NEW ULM DEBATERS LOSE TO WINTHROP

The New Ulm debating team lost to Winthrop in a debate, January 26. This was the second debate of the season on the question: Resolved, that the chain store system is detrimental to the best interests of the American public.

The negative side of the question was upheld by the New Ulm team, composed of Marion Pfaender, Roland Muesing, and Arline Arndt. The decision was 3-0 in favor of Winthrop.

Last Friday, the debaters went to Sleepy Eye to participate in a practice debate with the Sleepy Eye squad.

The next debate is to be with Springfield.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM IS GIVEN FRIDAY

Last Friday the following program was given in the assembly:

Two selections on the violin . . . . .

Clarence Radl

Orations—

"The Prisoner at the Bar" . . . . .

Donald Dannheim

"The Ropes" . . . . . Wayne Walrath

Skit—"I'm Nutty, But Aren't We All"

Loretta Glaser, Richard Lindemann, Alice Milliman, Delcie Resoft.

Friday (today) the Sophomores entertained the assembly.

NEW BOOKS RECEIVED FOR DRUM CORPS

Last fall the Drum Corps was reorganized. Since then they have been practicing in the gymnasium almost every Monday after school. So far not much has been seen of them, but they have been heard from occasionally.

New books have been received for the players of the drums and bugles. They are all hard at work trying to learn some of the pieces in these books.

The Drum Corps of the N. U. H. S., under the direction of Mr. Dirks, consists of the following members:

Bugles—Jane Mueller, Peggy Swartz, Alice Pufahl, Helen Esser, Florence Reitter.

Drums—Ruth Wicherski, Gretchen Kretsch, Grace Schleuder, Virginia Hintz, Alice Miller, Myrtle Grussendorf, Alice Boock, and Virginia Glasmann.

Bass Drum—Katherine Eichten.

We are hoping to see the Drum corps make an appearance at the district tournament.

Our Men Lose and Win a Game

Two brilliant games were played by our team during the last week—One with Redwood Falls, which resulted in our losing by a close margin of 19-17, and the other with the local D. M. L. college, which we won, 24-11.

In spite of the fact that our men lost the Redwood game, the fans were satisfied with their performance, for the contest was as well fought a battle as could be asked for. During the first half, the honors were evenly distributed, Redwood again playing their famous "stalling game," which all but exhausted the patience of the players and the mass of fans. In the second half, a grand tussle resulted, and our men outplayed our opponents, and secured a four-point lead. This was held firmly until the last four minutes of play, when they relaxed a bit on their defense and allowed themselves to be drawn out by Redwood's stalling. That team took advantage of every break, and netted two baskets to even up the score. The last few minutes were a mad skirmish for the decisive score, the suspension being finally broken by Flinn, the speedy little Irishman, who took a chance shot, making the hoop, and winning the game for Redwood, 19-17. However, we did by no means get the worst of this game, for it brought more thrills than a tournament game.

Tuesday night was the night of triumph for the boys; for they not only outplayed, but out-scored them more than two-to-one, by a broad margin of 24-11. The boys were playing brilliantly, and the college could do practically nothing to them. In the first half, no team really had any advantages, and it looked dangerously close. But in the second half, the boys broke loose and sank shot after shot, holding the college down to only two or three free throws, made in the first quarter. Every one of the boys played remarkably well in the game: Marks was held down very close, but Wagner made up for this by scoring the majority of points; Poynter played his best game of the season, alternating for Preuss; Spaeth exhibited some of the neatest ball handling of the year; and Strate proved his mettle by holding up a strong defense and shooting goals. There is no doubt whatever that we have the superior team, and Coach Harman verifies this opinion by stating that he was satisfied with the result.

Lineup for the Redwood game:

DECLAMATORY CONTEST WINNERS PICKED

The intra-class elimination contests reveal the following contestants for the Siegel Trophy contest, which will be held in the high school auditorium on the evening of February fourth:

Oratorical section—William Meierding, Senior; Wayne Walrath, Junior; Frederick Meile, Sophomore.

Donald Dannheim deserves special mention for a close second place in the Junior oratorical contest.

Helen E. prefers spotlights.

THREE NEW CHEER LEADERS INTRODUCED

Cheering at the last two basket ball games has been led by three new cheer leaders. These three are John Richard Higgs, Clifford Walrath, and Jack Jordan. Since they are all Freshmen and feel rather bashful, let's help them, by cooperating with them in the yells. Two weeks ago they were introduced to the assembly and gave a sample of their cheer leading. They did very well for the first attempt and are becoming better each time.

WIN FRIDAY'S GAME

Last Friday, the boys took Lambertton through the scenes and nosed them out 25-13. In this game, they showed marked improvement along two lines: defense, and free throw shots.

The first half of the game brought out some fine playing by New Ulm, both in defense and offense; but in the second half the offense loosened up, and neither Marks nor Wagner (who led in the scoring), were able to net any field goals.

Anderson, Lambertton's star center, was successfully held back, during the entire game. In fact, the whole team didn't have a chance against New Ulm's superior scoring and playing.

Spaeth and Strate upheld the defense in fine shape, and Preuss and Poynter alternated at forward position, handling the ball skillfully. The boys made 7 out of 11 free throw shots, their highest percentage this year; Lambertton had as many chances, but only made five of them.

The boys played a superior game in this contest, and only a little improvement is necessary.

The lineup:

New Ulm—	FG	PF	FT	FTM	TP
Preuss, rf	0	1	2	1	2

COMMERCIAL CLUB AT MASQUERADE PARTY

Last week all Shorthand and Typing I students received clever invitations to a masquerade party to be given Wednesday evening, January 28th. The Commercial club, they soon learned, was to be their host.

And what a party it turned out to be! Everybody wore costumes and masks, causing a great deal of excitement as the most comical and most original were to receive prizes.

A program of games, initiation of all newcomers, and dancing, was carried out; a clever skit, entitled "Sofapillo," was put on by a group of Commercial club girls.

The basket ball boys were greatly honored in receiving an invitation to this masquerade party.

Mr. Machula, Miss Leonard, and Miss Blair were the chaperones.

A refreshing lunch was served after

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1931.

WASTING TIME.

The other day we heard a man complaining about wasting time because he had put in a couple of days loafing and enjoying himself very much. He figured he had wasted time because he could have used those days to make quite a little money. Now we figure it the other way; we figure that a great many of us waste valuable time making money, when we might use it enjoying ourselves to beat the band. The finest thing money can buy is pleasure. So if we spend a couple of days and get pleasure in return, it seems to us, we have done a good job of earning.

THE AMERICAN BOY.

EXCHANGE.

It was in a little Spanish town and sweet Adeline was Oh, so blue and all alone because Charlie My Boy was way down upon the Swanee River. It was only yesterday that she said I'm so happy, watch me smile, but he forgot to remember. Now happiness has flown like a bird.

She boarded the old 97, which was yours and mine, and thought her dream train would take her back again, but to her great distress it was all a little white lie, and he was far away.

But at the end of the road a light came shining, for Johnny came marching home singing in the rain, with the peanut vender.

Now everybody's happy and good time's are coming.

Customer: "No, I've changed my mind. I see your cat is asleep in those cranberries."

Grocer: "Oh, that's all right. I don't mind waking the cat up!"

"TO PRESENT A PEN BY THE FEATHER END"

A rare book entitled "School House Architect in the United States," written by Dr. Henry Barnard in 1854 was found recently by L. W. Reese, Ohio State Department of Education. This book contains many pictures and plans of school buildings including a very full description of an octagonal type of schoolhouse. In addition to these plans and designs several pages are devoted to apparatus and equipment for high schools.

Perhaps the most interesting chapter in this book deals with regulations and rules for the conduct of pupils. Complete and careful directions are given the pupils on how to scrape their feet at the door and wipe them on the mats. Several paragraphs deal with how to hang up on hooks, caps and outer garments. Two paragraphs deal with spitting on the floor. An interesting treatise is given on the use of knives. The evils of marking, cutting, scratching, chalking on the school house, fences and walls occupy a whole page. A few of the regulations of 1840, of the famous Chauncey-Hall School, Boston, are interesting. They are divided into two parts—Requisitions and Prohibitions. Among the requisitions were:

Boys are required to be punctual at school.

To scrape their feet on the scraper and to wipe them on every mat they pass over on their way to the hall.

To bow gracefully and respectfully on entering and leaving the hall and any recitation room when a teacher is present.

To quit the neighborhood in a quiet and orderly manner.

To present a pen by the feather end, a knife by the handle, a book right side upward.

To bow on presenting or receiving anything.

To stand while speaking to a teacher.

To fill all vacant time with ciphering.

To point the forefinger of the left hand at each letter or figure of the slip of copy and the feather of the pen toward the right shoulder.

To rest the body on the left arm

FRESHMAN FOLLIES.

In the old days if anyone missed a stagecoach, he was content to wait two or three days. Now he lets out a squawk if he misses a revolving door.

The fellow who invented the first fountain pen is dead and lots of us without realizing it, are wearing mourning on our fingers.

Last Saturday Stanley W. went hunting. His gun was empty, and he was cornered by a wolf. He thought of home and tears came to his eyes. The tears froze hard as rocks. He picked them from his cheeks and rammed them into his gun. He fired—the heat of the explosion melted the tears into a squirt of water which froze into an icy dagger as it hurtled through the cold air. The dagger entered the wolf's head and melted. The wolf died—from water on the brain.

SOPHOMORE SINS.

Willibald: "I brought that last pair of trousers to be resealed; you know I sit a lot."

Tailor: "Yes, and perhaps you have brought your bill to be receipted; you know I've stood a lot."

Donald: "I want to marry your daughter."

Mr. Schleuder: "Have you seen my wife yet?"

Donald: "Yes, but nevertheless, I prefer your daughter."

Captain: "All hands on deck. The ship is leaking."

Dennis (from the hold): "Aw, put a pan under it and come to bed."

Jimmy: "Are you quite sure this won't shrink if it gets wet?"

Storekeeper: "My frendt, effery fire company in the city has squirted water on dot suit."

Agent: "How do you like your electric washer?"

Jeanette: "Not so good, every time I get into the thing the paddles knock me off my feet."

"Are you quite sure Frederick was drunk?"

"Well, your honor, I saw him put a penny in the patrol box on the corner and look up at the Lutheran church and roar. Heavens! I've lost 14 pounds."

JUNIOR JOTS.

Revised Edition of Hall of Fame, 1930-31.

Richard Hauenstein—A miniature kind of Hauenstein's Special.

Charles O'Malley—A pocket edition of what the well-dressed man will wear in 1932.

Blanche Pohl—1931 model of the talking machine.

Erv Hamann—An old model of a sky scraper.

Wayne Walrath—Newest edition of Patrick Henry.

John Johnson—1931's model for the Lucky Strike signboard, "Avoid that future shadow."

Malke Hippert—New model of the world's greatest lover.

"Spike" Nehls—A new form of amusement in N. U. H. S.

Peggy Swartz and Katherine Eichten—1931's Siamese twins.

Gretchen Kretsch—Danger of the enlargement of the next generation's jaws, due to gum chewing.

Billy Mather and Carl Aufderheide—Members of the famous Clear Lake ice boat.

Willibald Bianchi—1930's master farmer.

Donald D.—1930's most modest boaster.

Joe Bianchi—The plum to the plumber's eye.

SENIOR SHORTS.

So many Freshies have been wanting to know what the intelligence test the Seniors had last week was all about. Here is just a sample of the hardest questions:

I. Directions—Mark the one you like best.

1. What is the main purpose of lightning rods?

To save the house from being struck more than once.

To separate the thunder from the lightning.

To catch in Santa Claus' trousers.

2. If the canary doesn't sing, it is because

It has tonsillitis.

It has been called out on strike.

It needs a new needle.

3. Why does water freeze in winter?

To oblige the ice companies.

Because we all do.

Because it refuses to wear heavy underclothing.

II. Underline the word or phrase in the following sentence that best finishes the sentence:

Asbestos is the capital of Greece, Armenia, Korea, Siberia.

Hannibal, crossing the Delaware on elephant back, remarked, "Lafayette, we are here," "Don't shoot until you see the whites of their eyes," "Give me liberty or give me death."

Mary Pickford is a famous race-horse, vampire, breakfast food, steam-boat.

Chimneys are used in manicuring, religion, vocal culture.

"Cheese it" is a term used in billiards, rabbit hunting, architecture.

Fur is obtained from mines, quarries, elephants, bamboo trees.

III. Do what it says:

1. Here are five lines: _____

On the first, do nothing; on the second, don't do anything at all; on the third and fourth, do what you did in the first, and on the fifth, use your own judgment.

2. Write the alphabet backwards. If "t" comes before "s," erase what you have written and do it over again.

3. Cross out all the "c's" in the following sentence: "Jump up, John," said his wife pleasantly, "and bring me a pretzel and a glass of beer."

He rushed wildly through the hall. His face was contorted. Foam dripped from his lips. Children leaped from his path. He looked like a man gone mad. Finally he shouted, "Say, can't a fellow even brush his teeth any more without the water being cut off?"

New Blonde (at a distance): "Who is that cute boy coming?"

Jo B.: "That's no cute boy, that's Charlie Poynter."

SOCIETY COLUMN.

The Hagberg's entertained royally at their country estate on the evening of Saturday, the twenty-fourth. Scores of "eligible" debutantes were present. Bridge, dancing and games were the means of recreation.

Friends of Betty Watson are very sorry to see her leave. She'll have to write to us all often.

Jean Thro was a weekend guest of Josephine Bianchi. She was also one of a party of four who spent Saturday morning at the college skating pond, and who attended the Hagberg party.

Preparations are being made for the Military ball. Girls are all "a-flurry" about that certain peach or rose satin. Evidently it will be the event of the season.

CAMP FIRE FLICKERS.

At a recent business meeting, the officers for the new year were elected. Virginia Hintz, is our new president; Helen Hagberg, treasurer; Peggy Swartz, secretary; Judith Bieber, song leader; and Jeanne Milliman, scroll.

Renola Frank is our only retiring officer. Alice Olson and Inez Swartz continue as honorary members.

Tuesday at 4:30 another meeting was held. Here plans were made for the season's activities. It is beginning to look as though we'll have a lot of money to spend for camping expenses.

A Candy sale was held at the Emerson building, Friday p. m. The grade youngsters were all willing to aid in our great cause—On to camp!

GOSSIP.

(By Sniff and Snoop.)

We hear (also see) that a certain girl in the Sophomore class has gone on long walks with a newcomer in the Junior class.

Charles O'Malley states that he must have a new girl friend, since Betty has left. Here's your chance, girls! Send telegrams prepaid.

Despite the mark "Spike" got on his recent poem on "Blondes," he still maintains that he prefers them. After vast research, we have been able to find only one boy that prefers brunettes, and that's "Ammy" Preuss.

Since he had been to Montreal for a week-end, a young American was very fond of airing his small knowledge of French. On leaving his friend one evening, he said, "Au revoir."

"What do you mean?" asked his friend.

"I mean good-bye—'au revoir' is goodbye in the French language."

"Oh, I see; well, prussic acid to you."

"What do you mean?"

"That means goodbye in any language," said his friend with a grin.

A fat woman elbowed her way through the crowd, jabbing first one person and then another. Finally she gave one man an unusually hard thump, and asked, "I say, does it make any difference which car I take to Mount Royal Cemetery?"

"Not to me, madam," was the reply.

A rookie received a severe lecture one day from his sergeant. The next day he passed the sergeant without saluting. "Hey, youse, why don't you salute me?" yelled the sergeant.

"Aw," said the rookie, "I thought you was still mad at me."

The human brain is a wonderful organ. It starts working as soon as we wake in the morning and never stops till we get to school.

Mr. Harman: "Can you prove that the square of the hypotenuse is equal to the sum of the squares of the two sides of this triangle?"

David: "I don't have to prove it; I admit it."
