

NEW ULM WINS DISTRICT MEET

JUNIORS ENTERTAIN SENIORS, SATURDAY

Last Saturday evening, May 9, the Seniors were ceremoniously entertained by the Juniors at the annual reception. The guests were escorted from a rainy May evening of the North to a balmy summer night of Mexico's desert. The desert scenes were harmoniously carried out by the use of cactus in the center of each table and the shrubbery silhouetted around the gym's edge." The color scheme of the menu cards and dance programs also reminded you of a dry sandy place. The colorful blanket, the tasselled hat, and the pale moonlight added to the general atmosphere of the land of tomorrow. The crowd at the old stone well, which yielded delicious punch, looked like the discovery of a spring in the desert. Last, but not least, the orchestra was superb for the occasion.

The dinner was duly served by the charming young Sophomore waiters and waitresses. No doubt, Donald Rice is N. U. H. S.'s most promising waiter.

The Seniors were given a hearty welcome by the Junior Class President, Doyle Spaeth. The Seniors responded by having President Meierding tell us all what "Bien Venido" meant and it wasn't beans at all. Principal H. G. Dirks, Superintendent Andreen and Dr. C. A. Hintz all did their duty in giving us after dinner speeches; and Mr. E. A. Stoll gave us a solo.

A splendid array of the last word in gowns was displayed to perfection by the Senioritas, and everybody had a wonderful time. However, some girls were sadly disappointed because they didn't have the last few dances—ask them why.

Perhaps the first one to leave the entertainment was Dick Hauenstein. Maybe he realized that this was the safest way to prevent a revolution or a bull fight. We don't know what his motto was, but he was reported to have been home by 10 bells.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETS

May 19, Tuesday, the last meeting of the Commercial club was held. Mr. Heim talked to us about The Physical Education of a Business Girl. This was finished up with a talk on business etiquette by Hertha Penkert.

This club is going to have a powwow on Wednesday at Hunter's Rest. According to the preparations a good time should be had by all. Maybe some of us shouldn't attend that pow-

Eight Records Shattered In Track Events

Coach Harman's track team again ran away with the district track meet, held here last Saturday. Against competition of seven schools, New Ulm scored 46½ points to win first place, while Redwood Falls took second with 32.

This meet was a very spectacular one, due to the fact that eight records were broken in it. The records made were:

100-yard dash—10.5 sec., Tom Flynn, Redwood Falls.

440-yard dash—57.9 sec., Holm, Gaylord.

220-yard dash—24.1 sec., Flinn, Redwood Falls.

880-yard run—2:12.2, Schmitt, Gaylord.

High Jump—5 ft. 6½ in., Cuff, Redwood Falls.

Broad Jump—20 feet, Cuff, Redwood Falls.

Discus—100 ft., 1 in., Olson, Franklin.

MUSIC CONTEST HELD AT MANKATO

Saturday, May 2, the district music contest was held at Mankato. Most of the contestants went down by train, but the trip lacked the pep and vigor so outstanding last year. Not so many "puppy love" affairs developed this year as last year.

The Girls' Glee club placed second in their event. No further places were secured. However, the boys did bring home a lot of souvenirs, such as knives, forks, spoons, and menu cards.

HOME EC. CLASS GOES TO EIBNER'S

Two weeks ago the cooking class of the Home Ec. department was taken through Eibner's. First, they were shown the Bakery. Here the men had just put the bread in the huge ovens and were preparing rolls for baking. Others were making raised doughnuts which were hung on rods until cool. The cooperative and systematic working of the bakers was soon noticed by all of the girls.

Next, they were taken to the place where the ice cream is manufactured. Here they saw the different processes in mixing and freezing the ice cream.

Javelin—153 ft., 2 in., Cuff, Redwood Falls.

Cuff of Redwood Falls made high points of the meet, with Preuss coming in a close second. New Ulm took only two first places, Jahnke in the high hurdles and Poynter in the pole vault; but the team was so well-balanced that in almost every event New Ulm placed high.

The results were:

100-yard high hurdles—1st, Jahnke, New Ulm; 2nd and 3rd (tie), Wilhite, Sleepy Eye, and Brown, Winthrop; 4th, Schuett, Gaylord. Time 19.7 sec.

220-yard low hurdles: 1st. Doerre, Gaylord; 2nd, Matti, New Ulm; 3rd, Willhite, Sleepy Eye; 4th, Jahnke, New Ulm.

100-yard dash: 1st, Flynn, Redwood Falls; 2nd, Johnson, New Ulm; 3rd, Preuss, New Ulm; 4th, Aakert, New Ulm. Time 20.7 sec.

220-yard dash: 1st, Flynn, Redwood Falls. (Continued on page 4.)

BIOLOGY CLASS GOES ON FIELD TRIP

On Monday, May 4, the Biology class went on its annual visit to Camel's Back.

Flowers and birds were the objects they were looking for, but what they found was a supply of snakes. Ask Catherine S. about it; she knows.

Did you know that Alfred Buechner is the official coat rack for the school? Catch on!!

CROSS COUNTRY RUN HELD

Last Friday Coach Harman held the annual cross-country run, on a course from the air port to the high school. Thirty-five boys took part in it and Arthur Fussner, a Sophomore, came in first, with Billy Bockus bringing in a close second. Both of these boys ran a beautiful race.

The boys who came in next, were: Huelskamp, 3rd; Bienemann, 4th; Bianchi, 5th, and Pfaender, 6th.

Arthur Fussner was presented with a gold track shoe, Friday night, donated by Mr. Harman. This race tends to be an annual event of great importance.

AWARD NIGHT

HELD MAY 15

The Annual Award night was held in the assembly on Friday evening, May 15. The following program was carried out:

Selection by the Boys' Glee club. Home Economics Awards. The Eagle Roller Mill bread baking contest winners, which have been announced in the previous issue of the Graphos, received their awards from the Mill with an additional five dollars donated by Mr. Eibner and divided among the winners.

Bee Hive Garment Making Contest—1st, Eleanor Nelson, $5; 2nd, Adeline Zeise, $3.50; 3rd, Virginia Schultz, $2.50; 4th, Mary Mueller, $2; 5th, Myrtle Nelson, $1; 6th, Viola Harmening, $1.

Athletic Awards by Mr. Harman. Sweaters donated by N. U. club for Seniors—Charles Poynter, Roland son Strate. Football Letters—Doyle Spaeth, Eldred Bieke, Leander Reinhart, Donald Dannheim, Armand Preuss, Elmer Nehls, William Mather, Elmer Kading, Willard Emmerich, and Edward Schneider.

Basketball Awards. The following received service bars—Doyle Spaeth, Willard Emmerich, and Armand Preuss.

Letter was awarded to student manager of athletics—Joseph Buchl.

Gold track shoe was awarded to Arthur Fussner, winner of the cross country run.

Selection by Boys' Glee club. Special Awards by Mr. H. G. Dirks: (a) American Legion Cups and Pins—Marion Pfaender, and Charles Poynter.

(b) Stewart Trophy—William Meierding.

(c) Eckstein Trophy (excellence in music)—Judith Bieber.

(d) D. A. R. Medals—Marion Schmid, and William Mather.

(e) Josten Trophy and Medals—Marion Pfaender and Charles Poynter.

(f) Vogel Latin Trophy—Latin I, Winfield Backer. Latin II, Ora Schleuder.

(g) Letters for Extra-Curricular Activities—Charles Poynter, Judith Bieber, and Josephine Bianchi.

After the awards, everybody was invited to look at the exhibit of the special departments in the High School Gymnasium.

Virginia: "Father, I believe there's someone in the pantry after the pie I baked."

Father: "Oh, it's all right if he doesn't die in the house."

WHO'S WHO IN 1941?

Among the celebrities listed in this year's "Who's Who" the Class of '31 boasts an admirable record. Everyone has excelled in his profession to such an extent that the publishers of this famous year book thought it fitting and proper that we dedicate this article to them.

Altmann, Irene—Leading fashion expert in a Paris salon. She is the clever woman who put organdy gowns on the map.

Arbes, Mae Jule—Authoress of "What I Know About Men." It was awarded the $10,000 Zupfer prize in 1939.

Berg, Loretta—Famous artist and sculptor. Creator of the painting, "Dance at Dawn."

Bianchi, J. C.—Owner of the well-known "Purple Blossom" night club in Essig.

Bieber, Judith—Private secretary to the president of the Wilfahrt Tire Co. in New Ulm.

Bjorneberg, Joyce—Latin instructor at Stanford. She has just completed a revision of the Odyssey.

Boock, Alice—Head dairymaid at Dannheim's dairy.

Christiansen, Raymond—Mayor of Essig, who is now seeking a cabinet job in Washington.

Dubbe, Gertrude—Owner of the famous "Fifi Dog Kennels" in London.

Eyrich, Ernest—Multi-millionaire. Owns twelve diamond mines in Kimberley.

Fehlhaber, Donald—One of the team of Fehlhaber and Hippert stock company, now touring Australia.

Fredrickson, Nina—Writes testimonial letters for "Sunny Gold" henna hair rinse.

Glaser, Loretta—Business executive and holder of woman's record for speed in typing. 145 words per minute.

Guth, Mabel—Modern exponent of flaming youth. She dances in the Fussner Follies.

Hagberg, Helen—Manufacturer of Hagberg beauty aids and author of "How to keep that school girl complex."

Hamann, Erv.—Just a Gigolo.

Hauenstein, Richard—Author of "How I wrecked two Chevrolets in one year."

Heisler, Bernadine—Lectures over WCMX every Tuesday morning on "How to play bridge as it should be played."

Hermerding, Martha—Private secretary to president of Automatic Rolling Pin factory.

Hintz, Virginia—Head dietician at the Dogtooth Violet Memorial hospital in Hindustan.

Hippert, Malker—The Negro comedian in Fehlhaber's stock company.

Keute, Audrey—Successor to "Tante" Meyer, now called "Tante" Keute by the pupils.

Janni, Ellen—Runs a repair shop for old violins, razor blades, and broken glasses.

Kloeckl, Veronica—Owner of famous collection of English notebooks for high school pupils.

Kokesh, Walter—Hailed as the second John Gilbert. Now starring in "Six Heavenly Weeks."

Larson, Lily—Holds speed record for women's races in Austinettes. Her record was 532 miles per hour at Daytona Beach last year.

Larson, Lloyd—Originator of the famous saying, "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar."

Larson, Mae—The new Marie Dressler of the movies. Just finished "Her One and Only."

Lonning, Bertha—Salvation Army worker and national president of the W. C. T. U.

Meierding, William—Present candidate for governor of South Dakota on the Farmer-Labor ticket.

Milliman, Jeanne—Chief designer of the fashion quarterly, "What the Well Dressed Infant Will Wear."

Miller, Alice—Now starring in the stage hit of '41 in "Only a Blonde."

Miller, Elinora—Dean of women in the Brainstorm seminary in Milford.

Muesing, Roland—Horse doctor of the well-known "Purple Blossom" night club in Essig.

Nun, Alfred—Has taken possession of all Al Capone's road houses.

Olin, Donald—At present contracting for the huge bridge across Kalb's creek.

Penkert, Herta—Head saleslady for book "How to Become Rich Though a Lady."

Pfaender, Marion—Reporter on "New York Times." She is especially adept at covering murder mysteries in gangland.

Poynter, Charles—Famous juvenile court lawyer and successor to Judge Ben Lindsey. In his spare time he contributes to "Judge" and "College Humor."

Radl, Clarence—Successor to Fritz Kreisler and composer of "Rhapsody in Oranges."

Ring, William—King of the air. Just returned from a non-stop flight to Mars.

Rubischko, Anna and Martha—Now touring Broadway as "Sisters Sweet" in a lively dance number.

Schmidt, Eugene—The young man whose orchestra put Whitman's, Bernie's and Lombardo's off the map. Now playing at the Astoria in Minneapolis.

Strate, Emerson—Head coach at Swan Lake high school. He is famous for his team of fighting farmers.

Swenson, Doris—Latest bride of the famous Mormon chief, none other than little Erv. Hamann.

Vogtel, Charles—Superintendent of schools in Klossner, Minn.

Wicherski, Ruth—Interior decorator.

CLASS HISTORY

Old Sol himself is looking down in all his glory today, and is seeing some remarkable sights. He sees, for instance, the great finish of the race of the Class of 1931—and he starts reminiscing about the start of the race:

"Well, when the starting gun went off, today's Seniors were just little shavers, frolicking around in knee breeches and hair ribbons. I'll never forget innocent little Charlie Poynter, nor devilish little Richard Hauenstein (Richard never did get over a hunting streak in him—from bears to rabbits to the eternal la femme). And speaking of the women, the cherche la femme element in Richard's life was Helen Hagberg, ever since that first day when he brought an apple for the teacher and gave it to Helen instead.

"Mae Jule Arbes and Judith Bieber started out to be the first rate little scrappers, but Mae turned out to be a Model A heart breaker, and Judith breaks the peace with a piano (rather nobly, however). On the whole, grade school seemed to be a lot of fun, but it was in high school that the riot started.

"It was past this half-way mark in the race when the reinforcements arrived, making a Freshman class of about 80. As a whole, they were very meek and obedient to their upper classmen, but occasionally some would get out of line for a while, or others would drop by the way side. However, this seemed to be a relay race, and as one dropped out, the baton was passed on to another.

"In their Junior year the "gang" started to come to the front. Starting with the class play, they showed some pep. The class play 'Miss Somebody Else,' incidentally, was a smashing success, Virginia Hintz taking the role of the charming little Miss Somebody Else. And, of course, the Junior-Senior Prom that year was a glorious success from every point of view, even though afterwards so many cars were stuck in the mud, and so many dainty dresses ruined by the rain.

"The home stretch was finally reached in the Senior year, and, like most Seniors, they were inspired to make a great finish. Their eyes began to open for the first time, and they really saw the goal ahead of them. The Senior Class play brought new laurels, what with Donald Fehlhaber's remarkable characterization and William Meierding's and Marion Pfaender's too realistic love-making.

"As guests at the Prom, the Seniors now had a superb time of it, amid all the Mexican surroundings. Between the faculty and the Senior girls, it seemed the boys had a difficult time of it.

"And now those grand old Seniors are on the home stretch, and are all breaking the tape, neck to neck. And they're finding that the breaking the tape means just the start of another and longer race, to be run alone. In immortal words:

"Whether we meet or whether we part,

For our ways are past our knowing,

SENIOR SKIP DAY.

As the Seniors saw it:
A bright, sunshiny May day.
A picnic—perhaps at Reim's camp.
A lunch—consisting of olives and dill pickles.

As the Seniors spent it:
Half of the class—sleeping.
Remaining half—playing tennis.
Combined—doing nothing.

May the Senior classes hereafter give Mr. Dirks as little cause for concern on Skip Day as this Senior class has done.

The Seniors surely appreciated the wonderful reception the Juniors gave them. We used to think our reception couldn't be beaten; however, we've changed our mind. We all hope that they get as good a reception as they gave us!
