SENIORS WIN TROPHY

HENRY SOMSEN AND SYLVIA EYRICH FIRST.

The annual Siegel Trophy Contest was held January 29 at the high school auditorium. The winners in the girls' contest were, Sylvia Eyrich, a Junior; Virginia Alwin, a Freshman, and Edna Larson, a Senior, receiving first, second, and third places, respectively. In the boys' contest Henry Somsen, a Senior, won first place; Joseph Vogel, a Sophomore, received second, and Jack Schoch, also a Sophomore, took third place.

The Seniors received the cup because they had the greatest number of points.

Henry Somsen and Sylvia Eyrich will represent New Ulm at the sub-district contest to be held at Redwood Falls, February 23.

The judges for this contest were, Mrs. C. G. Reim, Prof. Carl Schwepp, and Mr. F. W. Johnson.

ORCHESTRA CAPES NEAR COMPLETION.

GLEE CLUB CHOOSES COSTUME.

The capes which the Home Economics girls have been making for the orchestra will soon be finished, and they will be worn at the concert next week. Our "famous musicians" will certainly meet with admiration from all who see them in their new attire, for the capes are beautiful. Picture for yourself, "creations" of purple hue, with white linings and symbols against the background of our newly-decorated stage, and you will surely recognize the advantage of such costumes.

White Dresses Chosen.

The Girls' Glee club has decided upon white as the color of their official outfit. The dresses are to be of English broadcloth, and of a plain pattern. Purple ties to match the orchestra capes will be worn with these costumes. A good appearance will greatly add to the success of the concert. Let's all turn out if only from curiosity! You will surely appreciate the fact that you went, after it is over.

FRESHMEN DEFEAT SOPHOMORES.

DEBATE RESULTS REPEATED IN B. B.

This game proved to be exciting because the freshies certainly showed who's who and put one over on the Sophomores. If they keep up like this they will be "champion players" in the future; no doubt this defeat came rather as a surprise to the Sophomores as they also have a strong team.

Marcella Haenze did the scoring for the Sophomores while Margaret Tauer and Charlotte Miller scored for the Freshmen. In the first half, Marcella netted one basket and so did Margaret and Charlotte. In the second half the Freshmen outplayed their opponents. Charlotte netted two baskets, while Marcella made one field goal. Both sides showed fighting spirit and in all, the game was a

REDWOOD FALLS' INITIAL DEFEAT.

The strong Redwood team which has won seven consecutive games, one of which was against Sleepy Eye, the score being 35 to 49, met defeat at the hands of our able team by a final count of 27 to 21. It was one of the fastest and finest games New Ulm played this year. Redwood never took the lead throughout the game, but in the second half they out-scored us by four points.

The first half showed our ability as an all around basket ball team. Our defense was almost perfect, Redwood Falls only getting one basket, while our offensive work gave us a lead of ten points as the half ended 12 to 2.

Redwood Falls re-entered the game in the second half with mighty determination and fight, and started right in making baskets. Each team continued to make baskets and in this way New Ulm always had about the same lead. The defense of both teams seemed unable to stop the ever increasing onrush of the offenses.

Just before the game ended Coach Stover sent in new men. Schoch went in for Bentzin, but for hard luck, he Hildegard Amann Is Chosen President.

After the president called the meeting to order the members answered roll by a quotation from Robert Burns. According to the Surprise Stunt that Minnie, Polly, Katzy, and Cora put on, they certainly know what to do when they are in a pinch. After this act the play "Aunt Mathilda's Birthday Party" was given. The following members were coached by Hazel Heim:

This was followed by a parliamentary drill on "Resolved, that chut service be established between High school and the Candy Kitchen." The decision was in favor of this and some of the girls hope that it will be considered.

After the critic's report by Miss Ludwig, election of officers took place. Hildegard Amann was elected president, Helen Hintz, vice president, Margaret Eichten, secretary-treasurer and Cora Meidl, sergeant-at-arms.

Several committees have been appointed to inquire about various things. Sylvia Eyrich, Margaret Eichten, and Oradell Wagner were chosen for the ring committee. There is another committee for a sleigh-ride party and also a song committee. The latter are to choose a song, which the members of the society will compose, as a song for the society.

SECOND TEAM LOSES 7 TO 10.

The New Ulm Second team was defeated by the Sleepy Eye Second in a rough and tumble fight. The boys still had cold feet from the trip to Sleepy Eye. This, and the fact that his was their first game proved to be big factors in their losing the game.

The first half was very fast and close, but Sleepy Eye had much bigger men than we did. In the second half, Coach Stover put in a few of the larger and better, which helped to make the score very close and the game was exciting to the last minute. The score was 7 to 10.

First Team Loses.

The players were at a great disadvantage, the floor being just opposite of our home floor, which is always slippery, nor was the lighting of the best.

Sleepy Eye started the game in an unusual way. For their offense, Sleepy Eye would stall until they found an opening to work the ball down the floor. The first quarter was very close and at one time we were four points ahead.

During the second quarter Sleepy Eye slowly got the lead and no mat-

FRIDAY'S ASSEMBLY A SURPRISE.

Musical Program Enjoyed by All.

We who were in the assembly the eighth period saw four men carrying some article, which seemed quiet heavy. When they placed it upon the stage and removed the wrapping we beheld a piece of furniture, we thought to be a phonograph. The radio bugs pronounced it a radio. All this time Mr. Hackbarth was putting the machine in working order.

The bell rang and in trooped the other pupils. When all were quiet, Mr. Dirks passed out the words of a new song. He then related the story of how he first heard the song. After this, the subject of much discussion, which turned out to be an electric phonograph and which could be made to play loud or soft as a person desires, delighted us with many selections. Some were classical and some modern Charleston music. Last of all we had a few good yells led by Heine, Fat, and Joe. Then there was more music for those who wished to remain.

The New Ulm High school sincerely thanks the Buenger Furniture Company for their kindness.

Last Thursday the girls taking Home Economics II, began serving meals at noon for some of the teachers. We haven't heard of any real illness yet.

Mr. R. J. Stewart was up to see some of the inter-class basket ball games last week.

Incidentally some of our so-called rooters would be more at home at a certain institution in Faribault, namely, "The Deaf and Dumb Institute."

Servant: "The doctor is here, sir."
Highbrow: "I can't see him. Tell him I'm sick."

GIRLS LOSE TO TRINITY HIGH.

Exciting Game Ends 14-11.

One of the peppiest and fastest games for the girls this season, was their clash with the Trinity High team. It was an exciting game and very rough. The game was played in the Armory, Friday, January 22. Our girls plunged into the game with all the pep they had and put up a hard fight as did their opponents. On the first half our girls scored more points than the opposing team. "Polly" netted three baskets and Catherine Schaefer and M. Forster each made one field goal. This ended the first half, with both teams showing determination to win.

In the second half, the Trinity High team scored more points. C. Schaefer made three field goals and also caged two free throws; M. Forster also made one field goal. Lorraine Spaeth netted one field goal and one free throw and "Polly" followed this up with another field goal but it was not enough to win the game. The score at end of second half was 14-11. Although our girls lost, they should be complimented for their clean playing and splendid team work that they showed throughout the game.

A TRIBUTE TO LINCOLN.

Abraham Lincoln—what an enormous title to write upon. Authors have written book upon book on this one man, and here am I endeavoring to do him justice in a few lines and this limited space.

When a child his mother was continually a source of inspiration and help to him. She invariably told him, "Abe, be something," and something he was. He traveled the humblest path, and the better part of his life consisted of friendships.

At twenty-two he was forced to shift for himself, but he made use of his every opportunity for learning. He was a self-made man, and he was never ashamed of it.

One morning in 1863, he was sitting in a train deep in thought. And oh—the character written in that face. Sympathy, love, patience, endurance, and intelligence were fairly oozing out of every line. He was meditating about the morrow, for he, President Lincoln, was to speak, and the people would expect great things from him. Finally he took a piece of brown paper and he began to write. He wanted to reach the hearts of the people by this address.

The next day, before a throng of noisy people, Lincoln arose. Silence reigned immediately, and he began, "Fourscore and seven years ago." When he had finished, awkwardly he took his seat, and not a hand was raised in applause. His heart gave one bound, for just as he had feared he was a failure—an absolute failure.

This thought is now verified. We all know that this Gettysburg address has come down through history as one of the most remarkable—if not the most remarkable oration ever written.

Lincoln, I think, is the greatest patriot in American History. He faced a crisis unlike any president has ever faced, and though shunning bloodshed, he fought his fight valiantly.

CLASS NOTES

FRESHMEN FOLLY.

Miss Treadwell reports that the Freshman taste for literature seems to run in the "Buffalo Bill" stories.

The Freshman girls started sewing last Monday. Now when they see cooking utensils or smell food cooking, they feel homesick.

We're very proud of both our basket ball teams. Some day they'll be on the New Ulm High school team. Just watch and see.

JUNIOR JOYS.

Here's one on Johnnie Esser: Johnnie came down to breakfast one morning looking troubled.

"What's the matter, Johnnie?" asked Katsy.

"Oh, I found a feather in my bed last night and I'm afraid I'm going to have the chicken pox."

If anyone wishes to take "Charleston" lessons, apply to Minnie. She's even going to teach some of the faculty so you see she's an expert all right.

Freshies and Sophs, wait until you are Juniors! You may head the 1'st with your Honor Roll, but we'll see yours when you become Juniors. The Seniors know, too, that the Junior year is a hard one.

Freshies, "don't give up the ship." You'll get there sometime. There are three more years, in the course of which you can make good in B. B. The Juniors wish to compliment you on your good playing and splendid teamwork.

"THE GREAT TRIAL."

(Essay by Rager Bacan.)

Either way, young, harrassed Albert knew that he had to fight the battle. This did not worry him for he was brave. But, O Lord, she must know. Yes, she must find out what he knew and he must see how she received the news before he would have the power to fight. But, . . . the words, yes the words. How could he express it. He was in mortal anguish. Tomorrow he had to fight and he must first complete this deadly task.

Finally an inspiration struck him. He wrote with passion and joy. Then his writing was done. Whether it would be well received was another great question. Albert, with heart pounding went to her, the paper in his trembling hand. He controlled himself as he looked into her eyes. No sign of forgiveness came from those big brown eyes. It was an awful moment. With all his courage, Albert said, "Please look at it now."

Patiently he waited for the verdict. Albert strode from the room with a new heart and a neat chemistry paper graded A. The teacher had corrected it for him at his request immediately so that he would know whether he would be eligible to play in the great game with Carvard on Pasteur field on the morrow.

EXCHANGES.

"The Orange and Black," Gilbert, Minn. Your paper may be small, but it is very interesting. We were very glad to receive it.

"The Otaknam," Mankato, Minn. Your paper is very well edited. The "Cheshire Cat" is especially amusing.

"The Al-Hi-Nuz," Alexandria, Minn. Your front page topics certainly arrest attention. The "Smart Alex" shows originality.

"The Echo," Fairmont, Minn. Your paper shows that you have great literary ability among the members of the Echo staff.

"Star of the North," Virginia, Minn. Your paper certainly is worthy of its name. We welcome your paper.

"The Ybnac," Canby, Minn. Your paper is well liked by the "Graphos." We wish the participants in the Junior High School Annual Program, the best success.

"The Saint's Reporter," St. James, Minn. The news in your paper is very interesting, but wouldn't a few jokes make it better?

"The Winnewissa Ripples," Pipestone, Minn. Yours is one of the best papers we receive. Your humor is very good.

"Do you think he will miss me?" sarg the entertainer in a cracked voice.

"If he does he ought never to be trusted with a gun again," shouted one of the irate audience.

FRESHMEN DEFEATED IN TWO GAMES.

The Juniors and the Sophomores proved too strong for the Freshmen, who have now lost two games and thereby have no chance to win inter-class championship honors.

The Freshmen came the closest to victory in their game with the Juniors. The Juniors were sure of victory and started using their subs, and the Freshmen were in the lead when the first team of the Juniors entered the game; even then the Juniors could not over-power the Freshmen. But just before the game ended the Juniors toppled in several baskets and won the game by the close score of 9 to 13.

The Freshmen are to be complimented for their fighting spirit and real sportsmanship, but true to form the upper classmen won. The Freshmen will have to lay their splendid playing to their ever increasing teamwork.

The Freshmen met their third defeat at the hands of their rival Sophomore in a game that resembled football. The Freshmen played the game with the determination to do their best, and they did. This game was the best they played. They were greatly hindered by the rough treatment of their opponents. They were playing an up-hill game every minute, while they endeavored to redeem themselves.

The game was at all times a hot contest. The strong five-man defense of both teams in the first half did much to make it an exciting game, but toward the end the Freshmen began to slip and the Sophomores rushed ahead and ended the game victorious, by a score of 27 to 8.

The teams consisted of the same players as in the preceding games.

FAITHLESS WRETCH.

The man alighted from the big powerful red car. He strode to the kitchen door of the little suburb cottage. As he reached the threshold a sweet voice said from the open door. Oh, you old dear, it was so nice of you to come. My husband has left for Chicago on his sales trip. Come right in. And what are you going to give me now.

At this point complications involve as the husband who has missed his train is seen peering behind a curtain.

The big powerful man in the great coat replied. Ah, here I have some cherries for..... Come here. Oh, that's fine, I really didn't expect that much from you, said the lonely wife of the salesman.

Here the husband hides his face as he visions the unfaithful wife. A silence ensues during which the husband pictures the administration of cherries.

O give me the rest you promised me when I telephoned. You dear old thing, you said you'd do anything for me, said the wretched creature.

Silence. Husband now unconscious. "O, says the big man, I entirely forgot that appointment I have."

"Dear me, how I wish you could have stayed longer, but goodness, I'm so glad you came. I needed this so much. My husband never does things like this for me," said the sweet little housewife.

"Well," says the big man, "good-night."

"Thank you so much for bringing that meat tonight so late, Mr. Brown, and also for getting those cherries at the grocery. You butchers in Springfield are so accommodating. In Peoria, where we lived, they'd never deliver after hours."

"Goodnight" says the butcher cranking the big red, White Brothers three-ton truck.

IF I WERE A TEACHER!

If I were a teacher, I should not punish pupils for talking; instead, I should reward them somehow or other for their bravery. It certainly takes courage to talk when you are forbidden to. I should allow "Johnnie" to wear his army shoes because the pupils need something to distract their minds from their studies. In case there were much snow on the ground, the pupils would be allowed to have an hour's recess, during which they could have a snowball fight on the school grounds because there is plenty of snow, and they could have good enjoyment free-of-charge. I should not allow pupils to look up seven and eight syllable words in the dictionary because they might sprain their backs handling it; instead, I should punish them by making them read "College Humor" or the like. If Garnet ate candy during schooltime, I should make him pass it around and give the rest of the pupils some, and, of course, he is not to forget me. If some of the pupils came late because they overslept (which is usually the case), I should let them have vacation the rest of the day, and they could sleep, because they always have to get up so early on school days. Some of the pupils might also get hungry in school, therefore, I should give them permission to go to Stelljes' and get some candy or cookies. I should also ask the school board to furnish a comfortable wing chair for each pupil.

When Grandma Does the Charleston.

Some people grow old gracefully, others attempt the new dances.

Heard at Bieber's: "I'd like to see some shirts for my husband. Soft ones, please; the doctor has forbidden anything starchy."

Mr. Stover: "What is a molecule?"

Pete: "A molecule is something so small that it cannot be seen through a microscope."

"What's the matter now, Gumps?"

"My daughter is wearing knickerbockers, and my son is taking a girl's part in the college play."

Miss Fritsche: "What's your opinion of civilization?"

Joe Vogel: "I think it's a good idea. Somebody ought to start it."

Jack: "Who on earth is that home-ly girl Heine's dancing with?"

Joe: "That's my sister."

Jack: "She sure can dance."

While Mickey Chambard was driving an automobile Saturday night he had an arm taken off. He put it about a lady's waist and she took it off.

Claud W.: "What's the matter, Nick?"

Nick B.: "Nothin'. Jus' a bit dizzy from reading a circular letter, that's all."

Teacher: "If a batted ball travels 284½ feet in a second, how far will it go in 3 1-3 seconds."

Leonard M.: "It depends on the outfielders."

Baer: "Do you mean to say I'm crooked?"

Blauert: "You're so crooked that when you die they'll have to screw you into the ground."

Jim E.: "Can your girl keep a secret?"

Swede W.: "Gosh, yes. We were engaged two or three weeks before I knew a thing about it."

Doctor: "I don't like your heart action. You've had some trouble with Angina Pectoris."

Heinie: "Your partly right doctor. But that isn't her right name."

Roger giggled when Miss Kearns read the story of a man who swam a river three times before breakfast.

Miss Kearns: "You do not doubt that a trained swimmer could do that, do you?"

Roger S.: "No, madam, but I wonder why he did not make it four, and get back to the side where his clothes were."

Harley: "There was a big murder last night."

Jack: "What was it?"

Harley: "Well, a man was shot. The knife was found by this side. Who do you think poisoned him?"

Jack: "Who?"

Harley: "Nobody; he hung himself."

SOME BABY.

Ferdie: "Did you hear about that baby that gained 100 lbs. in a month, because it lived on elephant's milk?"

Fat: "Naw, it can't be done. Quit your kidding."

Ferdie: "Sure, it was the elephant's baby."

When the second half started New Ulm almost tied Sleepy Eye, but 13 to 15 was as close as they could get. Sleepy Eye made a few more baskets and New Ulm only could get a free throw, thus the game ended 19 to 14 in favor of Sleepy Eye.
