FIELD MEET TO BE STAGED AT FAIR GROUNDS

MUSIC CONTEST IS TOMORROW

About sixty people from our high school will take part in the music contest at Mankato tomorrow. This year the orchestra, which has not entered any contest for the past few years, will again participate.

This year, unlike others, there will be no contest for soloists—instrumental or vocal. However, to take the place of this, there are to be special groups, girls' trio, string quintets, etc.

A special train has been chartered for contestants from Sleepy Eye and New Ulm. The train is to leave New Ulm about 7:30 in the morning. The first event which New Ulm will enter is to take place at 9:25.

NEW ULM RECEIVES HONORS AT REDWOOD

New Ulm again took the honors away from Redwood Falls. This time, however, it was in typing and shorthand. At the contest held at Redwood, three schools were represented: New Ulm, Redwood, and Renville. In advanced typing, Marion Pfaender won first place and Judith Bieber second. In shorthand, Loretta Glaser won first and Marion second. Redwood Falls won first place in typing I, but Alice Duin got second place. New Ulm, therefore, lost only one possible place, first in typing I, and received a total of 19 points as compared to 8 for Redwood Falls and 6 for Renville.

Those who won first and second places in this contest may now take part in the state contest which is to be held tomorrow, May 2nd at the University of Minnesota.

AWARD NIGHT TO BE HELD ON MAY 15

Friday night, May 15, has been chosen for Award night. There are to be no classes that evening as there have been in other years, but there is to be a program, including some musical numbers. As is customary, the projects made in the different classes will be displayed, together with the articles made in Home Economics and Manual Training.

The following are the awards to be presented that evening:

1. Letters for honor points.
2. Letters for athletic awards.
3. Service sweaters presented by N. U. club to graduating Seniors.
4. D. A. R. medals.
5. Josten trophy and medals.
6. American Legion trophies.

WINNERS OF BREAD BAKING CONTEST ANNOUNCED

The Eagle Roller Mill bread baking contest was held last Wednesday in the Home Economics department. This year there were thirty-three girls who participated in the contest of which the following received prizes:

1st prize, $5.00—Mary Mueller.

2nd prize, $3.00—Mae Jule Arbes, Edna Engel, Gladys Manderfeld, Thusnela Frank.

3rd prize, $2.00—Virginia Hintz, Myrtle Nelson, Harriet Wischstadt, Muriel Barnell.

Miss Gleason, from the Eagle Roller Mill, judged the bread.

This contest is held every spring and is open to all girls taking Home Economics. The prizes from the contest will be awarded May 15, award night.

HOME EC. TEA ROOM PROVES A SUCCESS

The Home Economic's Tea-Room, which was opened for one day last week, proved quite successful. Small tables were arranged in the teachers' room and in the dining room from which one could order a variety of pies, cakes, and sandwiches.

The money which was made from the Tea-Room will go towards paying for equipment which was bought in the fall.

The next time there is a Tea-Room, a special invitation will have to be extended to the boys of the N. U. H. S. as they certainly were too bashful to come to the last one.

There are trees in California so tall that it takes two men and a boy to look to the top of them. One looks till he gets tired, and another commences where he left off.

MR. HEIM DIRECTS FIRST ALL-SCHOOL ATHLETIC EVENT.

Today will be held the first all-school athletic event that New Ulm has ever seen. It is a field and play day at the Fair grounds, under the able supervision of Mr. Heim, physical director of the school.

This event will include all classes, with representation in various activities, such as relays, kittenball, volley ball, etc. The main event of the day will be mass exercises by all classes.

Mr. Heim has worked industriously for the success of Field day, and is to be congratulated on his efforts. He has inaugurated a new era of athletics in this school which tends to be a great success.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY DRAWS LARGE CROWD

Thursday night the Senior Class of 1931 presented their annual class play, which was "The Family Upstairs." It was the most "true to life" depiction of family affairs that one could expect to see. What, with mother (Josephine Bianchi) keeping time for Anabelle's (Jeanne Milliman) practicing and beating up a cake at the same time, Willie (Raymond Christianson) calling up his girl on the sly, and father (Donald Fehlhaber) making attempts to manage the family, could be a truer conception of family life?

Donald Fehlhaber's characterization of the father was extraordinarily good. Between his worrying over his wife's gall stones and his son's failure to get a job, he was constantly kept busy. His wife, Emma (Josephine Bianchi), portrayed all that a mother is in her efforts to "catch" a husband for her pretty and clever daughter, Louise (Marion Pfaender), much to Louise's disgust. Annabelle, the twelve-year-old daughter (Jeanne Milliman), helped to make the family life realistic by her attempts to get out of practicing her piano lessons.

Who hasn't a brother like Willie (Raymond Christianson) in their own family? He certainly played the part of a good-looking seventeen-year-old boy with all of the neighborhood girls crazy about him.

SPRING.

We had a mild winter, and we wondered a time or two whether it would spoil spring for us. It didn't. When Old Man March came along, and ran the snows down the creek, and started red buds on the maples, we got to feeling coltish. And then we saw a yellow crocus sticking its head through green grass, and we went out and danced a downright jig..... There's a lot more to spring than March mud. There's a warm breeze that loosens up a fellow's throwing arm, and there's the exact shade of blue in the sky that brings bathing suits out of moth balls. There's a springiness in the turf, too, and a clean smell to things that gets right into your blood. If we had our way we'd have spring go along for about two months, then start the record again and have the same thing right over. The trouble, though, is that we feel the same way regularly four times a year. The other times are winter, summer, and fall. There's nothing quite like any of them while they're here.—American Boy.

THOUGHTS WHILE IDLING.

It won't be long now. I can see those state boards in my sleep. A certain young man about town seems to have Pfaender's and Wicherski's phone numbers mixed—We wonder why? Katherine Stuebe looks so sad. Cheer up! Spring is here! N. U. H. S.'s ideal romance is still on the rocks. Can't you patch it up some way, Peg and Rolly? Charley Poynter has asked so many young ladies to the Prom—It's beginning to look fishy. Vernie Bolstad's motorcycle is the envy of the entire student body. It surely adds a lot to the conglomeration of vehicles behind the high school. Everyone who ate at the Home Ec tea room Thursday was perfectly satisfied with his purchases. The cherry pie was ——— swell! If you hear that the sewing room has been raided by Federal Prohibition agents, don't be surprised. Someone spilled the alcohol—and not a small amount either.

Joe has a new permanent. It seems as tho Tommie will be down for the Class play.

The hero of the race track—Lewis Runck, has fallen for a cute blonde who attends the Lutheran school. They can be observed any of these beautiful spring evenings, going around corners on two wheels.

Althea and Howard play pool every evening up at Schroecks. Bet it's a lot of fun.

FRESHMAN FOLLIES.

Won't we hate to leave school for three months? I wonder if we'll be able to remain out of school that long. Most of us can't get enough of it, you know. Take Charles B., for instance; he'd rather go to school this summer than swim.

Some of the typing students are becoming so speedy on the typewriter that they need a watercooled typewriter with an asbestos ribbon.

Howard A. has turned a little child again. He has a sandpile, a toy truck, and a racking house. Yesterday he ate a handful of mud, one of coal dust, a portion of his sandpile, a button hook, and a box of safety matches. He says he intends to turn ostrich.

Mr. Harman during a general science review asked Marvin E. what caused dew. "Well, the earth revolves on its axis every 24 hours," stuttered Marvin. "Consequently, in keeping this tremendous pace, it prespires freely, causing dew."

For the last three weeks Harold H. has been working on an invention. At last he has completed his work. We always knew he had the brains to do something in the line of inventing. He has invented a zipper fastener for string beans.

SOPHOMORE SINS.

I interviewed the following as to what they intend to be when they have been graduated. Look at the results:

- George F.—A lawyer. (Ask Miss McGee if he wouldn't make a good one.)
- Elmer K.—A movie actor. (Gary Cooper II.)
- Jimmy H.—A professor.
- Stanley H.—A minister.
- Ora S.—A toe dancer.
- Frank M.—An algebra teacher.
- Vera L.—A Ford dealer.
- Dennis G.—A dog catcher.
- Charles—An aviator.
- Arthur F.—An animal trainer.
- Alfred B.—A true story writer.
- Theo H.—A nun.
- Ruth S.—A flapper.
- Willibald B.—A prize fighter.
- Leo S.—A gigolo.
- Virginia F.—A matron of a dog hospital.
- Marjorie S.—A blues singer.
- Jane M.—A home economics teacher.
- Myrtle G.—A beauty specialist.
- Marie W.—A good wife.
- Walter C.—A traveling salesman.
- Alys P.—A physical education instructor.
- Gerhard R.—A scientist.

Don't worry if your lessons are poor,
And your marks are few.
Remember that the mighty oak,
Was once a nut like you.

JUNIOR JOTS.

- Quite a problem for the fair sex!
- Problem 1. To have or not have—Long Hair.
 - Problem 2. To go or not to go to—The reception.
 - Problem 3. To indulge in or not to indulge in—Sundaes after school.
 - Problem 4. To buy or not to buy—Long dresses.
 - Problem 5. To reach for or not to reach for—A Lucky. (Problems 4 and 5 are being debated since some of us have to compete with our more fortunate "perfect 36" sisters.)

Problem 6. To use or not to use—Cosmetics.

Problem 7. To punish or not to punish—Boy friends.

Problem 8. To be or not to be—Forgiving.

Problem 9. To take or not to take—Slams.

Problem 10. To touch or not to touch—Frogs in Biol.

We Juniors were feeling the financial depression, but we finally collected class dues.

There seems to be depression in heaven too—the sun never shines anymore!

The girls in the 4th and 5th period quite successfully and gracefully witnessed the dissection of a frog. This certainly goes to prove that we have unjustly been christened the weaker sex. John Johnson (imagine John!), for instance, was standing on a chair to be farther removed from the gruesome sight!

Richard L. advises all the Juniors to take a long needed rest—I fully agree with him!

SENIOR NOTES.

The class play is over, and the cast and Miss Ritt are relieved of the tension that always goes with the last night of rehearsal; tradition says this is usually a flop. Louise got a husband at last and Ma has stopped worrying, at least till Annabell grows up. We, however, believe Annabell will cause little trouble, as she is already well on her way.

Why is everyone calling Donald F. "Lily." Funny, he doesn't act or look like a lily.

Miss Sogn called Lily, and Donald answered.

Miss Sogn: "Is your name Lily?"

D. F.: "My second name is."

"Well then," said Miss Sogn, "Donald Lily, explain this," which the newly christened Senior did.

Sarcasm on the Forthcoming Prom. Discovered—that there are fully two times as many girls as boys in the Senior class.

Revealed—That the boys have decided to stag it. (Keeps us from wasting No's.)

Suggestion—That the gym be divided so that the boys can be on one side and the girls on the other.

Hope—That the eats are good so the Senior widows will get a kick of that at least.

The Juniors are hard at work on the Junior-Senior reception which is to be held in the high school gymnasium, May 9th. Miss Westling and Miss Ludwig have chosen the following committees:

Food Committee—Laura Loeffler, chairman, Evelyn Larson, Helen Esser, Alice Milliman, Alice Duin, Florence Reitter, Rosella Theurer, Rose Albrecht, Edna Zimmerman, Mildred Gulden, Marguerite Hauenstein, Marion Schmid, and Katherine Steube.

Decorating committee—Carl Aufderheide.

Donald P. (snuffing): "I have a cold or something in my head."

Miss Ritt: "A cold, undoubtedly."

"Katherine, you say Babe is a good driver? Railroad crossings are so dangerous, you know."

"Oh, mother, he's wonderful at crossings. The way he takes you over them you can't tell whether a train's hit you or not."

"I hear Jake is in the hospital."

"Yes, he got caught in the rain and tried to economize by not taking a taxi and got pneumonia."

"And Joe is in the hospital, too."

"Yes, he took a taxi."

John Richard: "Father, what is personality?"

Father: "It's that something which keeps you from looking the way you feel in an Austin."

A fat woman elbowed her way through the crowd, jabbing just one person and then another. Finally, she gave one man an unusually hard thump, and asked, "I say, does it make any difference which car I take to Mount Royal cemetery?"

"Not to me, madam," was the reply.

Conductor: "Change for Marietta. Change for Marietta."

Hick Passenger: "Don't know who the girl is, but I'll chip in a dime."

Husband (feeling a twinge in the back, while he is tuning in the wireless receiver): "I believe I'm getting lumbago."

Wife: "What's the use? You won't be able to understand a word they say."

Once a Scotchman didn't go to a banquet because he didn't know what the word gratis on the invitation meant. The next day he was found dead before an open dictionary.

Bill B. went to call on Georgie F. one night. When he got there he found the following note: "If I'm studying when you get here, wake me up."

Busting open the door marked "Private," the butcher confronted the local lawyer.

"If a dog steals a piece of meat from my shop, is the owner liable?" he asked the man behind the desk.

"Certainly," replied the lawyer.

"Very well, your dog took a piece of steak worth half a dollar about five minutes ago."

"Indeed," he returned. "Then if you give me the other half, that will cover my fee."

He: "What makes you think I wasn't behaving last night?"

She: "Your wife said you were trying to get the cuckoo clock and the canary to sing a duet."

From an esteemed Buffalo contemporary:

"A bottle of water collected from the seven seas and two canals, in the hands of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, christened the vessel as she gracefully glided down the ways into the James river."

We've known right along that Mrs. Hoover was a busy woman, but we never dreamed her hands were as full as all that, and we do wish we could have been there. It must have been thrilling to see the First Lady glide gracefully down the ways into the James river.

Father: "What does '60' on your grade card mean, Edgar?"

Edgar: "Oh—er—that must—that must have been the temperature in the room where I took the test."

She's the sort of woman whose face reminds you of Whitman's poetry. The lines are so deep.

Althea: "Look, how dirty those players are getting."

Howard: "What do you think we have a 'scrub' team for?"

Richard H.: "I've helped to solve the traffic problem."

Ernie: "How's that?"

Richard: "I've sold my car."

Donald: "Would you ever object to my going with someone intellectually my inferior?"

Father: "If possible, yes!"

"A chicken, please."

"Do you want a pullet?"

"No, I want to carry it."

Clarence R.: "Was my 'Slumber Song' effective?"

Mr. Halling: "Very, I went to sleep after the first verse."

Richard: "John is not nearly as big a fool as he used to be."

Ernie: "Why, has he reformed?"

Richard: "No, he's been dieting."

arding) certainly had "it." Who could blame Louise for being disgusted with her family when they almost shattered her romance.

With a good supporting cast, consisting of Bertha Lonning, who played the part of Mrs. Grant; Clifford Walrath, Charles Grant's younger brother, and Gertrude Dubbe, who took the part of Miss Calahan, a dressmaker, the play met the approval and delight of everyone.

Miss Ritt and the cast certainly are to be congratulated on the fine showing they made in presenting "The Family Upstairs."

Approximately $75 was cleared on the play.
