NEW ULM UNDEFEATED, BEATS GLENCOE 13-0

PLAY TO BE GIVEN SOON

The seven members of the Junior play cast, under the direction of Miss Ritt, have been hard at work these last weeks perfecting their parts. The play, "Applesauce," is a three-act comedy of typical small-town folk and will be given Thursday, November 19.

The cast consists of the following: Ma Robinson Marcella Salsman
Pa Robinson Alfred Bechner
Hazel Robinson Jane Mueller
Mrs. Jennie Baldwin Alys Pufahl
Matt McAllister Stanley Hellman
Bill McAllister Charles O'Malley
Rollo Jenkins Frederick Meile
Prompter Altha Schleuder

The property, stage, and business committees, under the direction of Miss Ludwig, Mr. Machula, and Mr. Dirks, respectively, have been assigned their duties and are working hard to help make the play a success.

CAPS AND CAPES ORDERED

The Tuesday Afternoon Bridge club donated fifty dollars, and Eibner & Son five dollars for caps and capes for the band. Measurements were taken Friday so we can expect to see the band dressed in their new costumes in approximately three weeks.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL

AT SLEEPY EYE

November 20 the members of the band and orchestra will go to Sleepy Eye for a Musical Festival, and on December 11 the Sleepy Eye band and orchestra will come to New Ulm, where a Musical Festival will be held at Turner hall.

The two orchestras will play several selections together and one alone. The bands will do likewise.

WHAT IS THE HI-Y?

A Hi-Y club is a group of older high school boys, who, having united in a common and challenging objective, are seeking for themselves and their fellow students the highest standards of life and conduct. Their expressed purpose is "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

This is the starting point and the goal of all true Hi-Y work.

The service of these boys constitutes a truly great adventure, not alone because of what they are to be, but also because of their present contribution to the solution of the problems of boy life. Fiercely tempted, they are gaining personal victories

To Meet St. James, Sat. Nov. 7

Since the last edition, the boys have added two more victories to their list, through the defeat of Madelia and Glencoe. In the first game the Harmanites gave the Madelia team its first defeat of the season. The local team proved to be too much for the hosts, and Coach Harman had an opportunity to save the first-stringers for the Glencoe game. The score of the Madelia game was 26-0. Game by quarters:

First Quarter: The opening of the game was marked by large gains, with Marks and Reinhart carrying the ball. Reinhart soon broke through the line with the ball, scoring the first touchdown. Marks followed with the extra point.

Second Quarter: The second quarter proved to be a repetition of the first, with the local boys featuring in large gains. As in the preceding period, Reinhart, through an end run, carried the ball across the line. The try for extra point was unsuccessful, and the half ended 13-0 in favor of New Ulm.

Third Quarter: With the first play of the third quarter, the local boys again scored. It was a line play, and, with beautiful interference, Marks was able to break lose for a run of 70 yards and a touchdown. A successful try for the extra point, boosted the score to 20-0. Unsatisfied with the count, the boys were determined to score again, and, on a fake pass from Marks to Reinhart, they successfully raised the score to 26-0. With this comfortable lead, Coach Harman began the inserting of his reserves, and, before long, had removed every first string man from the lineup.

Fourth Quarter: Although no scoring occurred in this period, an interesting game was being played, for many of the boys were playing their first game of football. They seemed to know what they were about, for they not only held the Madelia team, but threw them for several losses.

New Ulm-Glencoe.

Playing before one of the largest crowds ever to witness a local football game, the high school team took the powerful Glencoe team into camp, 13-0. Under the generalship of Captain Emmerich the boys decidedly outplayed the visitors throughout the game, and despite a steady drizzle the fans showed a great deal of enthusiasm. The defeat was the first for Glencoe in 18 games, while New Ulm remains unbeaten for the season.

The game started with New Ulm receiving the ball, and threatening to start the game with a touchdown, but the Glencoe boys managed to hold until the second quarter, when Reinhart, through an end run, ran across the line for the first touchdown. The try for extra point was unsuccessful, because of a fumble. The team, since they realized they did not have a large enough score to be certain of the game, continued, with their fast fighting, while Glencoe, trying to avenge herself, fought an equally fast game, with the result that the fans were kept on their feet or fear a slip would occur. However, nothing happened and the teams kept on with their battle through the third quarter, but at the opening of the last period of the game, the local boys showed a new spirit, with the result that they threatened to score several times. Their time came, with Reinhart carrying the ball for a 50-yard run and a touchdown. The team deserves great credit for their teamwork and remarkable consistency, which is shown by the fact that the last touchdown was made with less than a minute of play remaining.

Honors are hard to place, for the entire team showed up remarkably well, but Marks, Reinhart, and Preuss in the backfield starred; the former two as carriers, and Preuss kicking. The work of Capt. Emmerich was exceptional.

SCHOOL.

Books and papers and tests,
That's not school;
Classes and assemblies and study
periods,
That's not school;
Teachers, principals, and superinten-

They're not school;
Laboratories, study halls, auditor-

That's not school;
Why, no!
Friends, pals, chums,
They make school.
Friends who tell us things we want to know,
Friends who can laugh over little
daily incidents,
Friends who release new springs of power and make us realize we're personalities,
Friends who urge us to complete
with them the game of life,
Friends who aid us in the great discoveries of the universe,
They make school!

It was the candidate's first great speech, and he wanted to make it tell,
and wished to end with a warning.
He could have couched his warning in the old proverb about locking the stable door after the horse was stolen, but that was too commonplace.
He wanted something original. He quickly thought of something better.
Then he shouted:

KLASS KRIMES

SENIOR SHORTS.

Strange As It Seems.

Football season is the time of the year when a player has to practice drinking out of a bottle in a crowd, sitting on a cold slab in a gale all afternoon, and wandering around the country trying to remember where he parked the car.

A pipe organ never smokes.

A shoe horn doesn't make noise.

We've learned at last what N. S. F. on checks mean—it means "Not So Fast."

A. Richard is Jane M.'s dad (in the class play).

Some people play bridge without cards (London bridge).

A mouth organ has no false teeth.

A drum head never gets a haircut.

Al Capone's latest theme song is "Time on My Hands."

In N. U. H. S. we have authorities on how not to drive a car—making corners on one wheel.

Some girls use cold cream to protect their lips from the sun.

Coach Nehls is a poet. His best version of N. U. H. S. football is

"Team A's rotten,
Stuffed with cotton;
But my team's dandy
Stuffed with candy."

JUNIOR JOTS.

A Little Bit of Nothing.

Howard F. and Harold H. spend their time calling on Mary M. and Jean V.

Chuck O'Malley favors the north side and contemplates entering the furniture business.

Why is it that Peggy S. cannot study the fifth period and must always stare at the Sophomore row?

Our junior boys on the team did their share in gaining the victory over Glencoe. Congratulations!

Scrambled Radio News.

Mrs. Fisher asked Georgie to copy the radio recipe. He did his best, but he also got another station. One was broadcasting the morning exercises and the other the recipe. This is what he got:

"Hands on hips, place one cup of flour on shoulders, raise knees and depress toes, and wash out thoroughly in one-half cup of milk. In four counts raise the lower legs and mash two hard-boiled eggs in a sieve, repeat six times. Inhale one-half teaspoonful baking powder and one cup of flour, breathe naturally and exhale and sift. Attention, jump to a squatting position and bend white of egg backward and forward over head, and in four counts make a stiff dough that will roll into a marble the size of a walnut. Hop to a standstill in boiling water, but do not boil into a gallop afterwards. In ten minutes remove from fire and dry with a towel, breathe naturally, dress in warm flannels and serve with fish soup."

SOPHOMORE SINS.

John Richard H. and Burdette D. came out of a bruising game of football with Marjorie Haeberle and Dorothy Schleuder last Saturday at the short end of a 44 to 7 score. John Richard made his team's only touchdown on a delayed line buck. Vicious tackling was featured in the game.

Thaxter M. has been seen roaming around the premises of Rauschke's and Schroeck's on Center street.

Jean V. has a host of admirers in the sophomore class. They include "Bibs" M., Jack A., Arley R. and many others. But why go into detail?

The American Federation of Woman Haters, organized in the sophomore class was granted a charter last week. They are hoping for a successful season although some of the charter members already have broken some of the rules. Melvin B., the treasurer, announced that the federation took in 35 cents on a food sale held at Schnobrich's meat market.

A question for debate—"Resolved, that the sophomore girls should not make artificial curls."

FRESHMAN FOLLIES.

Miss Ritt: "Lloyd, I'm going to give you this note to take home to your father about your composition. It was the worst in class."

Lloyd D.: "Well, he was the one one who wrote it."

* * *

Mr. Gulden: "So you interviewed her father last night, eh? Did you make him toe the mark?"

Arnold: "Yes, dad, I was the mark."

* * *

Grace: "Sorry, La Donna, but that job I asked Mr. Braun to give you has been taken."

La Donna: "That so, Grace? I wonder who got it?"

Grace: "Er-ah-ahem! I did!"

We freshman now consider ourselves a part of this great high school and no longer beginners.

SWARTZ TO MEET ESSER NOVEMBER 16.

P. Swartz has finally conceded to meet the fast and furious H. Esser. P. Swartz, who has for the past three years been employed at Picolo Pete's and who is rather rough on all opponents, will give the well-known hair-pulling and hand-biting Esser a ferocious battle, which will, with no doubt, go down in history as "The Battle of the Fems."

All holds will be sanctioned in this "All Feminine Bout." When asked why the battle was not held before, Swartz said, "The only reason we did not fight before is that all holds were to be allowed. I have changed my mind and conceded to fight under this rule, because in the last three years I have managed to master a few of Esser's 'rib-crushers'; during this time I also have put on considerable weight (thanks to Jane Mueller for the diet) which the boney, six-foot Esser could not attain."

When Esser was questioned as to why she was eager to fight Swartz, she calmly replied, "I only want the prize." (Which you all know is R. Hauenstein).

The final outcome of this ferocious combat will be published in the next issue of the Graphos.

Mr. Dirks wishes us to announce that tickets will be sold at his office.

LIFT YOUR VOICE.

If money is hid in a hole in the ground,
Some fellow will filch it when you're not around;
If crammed in a cup on your kitchenette shelf,
It's likely the laundress will lift it herself;
If put in a bank that's respected and trusted,
Some morning the bank will be hopelessly busted;
If put into bonds or conservative shares,
You'll lose every cent to professional bears;
If put into mortgages, buildings or lands,

If sunk in a business, a trade or profession,
Along comes an era of world-wide depression;
Since dollars are wanderers ever on a tour,
Give thanks for your marvelous luck, if you're poor;
Give thanks while you ponder the accidents which Must never befall the unfortunate rich.

The absent-minded professor was busy in his study: "Have you seen this?" said his wife, entering. "There's a report in the paper of your death." "Is that so?" returned the professor without looking up. "We must remember to send a wreath."

Alan: "Mother, I'm not going out tonight."

Mother: "Why, my boy, how come?"

Alan: "Because I'm staying in."

C. Walrath: "I dreamed I was in heaven last night."

R. Heck: "Was I there?"

C. Walrath: "Yes, that's how I knew it was a dream."

Teacher: "What would Washington have done if Lafayette had not answered his call?"

B. Dahl: "I suppose he'd have waited in the telephone booth and got his nickel back."

D. Rice: "I have a wonder watch."

A. Fussner: "A wonder watch. I never heard of that before."

D. Rice: "Well, you see, it's this way. Every time I look at it, I wonder what time it is."

"I can read your mind like a book," the professor droned on. "I can tell just what each of you is thinking."

"Well, why don't you go there?" remarked the cynic in the rear seat.

Greenbaum discovered his friend Einstein kissing his stenographer shortly after Mrs. Einstein's death. He reprimanded him sharply.

"Oy, oy," wailed Einstein, "in my grief, do I know vat I'm doing?"

Toast.

To the young girls: "May they be good, but not too good. The good die young and no one wants a dead one."

To the older girls, but not too old: "For they dye, too, and nobody wants a dyed one."

Children Meet Guest.

Mr. Goodfellow had dined out six nights and on the seventh dined at home. When he was seated Mrs. Goodfellow rose and addressed the other occupants of the table:

"Children, we have with us tonight a guest of whom you have all heard, even if you do not know him personally. He is a man who has a reputation for cheer in every restaurant in this city. This evening we are to have the honor and pleasure of being numbered among the admirers of his brilliant and entertaining qualities. It is with the greatest pleasure that I present to you, your father!"

Boss: "You are asking for a raise, eh?"

Employee: "Yes, sir."

Boss: "Well, give me two good reasons for it."

Employee: "Twins."

The children were learning to say "double" when two of the same letter appeared. They had this sentence: "Up, up, and see the sun rise." Little Johnny read: "Double up and see the sun rise."

Florence: "I wonder if men ever go to heaven?"

Helen: "Why, surely, they do. What makes you think they didn't?"

Florence: "Well, I never saw a picture of an angel with whiskers."

Helen: "Well, I suppose most men get there by a close shave."

Mr. Harman (in biology class): "We will now name all of the lower animals in order, beginning with Jane M."

Lloyd M. says, "When my girl wouldn't kiss me on the river last summer, I paddled her back."

Jones: "How do you spend your income?"

Smith: "Thirty per cent shelter, thirty per cent clothing; 40 per cent food, and twenty per cent amusement."

Smith: "That's right."

seeking opportunities for personal, mental, moral and physical development, and are leading their school-mates into similar transforming achievement.

There is a movement on foot to organize a Hi-Y group in this high school, and because of the excellent work that may be accomplished by such an organization, it should receive all possible encouragement. The purpose of this article is to urge all boys who are interested in such a club to see Mr. Dirks within the next few days to discuss arrangements for organizing.
