NEW ULM DEFEATS NORTH HIGH 3-0

COMPLIMENTS TO RETIRING FACULTY

It is with great regret that we hear of the departure of many of our able faculty. Among those who are to leave us are Mr. Church, whose untiring efforts in class and otherwise will never be forgotten; Miss Halvorson, who excelled in history and succeeded in conveying her message to many of the students, with a force and eloquence known only to the true scholar; Miss Tripp, who created by her merry wit, amiability and thorough knowledge of literature,—a real fame; Miss Almeter, who succeeded in making our typing department one of the best; Miss Garloch, who deserves our utmost admiration for her years of unselfish service; Miss Reager, whose knowledge and skill in teaching home economics is unlimited; Miss Kemp, whose sweet carols remind one of the coming of dawn; and Miss Erickson, the school nurse, to whom the word, "Capable," may be applied with its full meaning.

In addition to these members of the faculty we are also to lose Mrs. Church, competent secretary to Mr. Gloor, and a general favorite among all.

In thanking the members of the retiring faculty for their services, which will, no doubt, prove to be of inestimable worth to us in the future, as well as at present and in wishing them enduring success, we, the student body, join most heartily. Does I Look Like the Cook or Doesn't It?

DISTRICT CONTEST IN SHORTHAND AND TYPEWRITING.

The following contestants have been selected for the District contest to be held on April 12 at Tracy, Minn.: Shorthand II—Evelyn Alwin and Lucy Emmerich for first places and Florene Murphy for alternate; Typewriting I—Willard Price and Luella Loesch for first places and Edgar Fechner as alternate; Typewriting II—Evelyn Alwin and Le Roy Haenze for first places and Louis Cordes for alternate.

The high schools taking part in the district contest are the same as those for the athletic district, namely: Canby, Comfrey, Ivanhoe, Lake Benton, Lamberton, Marshall, Minnesota, New Ulm, Redwood Falls, Sleepy Eye, Springfield, Tracy and Tyler. Each high school is allowed to send two contestants for each event.

The three contestants receiving the three highest places in each of the three events—shorthand, beginning typewriting, and advanced typewriting—at the district contest will be eligible to enter the State Commercial contest for high schools which will be held this year at Stillwater on May 13.

At the state contest a cup shall be awarded to the school represented by the winner of first place in each event. This cup is to be in the possession of the winning school for the

COLONEL HOPKINS DELIVERS ADDRESS

We enjoyed a rare treat at last Friday assembly by having the privilege of having with us two Civil War veterans, Comrade Pfefferle of New Ulm and Colonel Hopkins of Fairfax. Colonel Hopkins in his address told us about his early years and about the Civil War. He was born in New York state and spent his boyhood days there. While still a young boy, Colonel Hopkins became an ardent abolitionist. An old negro slave from the South had escaped from his master and started for Canada. On his way he stopped at Colonel Hopkins' home town and stayed there for some time. The colonel stated that this old negro was the kindest, best Christian he had ever seen, and it was this old negro who made him such an ardent abolitionist.

In the late fifties many conventions were held and speeches given against slavery. Colonel Hopkins attended every one and became a stronger abolitionist than ever. He also heard Abraham Lincoln's speech in which he said, "no nation can exist half slave and half free." Colonel Hopkins stated there were times just before the war began when he hated the flag. When he looked at the blue field, the white stars reminded him of auction blocks which dotted the southern states. The red and white stripes symbolized blood and tears shed by the negroes when families were parted, never to meet again.

In 1861 the Civil War started. Colonel Hopkins was then a boy of fifteen and tried to enlist. He didn't get into the army though because of his extreme youth. Two years later he and a friend went to Milwaukee, and enlisted in the army as privates. The same day he witnessed some soldiers drumming a deserter out of camp. He decided then and there never to do anything so low as to desert.

He then told us what a wonderful

TWO HARBORS WINS COVETED TITLE.

Wrests Championship in Finals from South High in Slow Game.

Two Harbors eliminated the St. Cloud and McIntosh fives who had defeated the fast Fairmont and Johnston teams. South got into the finals by trimming the Moorhead and Owatonna basketeers. Moorhead had formerly won from Tyler, who, as we know, defeated Redwood, who, in turn had defeated us. South High was surprised at their defeat as they had a very competent team, captained by Mallie Nydahl, a forward, and one of the fastest and most accurate players in the Twin Cities, and ranks among the state's best players of the year, who competed in the tournament. The tournament was completed last Friday at Kenwood Armory, Minneapolis.

TO MEET CANNON FALLS FRIDAY IN SEMI-FINALS

Saturday evening, March 15, our high school debating team added North High, Minneapolis, to their list of victims. With this victory New Ulm is classed as one of the four remaining teams which will contest for State championship.

From the beginning of the contest it could be readily seen that the New Ulm team would win the debate, because their delivery and their methods of handling the question were greatly superior to those of their opponents. The "Flour City" team used weak arguments and their line of attack was very inferior for the reason that they did not have adequate proof for the statements which they employed during the debate. Our team was exceedingly strong in rebuttal and it is due to this fact that New Ulm received a unanimous vote.

Professor Wright, head of the public speaking department of Hamline University; W. I. Norton, a Minneapolis attorney and a member of the State Legislature; and Stanley Houck, also an attorney of Minneapolis, acted as judges and complimented the team for its debating ability after the contest was over.

This victory is the fifth one awarded to our team this season. Four teams were defeated by unanimous decisions and one by a 2 to 1 vote, giving New Ulm a record of fourteen judges' decisions out of fifteen. This is a record equalled only by Cannon Falls, our next opponent. We have not lost a debate since 1922 and have won 29 votes out of a total of 33. No other team in Minnesota can claim such a record as our team has made in the past two years.

New Ulm will meet Cannon Falls Friday, April 4th, in the next debate and the team will again uphold the affirmative side of the vital immigration question. This will be the sixth time that we have drawn this side, and as Cannon Falls has debated both sides of the question, New Ulm will meet the strongest opponent she has met this year. Cannon Falls has defeated Chatfield by a 2 to 1 decision, after having been forced to swing over to the other side of the question, namely the negative. Cannon Falls took honorable defeat last year from our team and it was the strongest team that we debated. Their star debaters of last year are determined to beat us. Are we going to permit them to accomplish their determination? Our team can defeat them if the student body shows as much pep in the future as they did at the last debate.

—Well, I Don't Like It!

The seventh period English III class had a very interesting program Monday. Carl Thies and Della Pfeiffer gave some good jokes and "Toot" told us about his ideal girl. She's supposed to have red hair. I bet there'll be lots of kids using red hair dye now.

NEW ULM FORTUNATE TO RETAIN MANY TEACHERS

Mr. Gloor and Mr. Stewart Re-Elected.

Upon the occasion of the election of the faculty we are pleased to hear that so many have chosen to remain with us. Mr. Gloor, whose services have been at our disposal for four years has been re-elected and has accepted his position for another term. We appreciate his faithfulness and realize that he has done much to build up our high school. We would be forced to hunt considerable in order to find another like him and hope he will remain with us for many years to come.

As for Mr. Stewart; it would be flattering to say what we think. He is so fair and square that if his characteristics were left upon the pupils of this school, they would be perfect. He is like bread in the debate work, the staff of life. Didn't he put New Ulm High School on the map by making it possible for them to get the state championship in debate? Of course—we will win it this year too. When it came to a tie between Mr. Stewart and Mr. Church, they put out a team which was a great improvement over last year's and this is a secret—maybe they will start baseball this spring! Hip! Hip! Hooray! Mr. Stewart will stay and New Ulm will again get state championship.

Miss Treadwell has been here many

SERIAL.

As we go about our school work, day by day, I wonder if we really know what the real purpose of the school is? I wonder if we are aware of the fact that the primary purpose of the school is to develop a higher type of citizen? We get the higher type of citizen through development of the students' personality.

Personality takes into account almost all of the traits that a person possesses. Although you have plenty of ability, mentality, skill, and information you can hardly expect to succeed in competition with others, unless you possess that all-important thing, known as personality. Personality might be defined as that which distinguishes and characterizes a person. Are the students of the High School developing strong points in their personalities?

In order to check yourself up on this point, it might be well to ask yourself a few of the following questions "Are you ambitious? Have you the ability to drive yourself steadily? Can you be relied upon to carry out plans assigned to you by other people? Are you self-reliant? Can you express your ideas clearly and convincingly? Are you working in harmony with other people? Do you depress people or are you a cheerful companion? If you can conscientiously answer all of these questions in the affirmative you might feel assured that you are developing a strong personality, but if you find that you do not meet some of the above requirements then you know what traits you need to cultivate. Begin today and make up your mind that you will develop a personality that will always be an asset to you. The greatest personalities in history have been developed by practicing little things day by day. High school students are at the age when they can develop their personalities into strong forceful ones or the opposite. Personality is a wonderful thing and without it brilliant success is impossible.

CLUB NOTES

DRAMATIC CLUB HAS OPEN MEETING.

A large number of people gathered in the assembly on Thursday, March 13, at 7:15 as the Dramatic club held an open meeting. The Schlottman Brothers' orchestra rendered a few pleasing numbers. Roll call and a short business meeting followed this. The main feature on the program was a play entitled "Silas Marner" coached by Edna Pollei. As all were familiar with the story, they enjoyed it very much. In this play Walter Vercoe took the part of Silas Marner and acted his part exceedingly well. Alice Meile as Eppie also deserves honorable mention. Ferdinand Fritsche as Aaron Winthrop, pleased the audience greatly with his song, "God Bless You, Merry Gentle-men." The people went home with the tune of "Home Sweet Home" still lingering in their ears. They all seemed well satisfied with the program.

—Bess Makes Me Sick!—

LATIN CLUB.

On Monday, March 24, the Latin club had their usual semi-monthly meeting. After roll call was answered by the name of a famous Roman building, an essay on "What I Have Gained From My Study of Latin" was given by Herbert Peichel. Next a pleasing number was rendered by the ukelele trio consisting of Helen Sans, Marian Reineke and Della Pfeiffer. A reading, "Trade and Travel in the Roman Empire" by Irene Ochs was followed by a recitation by Marian Reineke. The next number was "A Description of Rome," by Howard Vogel. Lastly a piano solo was rendered by Alice Meile.

—But I Done Know How to Be a Moid!—

PUBLIC SPEAKING CLUB.

On March 18, the Public Speaking Club held a meeting in Miss Halverson's room. After a very lively business session, an interesting program was given. Marion Reineke read a humorous selection. "The History of St. Patrick's Day" by Joseph Haugen followed this. The club members learned many new things from this talk. This was followed by a series of extemporaneous speeches. Frances Schiefert then told them about her last summer's vacation. An open discussion concluded the program.

—But How Does One Buttle?—

D. O. T.

On Monday, March 17, the D. O. T. held their semi-monthly meeting. First on the program was a musical number, rendered by Florence Hartl and Charlotte Bockus. Hildegard Hein followed this with some peppy jokes. Following this was a topic on Current Events given by Catherine Poynter and Nona Dorn. Several extemporaneous speeches, given by Esther Pufahl, Hilda Steinmetz, Marian Reineke, Verna Dahl, Della Pfeiffer and Miss Weiser closed the program. The meeting adjourned after a critic's report by Miss Weiser.

CLASS NOTES

FRESHMAN NOTES.

The St. Patrick's Day dance was well attended by Freshmen who believe in class representation.

The Freshmen are having high-pitched battles like those in Helvitas excepting that they are on squared paper.

An intelligence test was recently given in Algebra class to the Freshmen members. Now we know how brilliant (?) we are.

Some very interesting original stories have been given recently in English I classes. The Freshies are trying to show that they have originality.

SOPHOMORE NOTES.

Helen Hintz visited with her parents at Courtland, Sunday.

Evelyn Juedes and Amanda Krahmer spent Sunday visiting with friends at Courtland.

Alice Meile attended the New-Ulm North High Debate and also visited with her sister, Helen, Saturday.

Hazel Heim arranged a St. Patrick's party at her home near New Ulm. Everybody present enjoyed a wonderful time.

—Yes, milady—

JUNIOR CLASS NOTES.

The Juniors beat the Seniors in an "informal" basketball game. The score was 22 to 29.

Cora, Joce and Cathy have had their hair shingled. A Freshie's remark, "What kind of shingles did they use?"

Marguerite Pfaender and Marion Reineke felt like celebrating a homecoming when Miss Ludwig granted them permission of resuming their own seats in the sixth period assembly.

The dance, given Monday evening, was well attended by the Juniors. It seemed to be more like a Junior than a Senior dance, because so many Seniors were at Madelia attending "Come out of the Kitchen."

HERETICS' COLUMN.

"The Science of Invention." How often you have seen that very phrase; why, there's actually a magazine by that name, but have you ever applied it to school life in particular? It is never too late to begin so let's imagine that we're in the Chemistry class. You and I have back seats and are rather bashful. Mr. Church is just beginning the lesson. "What is red pigment?" This is directed at some unfortunate individual and there is a short troubled silence, a frown, and suddenly there is a bright look, a scarcely perceptible smile,—then, "rouge". A tittering snicker passes around the class, "Next?" That was the science of invention applied. In the brain of that student a wonderful invention took place. When the question was asked the student's mind was a perfect blank and swiftly tiny convolutions appeared which gradually increased in size and number, and an answer was given which was truly an invention. Let this be to you, my young friend, a warning sure and true,—and never, never go to class unless you know all the details and leave out the invention.

—Randy Weeks, You Go Home!—

ANSWER TO A CRANK.

A crank thinks he's awful cute writing about the girls going back to the cow stage—but gee! If only the boys were returning to such an innocent stage and were as modest and unassuming as old Brindle. Huh! If I had a head like A Crank with as much vacuous space in it, I wouldn't try to put it over on the girls. You really can't do it, you know—they're too busy minding their own business. That's where the shoe pinches, see? The boys spend so much time minding other people's business! That's what ended Old Kink Tut's days at the early age of two thousand seven hundred twenty-one; he was so busy watching his neighbor across the street trying to give her Pomeranian poodle a bath that he didn't see the banana peel on the side walk. He slipped, of course, and the eighth day of the same week he died. Well, that's neither here nor there, but anyway, next time A Crank gets fresh I'll tell him a thing or two. He says a lot but it doesn't mean anything.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Roy Pfeiffer, class of '23, is at present working in the Penney store.

Roy Gebhard, Class of '23, has a position with one of our local milling concerns.

"Bems" Amann, Class of '22, is working in the Consumers' store, as salesman.

Irma Peterson, Class of '23, visited friends in New Ulm on Monday, March 17th.

Albert Lehmann, class of '22, is engaged as architect by the Plagens Contracting Co.

Lorna Schleuder, Frieda Olstad and Elizabeth Hintz are also home for their spring vacation.

Beatrice Gaag, Class of '22, who is studying nursing in the General hospital in Minneapolis, is recovering from a recent illness.

Elmer Lippmann, '22, Elmer Rieke, '22, and David Williams, '23, are coming home from the University of Minnesota for a short vacation.

Doris Haugen, '23, is attending Mankato Teachers' college. It is with great delight that we await the coming of Doris' teaching career.

Joe Schueller and "Erbs" Julius, our old basketball stars, are using some of their energy in making bathtubs in a Wisconsin bathtub factory.

—Is That the Cook?—

SPRING ATHLETICS.

The basketball season is past and, what is more, spring has arrived and rumors of the fateful examinations are in the air. Let us throw ourselves into our studies with a zeal and zest that will bring up our averages and prepare us for examinations. Some may say that since the basketball season is over what should they work for? If to try to be efficient in your school work is not a great enough incentive, there is still another which the boys especially will rejoice in. We are to have a baseball team this spring and the rules and regulations concerning the eligibility of the players will be the same as in other athletics. In addition to baseball there will be tennis and track. Would it not be more pleasant to study with a vim and energy now, than to postpone our reviewing for the lovely crowded days to come?

—Patronize Our Advertisers—

LOCALS.

Irma Steinberg visited with friends in Mankato Sunday.

Several of the girls are wearing new pins. They have the initials B. B. inscribed on them and they're very pretty. Question, what does B. B. stand for?

Just imagine, only eleven students down at the depot Friday noon when our star debaters left for Minneapolis. And these students came back, after Mr. Stewart said that they could be excused for the afternoon!

The seventh period Economics certainly is an interesting class. For example, just now they are discussing "what is puppy love?" Pat is pretty well versed and gives a wonderful description of emotions involved.

Hertha Marks and Sylvia Eyrich have disposed of their long tresses and joined the list of the "bobbed haired." I imagine they were thinking of the hot weather and then too of Dr. Lohead's advice about bobbed hair being sanitary.

The English IV, eighth period class were gladdened by the reappearance of Armin Scheman, who had been absent for some time. The class had been exceedingly "dry" during his absence for Armin Scheman is noted for his "brilliant recitations."

"The Echo," Fairmont, Minn.—Your "Special Junior Edition" is interesting. The originality of the Juniors is shown in their short stories, etc.

Pipestone won District Championship against St. James with a score of 20 to 14. A beautiful trophy was awarded the captain of the team, while the players, coach, and athletic director received gold medals.

years; the same number as Mr. Gloor, Miss Steinhauser and Mr. Hein. These four are the old standbys and we hope they will remain so. Miss Treadwell who is admired and respected by all and whose jovial characteristics are the admiration of many and the possession of few, can readily be serious, especially in her assemblies. We find that if she had resigned for next year there would not be enough Latin pupils to have a Cicero class.

Miss Steinhauser, who is one of the old standbys, has given this school the greatest joy by choosing to remain. We couldn't find a better German teacher and as for Biology, she had to have an extra class this year because she has made it so interesting.

Mr. Hein, who has been very faithful, and whose services will probably be needed even more next year on account of the vacancy left by Mr. Church, has also consented to stay. He has made many good impressions on his pupils for there are more straight backs here than in other cities, due to his training. Not only has he been an old standby of this school but also taught physical training in Turner hall for several years.

Miss Lohren, that wise and ambitious teacher who makes you think of Maria Sanford, has also consented to give her services to our high school for another term. The Sophomores realize how lucky they are in having had her for two years and hope that she will teach Junior and Senior English since Miss Tripp is really going.

Mr. Dirks, that jolly fellow who is almost as lively as Miss Tripp, in spite of their difference in size, has decided to remain with us. We simply could not get along without him; the basket ball girls and the manual training boys would have a hard time, but the orchestra would be a complete failure.

Miss Fritsche, that jolly yet dignified teacher, who is so beloved by her girls (the basket ball girls), has also given us her consent to stay for another season till her girls learn what they can't eat before games, and as she told them this year not to eat "pie-ala-mud." Her leaving, would mean the ruin of the team.

When Miss Schmidt left last year there were long faces and sad looks for everyone believed that they could never find an equal to her, but, here we have that equal, Miss Weiser. She is like Miss Schmidt as she is never angry and loved by all.

Miss Ludwig! Hah! Hah! She takes the cake! If there was ever a teacher that everyone enjoyed, she's the one. What do you say, "Hil?" Her unfaltering industry and smiling face had her pupils over the hard places even though she is always joy.

Contestants ranking second and third will receive engraved Honorable Mention Certificates.

This is the second year of commercial contests in Minnesota, though many other states have given much attention to this work for several years.
