Stewart Coach.

The fact that the New Ulm team has directly eliminated five teams, upholding either side of the question, proves the ability of the three members as debaters of the team as well as that of Mr. Stewart, as the coach.

Concerning the ability of our debaters and their coach the Brown County Journal states as follows: "Coach Stewart is a man of exceptional ability along this line and has made this ability apparent in turning out a winning debating team for the local school. Each speaker has considerable native ability as a debater, but notwithstanding this, it required a capable executive to bring this latent ability to the surface and mold it into action."

Quartette Working Hard.

The team and coach have directed very much time and all their energy working out their side of the question, ever since the side of the question which they are to uphold in this final debate was determined.

Large Attendance Anticipated.

Turner hall has been secured as the place of the debate, so that the large crowd, which is expected, can be accommodated. This is the first time a contest determining state honors of any kind was ever held at New Ulm, and it is an opportunity which few people will pass up. The team and coach have been working hard and show great possibilities of a victory, so it is up to the students of New Ulm High school and the people of the community as a whole to back them and do their share toward making this a grand success.

ART EXHIBIT DRAWS GOOD CROWD.

The Art Exhibit was a success, both financially and in itself. The pictures exhibited were chosen from among the world's best and the pictures were a real treat to nearly everybody.

Each evening an Art Lecture was read by Howard Vogel explaining the pictures and telling how to appreciate them. Several hundred tickets were sold and over a hundred dollars were taken in, the proceeds of which will be spent for pictures in the various school buildings.

—Don't Miss the Debate, Tuesday!—

Kodaking days have come again with the arrival of spring, and the epidemic has a strong foothold in N. U. H. S. Everybody has brought his camera along and is snapping pictures of everybody else. There's a reason, they need snaps for the Annual.

—Boost the Debate, Tuesday Night—

The Senior H. E. girls had a cookie sale Friday, the 13th.

LAWN SOCIAL.

At the last meeting of the P. L. S. the members decided that the society together with the Graphos staff, would give a lawn social to defray the expenses of having their pictures put in the annual. This lawn social will be given some time in May. A large crowd is expected to turn out on this occasion as they will, undoubtedly, have a good time and at the same time will be helping the Annual fund along.

—Boost the Debate, Tuesday Night—

The Campfire girls had a meeting Tuesday, the 10th. It was a Handcraft meeting and the older girls planned decorations for their ceremonial gowns. The business meeting was very brief and Miss Spriestersbach talked on the making of pottery and also how to make the headbands. The new members were excused after the business meeting, as they had no gowns.

PROSPECTS FOR TRACK ARE GOOD THIS YEAR

All Gym Classes Go Through Tryouts.
—Mr. Hein and Mr. Stewart
Coaches.

Friday, the thirteenth, a meeting was held of all the boys in the assembly room. The object was to discuss the track team this year.

Mr. Stewart gave a talk on track and field events and also told of the meet held at Mankato last year. There seems to be plenty of good material in school and if the right spirit is shown there is no reason why New Ulm should not have an A No. 1 track team. At the meeting some of the boys suggested spring football, but this could hardly be considered now, because of the limited time.

Beginning Monday morning each gym class under the supervision of Mr. Hein and Mr. Stewart started the course of track events. A record is kept of all the results and in this way material can be picked to go in training for the team. Also the winners of these events will decide the class championship in track.

As soon as the eligible ones are picked to try out for the team they will go in training under Mr. Hein and Mr. Stewart. The first few weeks will be spent in running and endurance tests to get in condition. By the date of the track meet this year we hope to be able to send a winning team down to "bring home the bacon."

—Don't Miss the Debate, Tuesday!—

D. O. T. MEETING.

The meeting was called to order by Freda Olsted and roll call was taken. It was reported that the candy sale in the afternoon had been a success and that the money would be used to pay for the picture in the Annual. The business meeting then adjourned. The first number on the program was the "Life of Robert Louis Stevenson" by Florence Frederickson. Freda Olsted then gave "Treasure Island" one of his works. Both numbers were greatly enjoyed. These were followed by a discussion about having a party in the gym to arouse the interest in D. O. T. meetings. It was decided to have one in two weeks. Irma Peterson, Grace Anderson and Viola Cordes were put on the eat's committee.

It is hoped that the attendance at the party and at future meetings will be greater than it has been lately.

—Don't Miss the Debate, Tuesday!—

The chairs in Miss Garnoch's room have a tendency to breaking down at unexpected moments. There were two such occasions last week. Maybe the legs of the chairs get weak from laughing at the funny answers given in class.

The Public Speaking class has decorated Room 217 with some beautiful (and some otherwise) posters; the phrases printed on these tend toward the promotion of better English.

THE HONOR ROLL.

It will be noticed that some of the names which were published on the first honor roll this year, are still numbered on this list, while at the same time it will be noticed that the number of honor students is increasing. Erna Grussendorf's name has not only appeared on the honor roll every month, but she has the unique record of 6 A's every month. There are a few too who have 5 A's and some with only the necessary grades.

Out of the thirty names on this merit list the Sophomores head the list, having just one more than either the Freshmen or Seniors. The following comprise the honor roll for March:

Herbert Franta
 Florence Frederickson
 Caroline Guggisberg
 Elizabeth Hintz
 Amy Mather
 Erna Miller
 Frieda Olstad
 Lorna Schleuder
 Verna Dahl
 George Gastler

COPYING.

It seems that it is quite a custom for some pupils in High School to copy work from others, later claiming it as their own. What benefit they derive from it, I don't know and I don't believe they do themselves. Be independent and do your work. You may think that you will "get by" with it, but some day you will be discovered. Even if you aren't, you are harming yourself.

Think of the days when you will not have someone with you to do your work. Those times will come especially after you have graduated. What position can you get and hold when you cannot rely upon yourself, when you need someone at your side to tell you how to do this and that?

By having someone do your work you are not only deceiving yourself and your teachers, but are doing the person from whom you copy a great wrong. It is not right that one should do the work and you get credit, also.

How can you become independent? Control yourself and concentrate for a reasonable length of time and you will have mastered the task. You will feel free, not fearing that some day you will be discovered. Do your own work. You'll never once rue it.

—Don't Miss the Debate, Tuesday!—

VANDALS.

By a recent speech which Mr. Gloor gave in assembly, most of the students of the High School were impressed as to the wrongs of vandalism. I don't believe there is any particular joy in the destruction of this property, but, nevertheless, there are some vandals who seem to delight in certain methods of plunder; these are the real culprits and they want to plunder. But then, there are a vast number of students who unintentionally belong to this class.

They walk over the lawns, and this makes it impossible for the lawn about our school to grow. Special stress has been laid upon the fact that co-operation is needed to put an end to this. So let's co-operate and put a stop to this, don't walk over the lawn yourself and don't allow anyone else to.

—Don't Miss the Debate, Tuesday!—

IMAGINATION, ITS USE, ETC.

It may readily be seen that a person who has the power of exercising his imagination, has the advantage over most students in High School. It aids him in his studies. It is a sort of auto suggestion or self suggestion, that results from a keen imagination.

Often times I have seen myself buried in a book on Ancient History (which, sad to relate, is a most distasteful subject to me) trying to modify in my mind a series of events which, if my imagination and mental creative ability did not come to the rescue, would be most distasteful. But a thrilling tale, like The Burning of Rome by Demosthenes, or the Capture of Tokio by Hannibal, or Charlemagne's Adventure with Rameses II., when spiced with a shake of one's own imagination becomes a vivid flash of mental pictures. Such sensations are not found in the book itself, but in one's own person.

I recently had the opportunity to see a man who was sorely distressed by music. I do not mean that he had any particular dislike for music, but that a conglomeration of sweet notes and harmonies played so on the emotions that while he was accompanying a singer of great note (this was at a rehearsal) he lept from the piano and sprawled out on top of it clutching himself to grasp the sensational agonies. Of course his musical appreciation got the better of him, but it is my wish that the average person had some of it. How pleant a world this would be if everyone could imagine so hard that they were good that the results would be the reality.

A good way to exercise one's imagination is to read. Make use of the library—read—live the parts played by various characters and then when the book is laid aside imagine yourself to be the dearly loved character of the novel. This is a way to develop your character. Nearly all people have in their mind a person, who to them is ideal in character and personality. Use your imagination and live the part of this person. How wonderful this old earth would be if everybody would live up to the requirements of an ideal being.

RURAL SCHOOL—THEN AND NOW!

Do you remember the lonely dismal spot in the valley, where stood the gloomy rural school of many years ago? This was merely a shack, which was called a school. Here everything was "taught to the tune of the hickory stick." The teacher, usually a man, was given the position, probably because he was the most learned man of the community or probably as often the case, because he did not have anything else to occupy his time. Patrons of the school got together and chose the man whom they thought most fit for the position. The man, often did not have very much schooling. He taught school without even studying Pedagogy or Psychology and thus did not know how to "put knowledge across." He was not paid very much in money; each patron of the school boarded him for a certain length of time. The school master of long ago, ruled with the iron hand. He was very strict, crabby and cross. They thought, at that time, that to smile or laugh in the school room was improper; therefore the school master had great difficulty in securing order, and the pupils would "put something over on him" when ever they got a chance. A very common scene in a school room of that kind was a boy sitting in the corner wearing a dunce cap. The school master did not know how to punish his pupils to get the results he wanted.

The equipment of this school was of the very rudest. The desks were generally made of logs, not comfortable or convenient. There were no free text books, each child having to buy his own and as a result the books were handed down from one member of the family to another. Often many children had to use the same book. To use paper was a great waste, so slates were substituted. This was the education a rural school of long ago offered.

How different our rural schools are today! A cheerful teacher is at the door smiling at the pupils as they come in. Love reigns, and not the hickory stick. The teacher has had normal training and knows that the average child comes to school seeking knowledge and is ready to respond to any suggestions. She seeks to arouse his interest and create enthusiasm because of the enthusiasm she herself feels and displays. Not only does she teach the children to work but play comes in for due consideration. As she understands her business she is usually more successful than her early predecessors.

The present day rural school is well ventilated, lighted, and heated and better equipped with maps, books, etc. Although conditions are not ideal it is possible to achieve results.

REV. HOHN SPEAKS AT ASSEMBLY PROGRAMME.

The assembly for Friday, April 20, was a decided success. Rev. Hohn gave a talk on the topic, "What I would do if I were a High School student again." He brought out five good points. After this the "Natural Peace Disturbers" rendered several selections of music, which were duly appreciated. We hope to hear from them again. Mr. Gloor then added another "point" to Rev. Hohn's talk.

The Campfire Girls planned an early morning hike and if it doesn't rain they will have it.

LOCALS

Miss Kemp was one of the number on the sick list.

Hear the New Ulm debating team win at Turner Hall next Tuesday.

Margaret Schmid was absent from school a few days last week on account of illness.

Carl Fritsche was home on a vacation from the University of Madison several weeks previous.

The Freshies had several class meetings last week. There was not very much decided at these meetings.

The first year Sewing class enjoys a five-minute recuperation on the grade kids chute during their recess.

The Sophies are learning to write descriptions in English. If you want to know how you look, ask a Sophie to write a description of yourself.

The Senior play cast is working hard and they spend almost every night practicing. Cecelia Hough and Joe Schueller are the chief characters.

Since the weather permits, gym classes are being held out of doors. The kids like it real well, but some of the Freshies would rather teeter-totter.

The D. O. T. Society had a candy sale Monday at 3:30. Every piece of candy was sold, so it must have been a success. The proceeds went to the Annual.

Did you notice "Hil" walking around the hall last week all alone? Well, she dislocated her arm one night in gym and it's no fun. She had "heap much pain."

At a recent meeting of the school board Miss Weiser was elected librarian for the coming year to fill the vacancy left by Miss Schmidt, the present librarian, who resigned.

The Biology classes went for a hike last week. They spent the first two periods in the morning for one and the other hike was held the eighth period and then after school.

The debate will come off soon and everybody should attend it. We are very probably going to win; so tell everybody you see about it, because we want a lot of people out to see it.

The Sophomores are hoarding a secret, what it is no one knows; but by scraps of conversation which have escaped, we draw the conclusion that it's a play. Well, that's the surprise!

The Juniors are busy planning the decorating of the gym for the reception. They say it is going to be one of the best receptions ever given. Lerschen's orchestra is going to furnish the music.

Several of the "tennis sharks" are busy fixing up the tennis court of late. The number enlisted in this noble cause is comparatively few, but by the time the court is in "shape" there will be throngs of people "interested" in tennis.

The teachers are starting their yearly collection of rubber balls again. If you want to keep your ball, well, keep it in your pocket till after school. No doubt, if one could look into the treasure chest where they are kept one would find no two alike.

The Campfire Girls went on a hike Friday morning. They met at the Union hospital at six o'clock. They went out to Hunter's Rest and back through the woods, making it in an hour. They all had a very good time, I guess, because they're talking about another one.

CAN YOU IMAGINE.

Myra Seifert without her "Thank you?"

Maybelle Simmet forgetting to giggle?

Myrtle Harbo not talking?

Evelyn Alwin forgetting Lily?

at him. In the morning he found he had sent an arrow through his own shirt which hung in the window. Falling on his knees he prayed fervently, "I thank thee, Allah, that I was not in that shirt."

"I'll explain deduction," said the young student, airing his knowledge in the home circle. "In our backyard, for example, is a pile of ashes. By deduction that is evidence that we've had fires going this winter."

"By the way, John," broke in his father, "You might go out and sift the evidence."

A GRIN OR TWO

ESSAY ON CAESAR BY A SMALL BOY.

Julius Caesar was born in the year 1492 during the reign of Columbus. He chose war as a trade and liked it very well. He took after the Helvetians and they ran like everything. Just as he was about to cross the Tiber he shouted, "Wait till you see the whites of their eyes, then fire." His army loved him and he kept a grocery store in the Forum, No. 16, on the left side, next to the temple of Jupiter.

It is just 1,944 years since C. J. Caesar was stuck with a stab knife. The case was at once reported to the Roman Police and two detectives were assigned on it. They had good clews and expected to make arrests the next day. Caesar was mixed up in a fight in the first ward of Rome. Some say he tried to count out Brutus who was running for alderman. Mark Anthony was one of the election judges and a preacher of funeral sermons. Caesar was stabbed as he was coming out of the city hall. When he fell he shouted, "Veni, vidi, vici." Caesar left many relatives and debts but they were cancelled. He was the man who made the famous remarks, "I'll fight it out on this line if it takes all summer" and "They shall not pass" and composed a book for the tenth grade.—Exchange.
