COACH HARMAN REPORTS LARGE TRACK SQUAD

SEE YOURSELF AS OTHERS SEE YOU

How would you like to see your own family life depicted right before your eyes—exactly as it really is, with all the humorous quirks and turns that are part of it?

That's what Miss Ritt and the Senior Class are going to show you on April 30, when they present "The Family Upstairs!"

If you don't have a homelike feeling when you see Mother (Joe Bianchi) making Annabelle (Jeanne Milliman) practice her piano steadily; if you don't have a guilty twang when you see Willie (Raymond Christianson) calling up his girl-friend on the sly, and being severely rebuked by his irate father (Donald Fehlhaber); if you don't find something familiar in the family rows which result when Louise (Marion Pfaender) brings home her first boy-friend (William Meierding); if you don't find that your own family life is inimitably portrayed in these side-splitting situations, you had better see a doctor, for your family life isn't normal.

Old Bobbie Burns asked:

MUSIC CONCERT

TO BE GIVEN

May 8 is the date set for the music concert. It is to be given in the high school auditorium, and all musical organizations under the direction of Mr. Halling are to participate. Selections by the high school orchestra, band, boys' and girls' glee clubs, string quartet, brass quintet, and girls' trio, and the junior high school glee club and orchestra are to comprise the entire program. This will show the progress the various organizations have made during the course of the year.

This concert will be given a week after the music contest at Mankato. We wish all the New Ulm organizations luck and hope that they "bring home the bacon."

CONTEST TO TAKE PLACE AT REDWOOD FALLS

Tomorrow several high school students are going to take part in a typing contest to be held at Redwood Falls. Only three schools are to be represented—each school by two representatives for advanced typing, two for shorthand, and two for beginning typing. We hope our representatives will be as successful as they have been other years.

Thirty Boys Try for Squad Big Freshman Turnout Reported

The spring track practice has begun, and Coach Harman is besieged by thirty boys who are enthusiastically practicing to make this year's squad. A great many of these boys are Freshmen, who seem to give great promise of developing into first-rate tracksters.

Coach Harman has four veterans of last year's squad to make up the backbone of his track team. These men and their events are:

Poynter—Pole vault, broad jump, discus.

Aufderheide—440, 220 and 100-yard dashes.

Eyrich—Half mile, discus, 440-yard dash, broad jump.

Ring—Javelin, discus, high jump.

To add to these tried and true veterans, there is a most of fine-looking material upon which the coach may well pin his faith. These promising men and their events are:

Preuss—Dashes, discus, broad jump, high jump.

Emmerich—Javelin, discus.

Strate—Discus, javelin, high jump.

L. Marti—Hurdles, pole vault.

Spaeth—Pole vault, hurdles.

Jahnke—Hurdles.

Kading—440-yard dash.

W. Marti—Discus, 440-yard dash.

Fussner—Half mile.

Rieke—High hurdles, high jump.

F. Marti—440-yard dash, pole vault.

Radl—Half mile, broad jump.

Huelskamp—Half mile.

Arbes—Pole vault.

H. Lindemann—Pole vault.

With these men to represent them, the school may well be optimistic concerning the track future. Remembering the brilliant record made by last year's team, it is expected that even a better record will be made this year, as there is a more even distribution of good men in all events.

Coach Harman intends to take his men to six meets during the course of the track season. These will be:

A dual meet, held here a week from today with some surrounding town.

May 2, the Southern Minnesota Track Meet at Mankato.

May 9, a citation meet at Owatonna, Minn.

May 16, the district meet held here.

May 23, the Carleton Relays at Carleton College.

May 30, the regional meet.

And, after going to the regional meet, the coach is in high hopes that the team will be well represented at the State meet, to be held the first of June. The tracksters do seem to have the stuff to carry off a state meet with flying colors.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT SPONSORS MOVIE

The Commercial department of the high school is having a benefit movie at the Lyric theatre Friday and Saturday evenings. They have been very fortunate in securing D. W. Griffith's supreme masterpiece, "ABRAHAM LINCOLN." This is a picture that will be enjoyed by old and young, not only because it portrays the life of one of the greatest characters in American history, but also because it succeeds in presenting it in such a colorful, interesting, personal way. This is not "just another movie." It is a drama filled with wholesome entertainment, which you will not only enjoy at the moment, but will think about for days afterward. A special matinee on Saturday afternoon, April 18, is to be given.

Help the Commercial students get some of the much needed material for their department by buying a ticket from anyone of the students.

MARION PFAENDER'S

ESSAY PUBLISHED

Marion Pfaender's "Confessions of An Ex-Snob" was one of the twenty-nine writings published in the March issue of "The Gateway," a magazine of new viewpoints, published biennially at Macalaster college. This magazine is published for the purpose of encouraging literary work in high schools. About fifty schools submitted material to "The Gateway," the manuscripts totaling about five hundred, from which twenty-nine were chosen. In choosing manuscripts to be published, the editors considered first, whether it had in it "the breath of life," and second, whether it flowed with ease and smoothness.

We certainly are proud of Marion

MINIMUM ESSENTIALS

TEST FOR ENGLISH GIVEN

The last Minimum Essentials Test of the year was given last Wednesday. The medians for the four grades in high school were: 9th, 95; 10th, 95; 11th, 97; 12th 98.

The median for the school was 96. Those who received perfect scores are:

Seniors—Joyce Bjorneberg, William Ring, Marion Pfaender, William Meierding, Bernadine Heisler, Mae Jule Arbes, Audrey Zieske, Audrey Keute, Charles Poynter, Virginia Hintz, Lor-

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES TO BE HELD MAY 29

Supt. F. B. Andreen informed the board that efforts to secure Governor Floyd B. Olson as commencement day speaker proved unavailing, as Governor Olson is planning to attend the annual governor's meeting at that time. Rabbi Albert G. Minda has been secured in the governor's place. He is considered one of the ablest orators in Minneapolis. This is the first time in the history of this high school that a Rabbi has been chosen to deliver the commencement day address, and all of us are looking forward to hearing him.

This year's Senior class, too, will be the first one to be graduated in caps and gowns. Almost all the schools are wearing them this year, and as it is the "coming thing," it is well that our Senior class has adopted it.

Hilary: "I know every girl at this dance."

Rolly: "But not one of them has spoken to you."

Hilary: "Isn't that proof enough?"

CAMP FIRE GROUPS GIVE DEMONSTRATION

At the last P.-T. A. meeting the three Camp Fire groups in New Ulm, under the guardianship of Mrs. Meile, Miss Harbo, and Alice Vercoe, put on a program so as to better acquaint the public with Camp Fire and to explain about the different ranks and honors.

They opened the program by singing "The Walking Song." This was followed by an explanation of honors by Camp Fire girls in Mrs. Meile's group. Janet Landrum, a member of Alice Vercoe's group, gave the Camp Fire "Credo," followed by the singing of "Burn Fire Burn" by all of the girls. Judith Bieber, Peggy Swartz, and Katherine Eichten, all from Miss Harbo's group, demonstrated a candle lighting service. "The Woodgatherer's Desire" was also given by members of Miss Harbo's group.

There are vacancies in both Miss Harbo's and Alice Vercoe's groups. If there are any girls who wish to join Camp Fire, they should speak to either of these guardians.

FRIDAY, APRIL 17, 1931.

GOALS.

Monday will begin the last six weeks' period for the school year. The hurrying and excitement which go with these last days do not make toward reflective thinking. There are too many outside interests, too many social claims on time and energy, and too little time to ask yourself what your goal really is.

Goals may be difficult to attain, or they may be within easy reach. To set up a goal for yourself you must determine what you want the final purpose of your study to be. You must live for a purpose day by day. It should lead you to live on the highest level possible. Master the problems on whatever level you may be living, and in this way you will find it easy to move on to a higher level toward your goal.

For some of us, school days are soon to be over; for others, the close of school will be merely a vacation to be followed by another year of school. No matter to which group you belong, your goal should be set high enough to influence your daily living permanently. "Plan now, and have fewer regrets later."

HOW TO USE A DICTIONARY.

When looking for a word starting with B, grab the book as if it were your enemy. Open book near middle. Leaf through it until you come to X Y Z, then remember that B is the second letter from the front.

When leafing through to X, don't forget to spit on fingers and mess the leaves as you go astray—hunting for B.

Be sure to mark the word when you have found it. Other students may want to copy the same idea.

You may like the word enough to take that portion of the leaf to your seat and forget to return it. If you do return the sacred piece, try to introduce it into the family.

When you have completed your hunt, slam the book, and repeat the vowels: A fter E ternity I m O ld and U gly.

EXCHANGES.

The Carleton Glider club, inactive since last November, when the glider was destroyed by a bull of the college farm, plans to start gliding next week.—Carletonian, Carleton College.

All the girls of Marietta high school, Marietta, Georgia, are advised to spruce up a bit every day because they are planning to take group pictures for the Annual any day now.—The Pitchfork.

Vittorio Mussolini, son of Benito Mussolini, famous premier of Italy, has accepted an invitation to membership in the Quill and Scroll society. He is editor of the Boys' Pen, a weekly newspaper for high school students in Italy.—The Judge, Marshall H. S.

Two little children were discussing their breakfasts.

"I had an awful good breakfast," said Johnny.

"So did I," said Emmy. "I had somepin' specially nice that begins with 'N.'"

"A norange?"

"No."

"A napple?"

"No, it was a negg."—Newtonite.

Republican: "What does President Hoover do when he has indigestion?"

Democrat: "Calls the Secretary of the Interior."

IT IS BEING RUMORED

That Josephine's passion for tennis has increased loads—because "Tommy just dotes on it!"

Miss Sogn is an authority on losing house keys. Just ask her and she'll give you the details.

Althea and Howard were seen in Sleepy Eye the other night. What's wrong with the New Ulm squawkies?

"Bibs" Marti evidently likes the titian type of beauty. Ask Lorna Frank.

Marion and Josephine motored to Redwood Falls Saturday. We hear they spent the evening looking for tennis balls in the park. Novel idea—What ho?

When we say "Elmer" has a new hat—we don't mean Marks. Just ask Miss Westling what she was doing in at Tauscheck and Green's Saturday night. Seems to me she always bought her hats at Rinke's.

Who's the mysterious beetle that calls Ralph Rieke up every night? Any information will be appreciated.

We wonder who'll be going with who to the reception. Better hurry up and decide boys—only two weeks left!

Did you know that Marcella Salsman had never been kissed before last Sunday night?

Did Pufe have as good a time "backstage" at the Turnfest this year as she did last? We wonder.

And did you hear about Bernadine robbing the cradle? We won't say who was in it. It would be too cruel.

The boys' Glee club shouting merrily up in Mr. Halling's room, and strains of "Sweet Jenny Lee" issuing from Miss Leonard's—makes 5th hour assembly the most peaceful place to be in.

Did you know that Babe and a certain Senior girl were seen out for a jaunt on one of these lovely spring evenings? In the spring a young man's fancy, etc.

FRESHMAN FOLLIES.

The Secret of Success.

"Push," said the Button.
 "Never be led," said the Pencil.
 "Take pains," said the Window.
 "Always keep cool," said the Ice.
 "Be up-to-date," said the Calendar.
 "Never lose your head," said the Match.

Marvin E. was trying to work Algebra. After several hours of painful labor he found that X equalled Zero. He promptly said, "Gee! all that work for nothing.

It's easy enough to look pleasant, When spring comes along with a rush; But the fellow worth while Is the one who can smile When he slips and falls down in the slush.

At last we are able to answer a request of Emil Z. "How to raise a mustache."

Before retiring at night, rub the upper lip well with salt. You must then get a pail of water and place it at the head of your bed. The hairs being thirsty will come out for a drink. Then you should quickly tie a knot in the hair and it will stay out. We hope it works, Emil.

SOPHOMORE SINS.

Talking about spring fever, listen to what Myrtle Grussendorf says. In the spring a man's thoughts turn to everything but love. For instance, hikes, new clothes, car, etc. (Give him time, Myrtle, may be he's bashful.)

Marjorie was telling me that they get station CRY at their house lately. I asked her how she liked that station. She said it was all right, but they usually got it in the middle of the night.

Six o'clock, Tuesday evening, and all was well. Not for Miss Kearns, for she was keeping her watchful vigil over the spelling dunces. I won't say any more about it because I was one of them.

"But surely," cried Altha, "you didn't tell him straight out that you loved him?"

"Goodness, no," Grace said calmly. "He had to squeeze it out of me."

Jane: "You remind me of one of those flying machines."

Charles: "How come, woman, how come? 'Cause I'm such a high flyer?"

Jane: "No, sir; big boy; it's just 'cause you are no use on earth."

Stanley (twice nicked by the razor): "Hey, barber, gimme a glass of water."

Barber: "Whatsa matter, hair in your mouth?"

Stanley: "No, I wanna see if my neck leaks."

JUNIOR JOTS.

N. U. H. S. DICTIONARY (Simplified)

1. BELLS—Something that doth murder sleep.
2. PENCIL SHARPENERS—An excuse to toss a note "ad puella" or "ad puerum."
3. TEXT BOOKS—A guard for "True Detective Stories."
4. THEMES—War on our gray matter (sometimes causing great indemnities to be paid).
5. LIBRARY—A modern cafeteria and a place to relate last night's occurrences.

6. ATHLETES—Good publicity for the femmes (if they can "tackle" as well as some of the athletes.)

7. CLASS DUES—"Hard to get!" (Ask the Juniors.)

8. "A's"—Unheard of—also "Hard to get." An obsolete and archaic expression.

9. ASSIGNMENTS—A bother and something to add to other things you haven't done.

10. BOY FRIENDS—All good things come in little packages (according to Joe).

THINGS TO AVOID—

1. Themes.
2. School.
3. Girls.
4. Assignments.
5. Junior Jots.

We've been studying about immunity in Biol, but I've discovered I'm not immune to Spring Fever—So I'm quitting.

SENIOR SHORTS.

PROCLAMATION!

Why should we be made to suffer for the sins of our predecessors? We want a "Skip Day!!!" Come on, Seniors, cooperate! Let's do a thing or two about this!

Another thing we wish to make known at this time is that we'd love to have "eats" at the Reception, and if there's anything else you'd like information on, just come to us. We have implicit faith in the Junior class, of course, and we hope the reception will not make us believe otherwise.

(With due apologies to Mr. Machula):

Back again in Chemistry class, scene of most of our nonsensical farces:

And the two Donalds in an invigorating discussion of chromium plated radiators and black finishes were suddenly interrupted by Elmer Nehls, saying:

"Now, take for instance Mr. Machula's car out there—"

Donald F.: "Beg pardon! At this moment we were discussing 'cars,' not 'wrecks.'"

The Seniors wonder if "The Man Who Kept His Form" smoked "Lucky Strikes" to avoid that future shadow.

P.-T. A. MEETING HELD.

- Mankato State Teachers College Business meeting.
 Election of officers.

Walter Kokesch, in the library looking for a novel for book report, went up to Miss Holzinger and asked Miss Holzinger "Is Oliver Twist in?" Miss Holzinger answered, "No, Nina Frederickson is just taking him out."

CONFESSIONS OF AN EX-SNOB.

Marion Pfaender,
New Ulm High School.

"It is as easy to marry the boss's daughter as the stenographer."

This, for four long and uneventful years, has been my insignia—my guiding beacon, as it were. For the above-mentioned years, my conduct has been largely governed by that practical doctrine—not literally, I may say, as that would be rather impossible, my sex preventing any such complications. Nor have I any inclination to marry the mythical and fictional boss's son, whom I have not even met thus far. Perhaps if I did meet him, I should disapprove of him anyway (he would no doubt have something despicable, such as a mustache, which I have an aversion to.)

However this may be, I went in for snobbery, heart, soul, and (later) body! Professor Robert Roger's theory of snobbery illuminated me upon this subject, so it became my veritable law.

I met easily the first qualifications of a snob—that of individuality and supreme egotism. For had I not memorized and analyzed those lines of Whitman's:

"I shall effuse egotism and show it underlying all—

And I will be the bard of personality."

I immediately became (to myself)

the "Personality-plus girl." In fact, I worked myself up to such a pitch that, when sitting next to the (contemporary) boy-friend, I could earnestly admit, "I'm not the happiest person on earth, but I'm next to the happiest." To my chagrin, I found that this was not so well received by said male admirer, and I soon found that I was forced to entertain myself at nights. But this even tended to heighten my complex. I have discovered, indeed, that the only thing that can keep on growing without nourishment is an ego. So I continued to be a snob.

The second qualification—that of "fastidiousness in dress"—I met with more or less disastrous results. I supplied myself with all the elaborate clothes I could possibly buy. I worried constantly about clothes (much ado about nothing, so to speak). But, as my father soon discovered, even the price of a dress isn't modest any more; and if I continued my expenditures the clothes which would make me would break him. So I let up on my extravagance—reluctantly it is true. But, nevertheless, I continued to be a snob.

Then came my downfall—Professor Rogers stated that women must always keep up their appearances, maintaining slim, youthful figures. Being burdened with slightly surplus avoirdupois, I was forced to diet—that most grueling of tasks a Back-to-the-Form Movement, you might say. Now, the disheartening thing about dieting is that it does so much for the will power and so little for the waistline. I raved—I ranted—I almost became a nervous wreck—and still the scale refused to go down! I tried everything, even onions (but soon found that an onion a day gives your diet away). Nothing helped. I was ready to admit that I was foiled.

Then one day I read an article by Professor Rogers, my hero and idol, in which he said: "My former theories of snobbery were just in fun. I do not believe in snobbery in the least. In fact, I believe that too much of the uplift in this country already is confined to the noses. I really like healthy, robust women." This almost broke me. (Especially when I found that the scales had been wrong, and I really lost 20 pounds! Such irony!) But I rallied my spirits with a new theory—sophistication, that art of admitting that the unexpected is just what you anticipated.

I am now a Sophist.
