EIGHT TEACHERS WILL BE WITH US NEXT YEAR

How thankful we are some of our teachers are to return next year! For a while it seemed that almost the entire force would go back on us, but now we find that eight of them will be with us next fall again; just think—eight of them! You never realized there were so many, did you?

Mr. Stewart is coming back! Hurrah for public speaking! So, if the debaters next year fail, it will not be for lack of a competent teacher. Our principal is not the so-called "ideal" (according to the notions of high school pupils), as portrayed by Carl Thies, nor is he the savage watch-dog kind. He's just the "happy medium," the best sort of a principal.

The orchestra without Mr. Dirks? Impossible! That's it, and what would the manual training boys do without him? That remains an unanswered question, for they won't have to do without him, but, believe me, they're glad of it.

"Miss Treadwell, if you don't teach Latin next year, I won't take Vergil," is a statement which many Latin II. students have made. Well, Miss Treadwell, stay long enough to put us all through Latin and you will be our true friend for life. No one else would appreciate the funny translations.

Miss Steinhauser is going to give us another year of happy smiles and able teaching of German and biology. We are sure her classes will be as large as ever, for they do not lack popularity by any means; in fact, they are better liked than a great many studies.

"Stand up straight!" When does this command issue from your brain? Naturally, when you meet Mr. Hein. Some people ought to meet him very often, and it is fortunate that they will be able to do so for another year.

Perhaps we do not see as much of Miss Koch as of the other teachers, but the articles in recent issues of the Graphos will show you what kind of work the Normal students are doing under her guidance; Normal Training is certainly a wise addition to school systems. The Seniors who intend to take up this line of work next year will be delighted to know that she plans on returning.

Miss Muehlbach and Miss Benson, Commercial teachers, we are rejoicing that you have decided to remain with us. We yearn to know you better than we do now, for one year is scarcely enough time for pupils and teachers to become sufficiently acquainted. Miss Muehlbach, let's see you play some more basket ball, and don't forget the banking business, Miss Benson.

Mrs. Olsen, our capable music instructor, will direct the Glee clubs and assembly singing for nine more months. Won't that be grand?

SUPT. ARNOLD GLOOR

SUPT. GLOOR TO TAKE CHARGE OF CROOKSTON SCHOOLS.

Supt. Gloor, who was successor to Mr. H. C. Hess as superintendent of the New Ulm schools, has resigned his position to take up the same duties in Crookston, Minnesota. Mr. Gloor has spent five years here and we certainly appreciate what he has done for us. As superintendent he has been very efficient. He is very broadminded and has shown great interest in all school activities whether they be music, debate or athletics. He has always helped to put all school affairs through successfully. Hasn't he often consented to speak in the assembly for our Friday programs just to make the programs more interesting, even when he probably had loads of work to do.

Considers Crookston an Advancement.

Mr. Gloor considers the position at Crookston an advancement over the one he now holds for the school system is much larger than the one here. The Crookston high school is about twice as large as ours. The Crookston position is not only an advancement professionally, but also in salary, as Crookston offers a much larger one. We are all very sorry to have

NEW ULM WINNER IN COMMERCIAL CONTEST.

On Saturday, April the 18th, Sleepy Eye high school was the scene of the Third Annual District Contest in Shorthand, Typewriting I., and Typewriting II. Six schools had two contestants entered in each of the three contests.

The first contest was in beginning typewriting. Hazel Erickson and Helen Sans represented New Ulm. The next contest was in advanced typewriting in which Luella Loesch and Ione Schroeder took part. The last contest was in shorthand, Luella Loesch and Florence Hartl representing New Ulm. The papers were then given to the judges, composed of the different teachers and coaches representing the competing schools.

The results of the contests were as follows:

Beginning Typewriting.

1. Redwood Falls—rate 47.7, errors 17.
2. Marshall—rate 43.6, errors 11.
3. Redwood Falls—rate 30.7, errors 32.

Advanced Typewriting.

1. Marshall—rate 59.3, errors 24.
2. New Ulm—Luella Loesch, rate 52.9, errors 17.
3. Springfield—rate 48.8, errors 15.

MANY OF FACULTY ARE SEEKING NEW POSITIONS

Why must we lose those who can do their duties so exceptionally well? It seems as though this is invariably true, for haven't half of our teachers decided to leave? How will we ever become accustomed to so many new teachers?

Is Miss Fritsche going away? O Dear! Yes! What will the basket ball girls and the Sophomore class do without her?

O Miss Reager! Why must you leave so soon? Why couldn't you stay just nine short months longer and put the class of '26 through high school? With you gone, it looks as though there won't be any cooking class next year.

Ah! Faithful Miss Lohren—she has always been a symbol of effort, followed by success to her pupils. Such a woman as she, is the kind that will, in the future, make a name for herself.

What does Mrs. Stewart make you think of? More. More what? More lessons from her—and jokes. Although she will no longer be a teacher in this school, yet we hope to see her about the school often next year.

Plucky little Miss Ferguson—she is still suffering from that basket ball game. We shall never forget the star guard on the faculty team—nor the strict chemistry teacher.

Miss Ludwig—well, well. She certainly did enjoy inviting some of her pupils down to visit her in her office after school. But then, the pupils didn't mind—they even had visitors and refreshments.

Mr. Hegstrom is following in the footsteps of his ideal, Alexander the Great—he is setting out next year "seeking more worlds to conquer."

Miss Weiser has so enjoyed doctoring library books that she has decided to annex a doctor. Therefore she is probably lost to the teaching profession forever.

LATIN CLUB.

The members of the Latin club held a meeting Tuesday evening. They decided to have a picnic May 15, at Dog's hill. Another meeting in regard to the lunch, will be called. Alpha Backer gave a talk on "The Construction of Roman Roads." Margaret Schmid then gave a talk on the "Apean Way." The next number was a talk by Helen Hage on "Felis." Della Inhofer played a piano solo, which was enjoyed by all. The program was rather short for two members, who had parts, were not present.

Mr. and Mrs. Hegstrom and family accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dirks and family to the Cities during the Easter vacation. Sh-h! Don't say anything but a little birdie told us their car got stalled on the way.

Ione Schroeder and Helen Sans visited a country school the Monday before school opened. From what we have heard high school hasn't accomplished much in the line of discipline for Helen.

OUR DEPARTING FRIENDS.

As the school year draws to a close and we feel inspired to come back and continue our education, our thoughts are drawn to our departing friends, the Seniors.

For several years we have known the class of '25 and were often envious of their achievements. The successes of the present graduating class in the different lines of endeavor has continually demonstrated its talents and capable members. It has clearly shown that in forensics it was superior to almost all the former classes. The athletic talent furnished our high with stalwart warriors of the gridiron and supplied our coaches with basket ball stars.

In our short stay in this institution we have learned to understand and admire them not only for their achievements, but also for their numerous admirable qualities. We regret that they could not stay longer, but are happy to know that they have passed the first few milestones of their lives successfully. We are confident that each member will make good and develop into leaders in this commonwealth. Wherever you may be, we extend to you a helping hand and wish to congratulate you, our departing friends, for the careers you have enjoyed. May you continue to go forward and carry the fame of our old high to the sky.

HUMOR.

Cullie: "So he really said he thought me very witty?"
Can: "Not exactly. He said he had to laugh every time he saw you."

CLASS NOTES

SENIOR NOTES.

The show sponsored by the Annual Staff proved a great success. They wish to thank the student body for their fine co-operation, as well as Mr. Melzer for allowing them to have such a good show. Everybody who saw "Dorothy Vernon of Hadden Hall" enjoyed it and we are pleased to say that a neat sum of money was obtained to carry the Annual through successfully.

Eight Seniors have handed in their names to enroll in next year's Normal Training Department. Those filling the requirements will be chosen.

JUNIOR NOTES.

Ruth M. and Viola J. hiked out seven miles to Anna Zeise's home and spent a day there. They spent the week-end at Sleepy Eye.

Several of the Junior boys are practicing baseball, and they expect to win the inter-class championship.

William R. and Herbert M. went swimming on Good Friday, April 10. How was the water boys, fresh?

Another "Bobby" has been added to the Junior list, Cecilia Z.

Orval F. made a trip to Minneapolis to visit with friends.

SOPHOMORE NOTES.

Recently members of the Sophomore English classes wrote histories of the class of '27. The best ones were written by Louise Hamann, Ruth Dirks, Helen Hage, Loraine Spaeth, Frank Heck and Roger Schmid. The histories showed much originality and cleverness, especially that of Frank Heck, which was written in poetic form.

The Sophomore English classes are entering a letter writing contest sponsored by the Minneapolis Journal. The purpose of this contest is the advertising of Minnesota.

FRESHMEN NOTES.

James Beccher and Joseph Vogel went to the Cities with the Juniors and Seniors. James also went down later in the week.

Most of the Freshies (I think) had an exceptionally good time during the Easter vacation.

NORMAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT.

According to word received from the Department of Education, enrollment cards for Normal Training work for 1925-26 are due to arrive early next week. Students wishing to take teacher training here next year should make up their minds immediately to sign up as all cards have to be passed on by the State Inspector of Training Departments.

Departments will be designated in the order in which their enrollment is filled. Because of this fact, get busy. Make up your mind now; next summer may be too late! Reports say many new schools are on the waiting list, all anxious of the opportunity to offer their students a year of college training at home. It is generally conceded that High School Normal Training is the most practical offered in our state.

Teacher: "Why is a giraffe's neck so long?"

Pupil: "Because its head is such a long way from its body."

MR. BOND PRESENTS LEGION TROPHIES.

Last Friday we had a very pleasing assembly. Mr. Bond, a representative of the Ben J. Seifert Post, No. 132, of the American Legion, presented the two cups, which that association has endowed upon the New Ulm High School. Before performing this office he gave us a brief talk on the American Legion, telling us a little story, which illustrates its purpose.

Mr. Bond also enumerated the conditions by which a boy or girl may gain the honor of having his name engraved on these cups. There are three things which must be considered: First, scholarship, 20%; second, school activities, 40%; third, general good citizenship, 40%. The Legion is neither placing scholarship at a higher rank than it deserves, nor is it giving it too little credit, for if the rate of scholarship were higher, only the bookworms would be given a chance at the cup. The speaker said that he wished the Legion would give a prize for the best paper on what "good citizenship" means, for this term has a very wide scope.

One cup is to have the names of the boys on it, and the other the names of the girls, and gold pins will be given to those winning the honor. After Mr. Bond had presented the cups, Mr. Stewart accepted in behalf of the school, and he stated that he thought these cups the most suitable gift the Legion could have made.

Following these speeches the assembly sang two patriotic songs, and then Mrs. Olsen and her sister, Miss Elsie Marti, rendered two beautiful vocal solos, and were met with such approval that they were forced to sing an encore. We hope these two vocalists will sing for us again, for we certainly appreciate it. The Girls Glee club sang two numbers, and we closed with a school song by the assembly.

Steamboat Captain (who had fallen overboard): "Don't stand there like a dumbbell. Give a yell, can't you?"

Milton Chambaré (on his way home from a college): "Certainly sir. Rah, rah, rah, rah; rah, rah, rah; rah, rah, rah, Captain."

N. U. GIRLS ATTEND STATE CLUB SHORT COURSE.

We are glad to hear that the New Ulm girls, who attended the fifteenth annual Club Short Course at the University Farm, had a splendid time. They think it well worth their time spent there.

The girls had to attend classes from 7:30 to 11:30 each forenoon. In these classes many useful and interesting hints in home economics and other things were taught. Different breadmaking teams from the state gave interesting demonstrations.

Of course the boys had a different line of work. Their work centered mainly around agriculture. The work they were taught also proved to be very useful and interesting.

Pleasure trips throughout the cities were enjoyed by all. These trips were made in the afternoons. Trips were taken to Minnehaha Park, the Old Soldiers Home, the New Ford factory, Dayton's store, the capitol, the fish hatchery, and to Stillwater. It seems that the trips to Dayton's were unusually well attended, because ice-cream and cake were served to all club members. Some of the members were very fortunate in having the Governor speak to them, while they were visiting the capitol. The Stillwater trip was very burdensome. A two-hour trip on the street car was necessary both ways and the street cars were always crowded, but, nevertheless, the members enjoyed going through the penitentiary. One thousand one hundred seven prisoners are enrolled.

A banquet was held one evening in honor of the boys and girls attending the Short Course. Several interesting toasts and vocal numbers were given.

All of the members that were present at the Short Course feel thankful to Mr. Erickson, the State Club leader, Mrs. Meybohn, Miss Slocum, and the many others who showed everyone a good time.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Hildegard Hein of last year's class, our former rooster queen, who is attending a Physical Training Normal school at Indianapolis, Ind., spent her Easter vacation at Akron, Ohio, visiting relatives.

Gertrude Esser entertained a party of friends at her home several weeks ago to announce the engagement of Blanche Huelskamp of the class of 1923, to W. J. Kral, class of 1917.

Rose Epple, who is teaching at Milroy, spent Easter at her home here. Mildred, who is attending Mankato Teachers' College, also spent Easter here.

Willard Price, class of '24, is attending school in a Biblical Institute at Chicago, Illinois. He is making great use of his beautiful voice.

Several students of St. Thomas spent their Easter vacation in New Ulm. They are John Graff, "Wally" and "Chief" Franta.

Ellen Hummel of the class of 1919, who is attending school at Staples, Minnesota, spent her Easter vacation at her home here.

Sylvester Wellmann, who is attending South Dakota State College at Brookings, spent Easter here.

Howard Vogel, who has been home because of illness, returned to the "U" last week.

Come on every one! Show the stuff that's in you and finish up this year's work with a snap and a bang.

FOURTEEN CIVICS STUDENTS WENT TO STATE CAPITOL.

Wednesday morning at 4:00 I awoke to the glorious tune of Baby Ben! Up and at 'em—like fun I was. I was altogether too sleepy to be peppy. Well, after stumbling along to the depot and cashing out for a ticket, which meant no ice cream for a week, the train (like the "slow one through" Georgia) chugged to the Cities. We arrived there and immediately boarded a St. Paul car and journeyed the long trail to the "Kapitol." Many were broke by the second and unexpected fare, when crossing the Minneapolis-St. Paul equator. We then saw the gilded statue on the capitol. James Beecher in real earnest asked Mr. Hein if they were real solid gold. (James found a doctor across the street.) We looked the old shack over, with its marble and all that. Some of the girls ate to quench their great hunger. Others with Jim and Cullie Thies held up the game by searching for souvenir post cards. Finally we hit the Supreme Court with a bang and viewed the Senate. Not much action was present. Finally, after much searching, we found the House in session. The room is only about twenty-five (without exaggeration) times as big as our assembly. Even then it was hard to find. The House was very funny, very instructive and very interesting, because they got so excited. After this we drop the curtain. It is rumored that Jim and Heine saw Carrie Finnell, the Shimmie Queen, at the Gayety, but this is untrue, for James and Henry were down to the big sticks again on Saturday and visited a theatre at this time and not on a peaceful high school trip on Wednesday.

LOCALS.

The Senior Exams will be held on May 13, 14 and 15. No wonder, the Seniors look gloomy.

The Home Nursing Class visited the hospital a few days before vacation to watch various demonstrations.

The Home Economics Club had a wiener roast before vacation. Judging from the reports everyone must have had a good time.

We wonder what's the matter with the Seniors—they all look so gloomy! Why don't you know? They're going to graduate on the 29th of May. Isn't that reason enough to be sad?

The students who have visited the library lately certainly must have noticed the new selections which have been donated to the library by Mrs. H. L. Beecher and the Daughters of American Revolution.

We take this opportunity of thanking Mrs. Beecher and the D. A. R. for their generous donation.

SUPT. GLOOR TO TAKE CHARGE OF CROOKSTON SCHOOLS.

Supt. Gloor leave, but loss is someone else's gain. As Supt. Gloor received his Master of Arts degree at Columbia University this summer, we expect great things from him and we feel confident that he will be at the head of one of Minnesota's largest schools before many years have passed.

The faculty and student body join in wishing Mr. Gloor every success and happiness. He has been a true and loyal friend to all of us.

N. U. H. S. Wins Dist. Championship.

This gives New Ulm the district championship, as they received the most number of points. No other school received one first and two second places.

Too much credit cannot be given Miss Muehlbach, our instructor and coach. Due to her unceasing efforts Luella and Florence were able to do what they did. Florence and Luella now have the opportunity of taking part in the State contest, to be held in two weeks in Minneapolis. Judging from the results of the district contest, we do not hesitate in looking for higher laurels at the State contest.

During the time that it took to correct the papers, the students of the New Ulm high school, who took part in the contests, went for automobile rides to view the city. The New Ulm contestants left Sleepy Eye with a very happy feeling as to the results of the contest and the reception given by the Sleepy Eye school.
