SENIORS LEAVE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

SENIOR CLASS REVIEW

As Freshies—

At last we were in high school! We expected the annual Freshman razing but we didn't think anybody would have the heart to take Johnny Mills out to the cemetery and make him walk back without shoes. We were so elated at being Freshmen that the girls' cheeks blossomed into a most bright red hue, and were compelled to walk into the assembly. Others caught an out-of-the-season cold because of the ducking.

Freshmen are supposed to be timid and subdued, but not all of us were. Harriet Fisher bravely attempted to skip school, but didn't get very far due to a certain Mr. Camp. Alice Olson had her first case—the party of the second part was a handsome Hanska sheik. Fritz Bentzia was our class hero, hero of the school, too, we might say. He was on the football team and on the basket ball team. This basket ball team won the district and regional tournaments. This gave us a chance to leave the old home town and skip school. Remember the resolution we make not to come to school if we won our first game at the state? We didn't win, but nobody wanted to come anyway. The Freshmen in home economics were all there, but Harriet Fisher still talks about those "darn baby Freshmen," that were afraid of a double zero. Harriet forgot she was a Freshman for a minute or two and she also was one of those "darn baby Freshman!"

As Sophomores—

We had advanced a step farther, we were Sophs. Fritz was no longer with us. That was the year in which Gertrude Scheman wrote her famous epistle about "baby blue eyes and devils." For awhile we feared serious consequences, but it all passed into obscurity.

Miss Kearns invented a novel idea of punishment.

Marguerite Haynes had to write a letter after school. The door was locked on her and if she did not give Miss Kearns something that is ordinarily dealt out in the moonlight, she would have to stay there all night. However, it all came out all right through a certain letter. We refer you to Miss Kearns for details. We have always wondered whether she was merely trying to pave the way for certain upper classmen.

And, of course, we will never forget our Sophomore assembly program! We were told the other day that what is good will always be remembered. Our costumes realistically portrayed our calibre, that of 2-year-olds, or so our teachers always said. Our school on the stage was ably conducted by Professor Emmerich. The bell was rung; the pupils entered the stage on kiddy cars and with jumping

HARMAN'S TRACK TEAM RUNS AWAY WITH DISTRICT MEET

Gaut Breaks Three Records.

Coach Harman's men snatched up the district meet last Saturday by the large margin of 66 points, to Sleepy Eye's 28. Against the keenest competition, the boys seemed to blossom out and repay Sleepy Eye for taking the last year's championship. The other towns competing were: Gaylord, with 20 points; Franklin, 10; Winthrop, 9; Morton, 8; Redwood Falls, 2; Springfield, 0.

The high light of the contest was the work of Lee Gaut, in breaking three records, for high hurdles, low hurdles and high jump. The relay team also broke a record, and two Sleepy Eye men, Fischer and Ebelzisor, brought down the discus and 220-yard dash records, respectively.

The results of the following events were:

120-yard High Hurdles—1st, Gaut, N. U.; 2nd, MacMasters, S. E.; 3rd, Regelin, N. U.; 4th, Johnson, Winthrop. Time 16.9. Former record, also by Gaut, 17.5.

100-Yard Dash—1st, Quahe, Morton; 2nd, Kusske, N. U.; 3rd, Ebelzisor, S. E.; 4th, Marks, N. U. Time: 10.9. (Record, 10.6, held by Jackson, R. F.)

440-Yard Dash—1st, Hintz, N. U.; 2nd, Hahn, Gaylord; 3rd, Aufderheide, N. U.; 4th, Paul, Gaylord. Time: 58.7.

(Record, 58.2, held by Chambard, Gaylord.)

220-Yard Dash—1st, Ebelzisor, S. E.; 2nd, Marks, N. U.; 3rd, Johnson, R. F.; 4th, Johnson, Winthrop. Time: 24.2. (Former record also by Ebelzisor, 24.5.)

Half-Mile Run—1st, Seeman, Gaylord; 2nd, Shuet, Gaylord; 3rd, Schnobrich, N. U.; 4th, Orlandson, Winthrop. Time: 2:16.5. (Record, 2:13.4, held by Lestico, Gaylord.)

220-Yard Low Hurdles—1st, Gaut, N. U.; 2nd, Hintz, N. U.; 3rd, Doerre, Gaylord; 4th, Schueller, Gaylord. Time: 27.5. (Former record 27.6, by Willhite S. E.)

Pole Vault—1st, Poynter, N. U.; 2nd, Scanlon, Winthrop; 3rd, Marks, N. U.; 4th, Neubarth, Winthrop, and Gregg, S. E. Height, 9 feet 10½ inches. (Record held by Hass, N. U., 10 feet, 11 inches.)

Shot Put—1st, Olsen, Franklin; 2nd, Jacobsen, Franklin; 3rd, Kusske, N. U.; 4th, Krueger, Gaylord. Distance: 38 feet ¼ inch. (Record held by Paulson, S. E., 38 feet, 6 inches.)

High Jump—1st, Gaut, N. U.; 2nd, Quehl, Morton; 3rd, Malmstrom, Winthrop; 4th, Schnobrich, N. U. Height, 5 feet, 5½ inches. (Former record by Hamann, N. U., 5 feet, 5 inches.)

GAUT STARS AT CARLETON MEET

Lee Gaut ran away with the honors at the Carleton meet last Saturday. He broke two records, in high and low hurdles, by negotiating the high in 16.3 seconds and the low in 26.3 seconds.

Besides this, Lee aided in winning second for New Ulm in the medley relay, which the team ran.

Other places taken by New Ulm were fourth place in the javelin throw, taken by Emmerich, and fourth in the pole vault, won by Poynter.

In all, New Ulm made 14 points, which took fourth place in the Class I events. This is quite an enjoyable record, considering the number of schools entered.

The Class of 1930 is proud to have a track star of such ability among its members.

BACCAULAURETE HELD LAST SUNDAY NIGHT

Baccalaureate services were held for the Seniors at the Congregational church last Sunday night. Rev. Walker delivered the address. Mr. Machula of the high school faculty sang a solo, "My Task." The members of the octet were also present in the choir.

The Junior class had decorated the church with the Senior class colors, green and white. Two bouquets of bridal wreaths stood on the platform. The seats reserved for Seniors were roped off with green and white crepe paper streamers.

GRADUATING EXERCISES AT TURNER HALL

Friday night the Senior class will be graduated at Turner hall at 8 o'clock. There will be forty-one graduates this year.

Honorable Coe I. Crawford of Huron, South Dakota, will deliver the commencement address, while President Alfred Mueller will present the diplomas to the graduates. Mr. Dirks will award the special honors.

There will also be a short musical program. The Glee club and the octet will sing. The high school orchestra will also play.

CLASS PROPHECY

All was noisy on the Western front. The little town of Regelin was sitting in between two hills, and just now was under the terrible strain of a storm that threatened an overflow of the Gaut river.

Way back in 1930, the Senior class found it too hard to part and go alone into the great, cruel, cold world; so through the heroic efforts of Capt. Regelin, a village was founded in his name in which all the Seniors now resided. Edwin Hage was now sitting high on the pinnacle of success. He ruled the city, while his little wife, Renola Frank, now Mrs. Hage, swayed the household.

The Gaut river did not come to be until after several years of hard training. Lee Gaut decided it too hot and inconvenient not to have a cool clear river close at hand so he shifted the course of the Minnesota river and brought it successfully to Regelin, thereby having it called by his name. Lee had indeed proven himself worthy of his Mayflower ancestors. Lee never married for he could not choose from his large list of female admirers.

Rollins Emmerich had become a great electrical engineer, and just now was busy at the radio control room during the raging storm. The lives of the Senior class depended on him. Albert Berndt was sitting patiently by the door on his trusty motorcycle, ready to spread the news when Mushie discovered danger. Down in the village Irma Schmidt was running wildly up and down the street, screaming frantically for her husband, Gene, and Swede Wagner to come in off the river. They had gone canoeing. It was not the first time she had to call to these two to come in to the shore. She should have been used to it by now, but evidently she still feared for their safety.

In the town hospital, little Alice Olson had turned martyr to the cause and was now trying to comfort Jinx, who was raving insanely about nothing at all. Alice was the head dietitian and so was doing her best to prescribe the right "eats" for Jinx after the many olives he had consumed. Next to Jinx lay poor, moaning Harvey Haeberle, who had received minor bruises, while catching butterflies out at Klossner. He always seemed to like that vicinity.

The violence of the storm was increasing. On the very edge of the village was a row of apartments that were half-over the border line of the town. No one but Seniors had been allowed here, so Jeanne Oswald had to resort to this method of getting Ossie in her home, at least. Poor Jeanne was skipping madly about, rounding up her numerous children, while hanging onto Arnold, Jr. Grace Niemann was calling out of some win-

EDITORIAL.

Mr. Stewart spoke before the assembly one day last week on automobile accidents. He gave us statistics and a set of 12 rules to remember when driving.

These rules can be applied to the mark you set and the road you mean to take now that you are almost through high school. The figures Mr. Stewart presented might represent the number of people who did not pay any attention to these rules in life.

Remember that courtesy pays, was one rule. Is it not much easier to get along with other people if you are courteous and do for others the way you would have them do for you? By being courteous you can gain the respect of others and what's more, by doing the right thing and saying the right thing, you can keep it.

"Never pass a car on a hill," might be said to mean you should not try to forge ahead until you are safe and can see where you are going and not bump into obstacles that you are unprepared to meet. Be prepared for the thing ahead by playing safe and sure.

"Stop when you have had an accident." When you don't stop, but run away instead, people know you as a coward. If you make a mistake sometime, as we all do, don't run away, but face your employer or whoever you must account to and do the best to make it right.

SHE HAD LOTS OF SENSE.

She: "I loathe having men tell me I'm beautiful, because, I mean, I'd heaps rather have them admire me for my character, because, I mean, it's really nothing to be beautiful. Do you think it is?"

He: "Well, darn few girls feel that way about it. I mean, they may know they're beautiful, but you have to tell them so."

She: "Isn't it ridic—I mean, I think it's frightfully vain of girls to want to have men keep telling them they're lovely looking and all."

He: "It certainly is; but you know they say a man never makes a mistake when he flatters a girl."

She: "Well, I think that's perfectly absurd, because, unless the girl's awfully dumb or something, she must realize it's just flattery."

CLASS PROPHECY.

dow to her husband. Inez was helping Jeanne Oswald. You see she lived on the top floor of the apartment, for an obvious reason also. Snobby sat on the porch, idly smoking his pipe, waiting for friend wife to fix supper. He has waited thus for years.

Harriet Fisher was a long distance telephone operator of the town. She preferred wires, metal rings, and metal tubes to a debutante's silks and laces. She always did have a profound liking for hardware and those connected with it.

Walter Gag and Carl Heyman had started a bachelor's hangout with Marguerite Haynes as dish washer; Swede Wagner, butler; Helen Langmack, cook, and Lloyd Werner, professional dancer.

Harold Gulden had started out bravely to be a druggist, and landed behind a soda fountain. John Mills had patented a cure-all, so there was no further use for drugs.

Charles Hintz ran a saloon, also on the edge of town. This place proved to be the place of places to Alfred Prom, Wesley Bauman, Armin Pufahl, Adolph Bierbaum, and Walter Neeman who had so heroically tried to make marriage a success at the hands of Viola Besemer, Myra Asleson, Ann Beardsley, Ruth Lindemann and Loretta Jeske.

Florence Krook had strived all her life to become an organist, and finally, after landing a position to play at the "Haeberle Theatre," she was run out of town. Thus ended her high hopes and career. She hasn't been seen since. Perhaps she's hearing other music of the domestic order.

Marvin K. had chosen the position as street cleaner, because he could no longer decide which of his wives he'd rather live with, and anyway, none of them wanted to abide with him.

And behold! Sherlock Holmes! The steady, quiet Gerold Kath with the little whiskbroom above his upper lip and goggles. He now wore a long, white beard, green glasses, and continually smoked a pipe.

Ruth Witt, Lourina Fiemeyer, and Melvin Schleif were all assistants at John Zabadal's dancing class of whom Howard Wandersee was voted the most graceful.

And still the storm continued. The Gaut river was steadily rising and threatening the villagers. Mushie gave out the alarm; Albert heroically played Paul Revere and in an instance all the Seniors were gathered on the highest peaks expecting to see their houses ruined by the flood. Suddenly John Mills cried, "The intruder! Look! The cause of the flood!"

All eyes turned, only to see Fat Arndt peacefully bathing in the Gaut river. In 1930 he had also tried to invade Senior classes. After the cause was done away with, Regelin continued to live in the usual peace and accustomed noises.

Our ideas of a forehanded man is the fellow who stocks up with cigarettes and cigars before he goes to a night club.

When Noah sailed the waters blue, He had his troubles, same as you; For forty days he drove the Ark Before he found a place to park.

SENIOR NOTES.

Last Tuesday, Fritsche's camp was the scene of the annual Senior Class picnic. Even though it rained and drizzled all day, the eats made up for it, and an enjoyable time was had by all. It is reported that some of the tougher boys went in swimming and that some of the others danced, but no mushrooms could be found by anybody.

The Senior class join me in shedding tears in sympathy with our leaving this dear old high school, forever and ever. We welcome the Juniors into the Senior class and hope they are given as wonderful a banquet as we received this year. It shall be a memory never to be forgotten.

JUNIOR JOTS.

"Shy" Malcker Hippert, "Baby-Faced" Donald Fehlhaber, and "Slim" Ahrens have been and still are enjoying pleasant spring evening in the neighborhoods of Marguerite Haynes and Marjorie Sandman. You can usually hear them singing in the rain on the top of some ladder or singing out of the rain on some wide veranda. "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to love." Here's hoping it's lightly.

There are rumors around that Harvey Haerberle has applied for a position at the brick yards during the coming summer. Marion Pfaender is going on a tour lecturing on "How to Lose Weight in Twenty Days." We are all hoping she makes a great success at this first attempt before the public. Josephine, of course, will be busy with her riding academy between pleasant visits to Redwood Falls. Ruth W. has her application in for a waitress at the National Cafe.

SOPHOMORE NOTES.

Some of us think that the Junior-Senior reception should be changed to the Sophomore-Senior reception because we really think we did more work than the Juniors for it anyway.

Of course we're all glad night school is over and we're through performing for our parents and big sisters and brothers. Incidentally, projects are over with at last, too.

FRESHMAN NOTES.

Our Freshman days are almost over, and maybe we're not glad. Next year we'll be Sophomores, at least we hope so. Won't we miss the Seniors. They say that Seniors are mean to Freshmen, but they've been pretty good to us.

Some of us Freshmen had all our exams at eight o'clock. Don't you think that that was too early. We needed our sleep. We had visions of sleeping through the tests instead of writing, but they woke us up plenty, believe me!

For the last time I'm signing off from Station F-r-e-s-h-i-e.

SHE HAD LOTS OF SENSE.

He: "Well, most girls are awfully dumb, especially when they're beautiful."

She: "I s'pose they are, aren't they? I mean, I s'pose I'm terribly dumb, aren't I?"

He: "Believe me, you're the exception to that rule. I mean, the very fact you'd rather have a man admire you for your character than your beauty shows you've got lots of sense."

She: "Do you honestly think I have?"

He: "Yeah, you bet!"

She: "But I don't think it makes a girl popular to have sense, do you?"

He: "Well, it depends. It's all right for her to have sense if she's beautiful."

She: "Gosh, it must be wonderful to be really beautiful! I mean, not just pretty, but really beautiful."

He: "Well, you ought to know."

She: "What do you mean, my dear? Honestly, I've never heard anything so completely cryptic!"

He: "Well, you know you're beautiful!"

She: "Why, the idea! I don't at all!"

He: "Well, you certainly are beautiful!"

She: "Do you honestly think I am?"

He: "You bet I do! I think you're the most beautiful girl I've ever seen."

She: "Well, I don't believe I am at all, but it's awfully sweet of you to say so!" —Lloyd Mayer.

"I guess I've lost another pupil," said the professor as his glass eye rolled down the kitchen sink.

MUSIC NOTES.

At the District Music Contest in Fairmont on May the 3rd, Clarence Radl won first place with a tenor solo. The mixed chorus got third place. On May 16th, Clarence Radl went to the State Music Contest. Only the first three places were announced, so as yet, we do not know just what place he got.

This year a large number of Glee Club letters were given to those who earned them on Award Night, May 16. That night the octet sang, "Goin' Home," and "Morning." Mildred Gulden sang "Ah! Love But a Day."

The Glee Club will sing Friday night at Commencement. Clarence Radl will also sing the selection that won him first place.

Every woman thinks she could make her favorite actor happy.

Sandy: "Say, Andy, when is Annie McTavish goin' to let you marry her?"

Andy: "It's very uncertain, Sandy. Some fool gave her a big box of letter paper with her name printed on it. She won't get married till it's used up—and she writes very few letters on account of the postage."

I've kept that school-girl complexion, I've walked a mile for a smoke; I've asked the man who owns one, And he tells me it keeps him broke. I know that a child can play it, To guard the danger line I try; I know when it's time to retire, And I've heard that they satisfy. But baffled I am by one thing Though for my whole lifetime I strive, I'd like to know just whether or not I'm one of the four out of five!

Eldred R.: "My sweetheart gave me a rainbow kiss."

Vernon B.: "What kind of a kiss is that?"

Eldred: "The one that comes after the storm."

Fat Arndt: "I want to trade this roadster for a coupe."

Salesman: "What's the matter with it?"

Fat: "Nothing—only I quit chewing tobacco."

He: "Now that we are married, perhaps I might venture to point out a few of your little defects."

She: "Don't bother, dear; I am quite aware of them. It was those little defects that prevented me from getting a much better man than you are."

Two small boys, returning to their schoolroom after recess, showed evidence of having been crying.

Teacher: "Percy, why are you crying?"

Percy: "Harold kicked me in the stomach."

Teacher: "Harold, did you mean to kick Percy in the stomach?"

Harold: "Naw, I didn't, but he turned around just as I kicked."

CLASS REVIEW.

ropes. Songs, recitations, and questions followed, but the entire program was eclipsed by the dramatic last incident. Florence Krock proved to be the hero at last. She had left the room and came back crying. Prof. Emmerich inquired and was told that he had not allowed her to go out soon enough. Somebody's quick and excited cry of "Fire! Fire!" saved the day. In two jerks the curtain was pulled and the blushing Sophs hid behind it.

The Junior-Senior prom can't be left out for it too had its results, at that time, Harvey Hasberle said he was going to learn to dance so he could be a keen dancer at that time next year.

As Juniors—

Money, money everywhere, but not in the Junior treasury. That was a problem how to get money to feed half the school and get the Orient to stimulate a new growth of corns. With a lot of pushing and prodding we did one thing that was really to our credit; we sponsored a Lyceum Course and made money which is more than the P.-T. A. did!

Our class play, "The Dead of Night," was a howling success, "on account because" Florence Krock let out so "many howlets." (We just had to put in that last sentence that way on account it was Jeanne M.! She always does get in on the latest dope.)

As Seniors—

We were Seniors and such Seniors! Did you ever notice how Mr. Dirks' mouth screwed up when he talked about this year's Senior class? Well, no wonder. We could easily write a volume about the class of 1930.

As Seniors we thought we would have no money obligations, but our class dues. Sad to say, you have to have money to be a Senior, too. Harriet says she found a gray hair, caused by her money worries.

This year's class has the reputation of being the biggest assembly of Scotchmen to be found. But here are our alibis—if we don't pay class dues immediately, it shows we like to not on to what is good. If we give no memorial to the school, it means that we believe that a mere piece of wood could never express our reverence and respect and loyalty for the N. U. H. S. anyhow, so we won't leave any!

For we really have a heart. Didn't we give the Freshies and the teachers a treat at Xmas time—a whole box of candy kisses with gifts in them. You'll notice certain girls are wearing their gold chains yet. (How it happens that Senior girls got the chains is nobody's business.)

We had a very successful basketball season, especially the games between Mr. Dirks and some of the boys. All in all we did enjoy the entire season.

"Summer's A Comin' In" and also the "Fresh Vegetable Season" was the theme song for the month of May. The vegetables were so popular that month that they diverted the ambition and attention of the entire play cast, and so what would have been another howling success for our class turned out to be nothing but apple sauce, or to be realistic, tomato juice.

May 6 was Senior skip day, the day the Freshies look forward to four years. Fritsche's camp was the scene of several memorable incidents of the Senior class. Even Swede Wagner was there, although we didn't see much of him. He was across the river looking for mushrooms. (Did I hear somebody snicker?) And the feed, how the committee did feed us. Of course it emptied the treasury but then, we're only Seniors once.

And so we are to be graduated tomorrow. We earnestly hope that other Senior classes get through high school as safely as we did.
