New Ulm-Sleepy Eye Win in Sub-District Contest

CONTEST DRAWS LARGE CROWD

The district declamatory contest was held in the high school assembly room, Wednesday evening.

Haven Hose of Sleepy Eye won first place in the oratorical section, his oration being, "Prospects Good." Other awards in the section were the following: Second, Raymond Lindemann, Redwood Falls, "Ropes"; third, Delmar Dahmes, Walnut Grove, "The Curse of Plenty"; and fourth, Raymond A. Johnson, Winthrop, "The Blundering Giant."

Marvel Bakken of Lamberton, who gave "The Valiant," was awarded first place in the dramatic section. Jane Mueller of New Ulm placed second with "The Other Side," while Claudia Estenson of Gaylord, who gave "Daddy Doc," placed third, and Margaret Gunelson of Belview was fourth with "Glory for Sale."

First place in the humorous section went to Catherine Sinclair of Wabasso, who gave "At the Swimming Pool." Other awards in this section were as follows: Second, Rose Jackson, Redwood Falls, "Johnny and Ma at the Picnic"; third, Conrad Schild, Gaylord, "Home Talent Rehearsal," and fourth, Alice Millman, New Ulm, "On Friday Afternoon."

Superintendent Graves of Morton acted as chairman and awarded the trophies, and Miss Mellgren, A. Morris, and T. Nydahl from Mankato State Teachers' college acted as judges. They regarded the contest as one of the closest and best of its kind judged by them for sometime. Every seat in the auditorium was taken, and many people were obliged to stand.

The audience was entertained between the various parts of the program by the high school orchestra, the Little German Band, and the girls' glee club.

WASHINGTON PROGRAM IS GIVEN MONDAY

On Monday morning, Feb. 22, a program was given in the high school assembly room. Dorothy Ann Dirks, appropriately dressed as George Washington, opened the program with a reading. Then a group of Mr. Pfaender's pupils, dressed in colonial costumes, danced a minuet. Music for this dance was furnished by Theo Olsen, piano; Elsie Olsen and Betsy Larson, violins, and Byrll Edmiston, cello. Evelyn Ruth Larson gave a humorous reading in Swedish dialect about George Washington. Lastly, Mr. Stewart gave a talk about Mt. Vernon, and assured us that it is an excellent place for a honeymoon, using specific examples.

We call him a horse because he takes after his fodder.

District Tournament at Springfield, March 4 and 5

Lamberton Noses Out Redwood Falls

At the close of the sub-district tournament Saturday night, competition for the district championship had been cut down to four teams. Sleepy Eye and New Ulm will represent this sub-district, while Lamberton and Morton won their games in the other section.

Friday Night.

The opening round of the local tournament brought Winthrop and Gaylord together. Both teams showed great improvement, and both were determined to win. The lead changed almost with every basket, showing what a close game was being played. However, in the last quarter Gaylord piled up a five-point lead. The Winthrop quint not to be outdone, rallied to nose out their opponents 25-24 as the whistle ended the game. The second game proved to be less interesting, as Sleepy Eye easily outplayed Gibbon 39-10.

In the opening rounds of the tournament at Redwood Falls, Redwood trounced Echo 36-3; Morton nosed out Morgan, 17-15; Lamberton beat Springfield, 22-19; and Belview outplayed Wabasso, 30-8.

Saturday Night.

The opening game brought Fairfax against New Ulm. The Fairfax quint proved to be well-coached and well-balanced, but fell before the onslaught of Coach Harman's purple flashes, 27-18. The second game proved to be the outstanding contest of the local tournament—the matching of the well-coached Winthrop and Sleepy Eye teams. The score of the game, following the course of the Winthrop-Gaylord contest, zig-zagged back and forth, and at the sound of the final gun, the score was tied. In the overtime period, Winthrop made a basket within a few minutes. This was followed by a free throw by Sleepy Eye. With scarcely a half minute remaining, Fischer of Sleepy Eye, sank a basket for that team. The game ended with Sleepy Eye leading by one point.

During this same time, Lamberton beat Redwood Falls for the right to represent that sub-district at the Springfield tournament, while Morton outscored Belview to be the other representative of that section.

Tonight and tomorrow night the four victorious teams will journey to Springfield to determine the championship. Sleepy Eye meets Lamberton at 8 o'clock, Friday night, and New Ulm is matched against Morton at 9 o'clock. Saturday night the two losers meet at 8 o'clock for consolation honors, while the championship game will be held at 9 o'clock. The winner of the last game will go to the regional tournament at Montevideo a week from tonight.

CHARLES E. LOFGREN TO LECTURE HERE

Charles E. Lofgren, who was the personal aide to Rear-Admiral Byrd on his South Pole expedition, is to appear at New Ulm next Tuesday, March 8. Mr. Lofgren is to give a lecture on the Byrd expedition, which is to be illustrated by motion pictures. He will give his lecture at the high school auditorium at three o'clock, Tuesday afternoon. The public is cordially invited to attend. Admission will be twenty-five cents.

Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, Mr. Lofgren will give the lecture at the Dr. Martin Luther College auditorium.

ST. THOMAS STUDENTS ENTERTAIN ASSEMBLY

Last Tuesday afternoon the high school students enjoyed an hour's program given by A. Lester Pierce, registrar of St. Thomas college, and vocational director there. Mr. Pierce

HI-Y MEMBERS INITIATED

Tuesday night a group of Mankato HI-Y members initiated the members of the New Ulm club. At five o'clock, the members of both clubs played a basket ball game, New Ulm defeating Mankato by a score of 16-10. At six o'clock a banquet was served by the home economics department. Following the banquet, a formal initiation of the New Ulm members was staged by the Mankato club.

The New Ulm club now has twenty members. Following are the officers of the club:

President ..... Remund Sandman
Vice-President ..... Donald Dannheim
Secretary ..... Thaxter Miller
Treasurer ..... William Mather

"Just one more glass, boys, and we'll go home," said the dish washer, as he laid down the soap.

The guy that said, "Life is just a bowl of cherries," forgot to add that half of them were rotten!

Then there's the absent-minded professor who turned on his wife and kissed the ignition.

FRIDAY, MARCH 4, 1932.

SPRING.

Spring! The time of year when birds are singing, bees begin to hum, flowers spring up from their winter homes, and all nature is in its glory.

But spring doesn't affect only nature; it also affects people. Farmers can be seen doing their plowing, children are cleaning up the yards, men are planting the gardens, and lastly, but most important, are the lovers. They Goo-Goo and Ga-Ga about everything. On afternoons the parks are full of lovers, the walks and lanes are full of lovers, the beaches are packed with lovers.

Such is life! When you are a baby you Goo-Goo; when you are a child you get more sense; when you are a youth you acquire still more sense;—but when you are a lover, you lose all you ever had, and start in with Goo-Goo again.

A poet said: "If winter comes, can spring be far behind?" but since I'm a pessimist, I say, "If spring comes, can winter be far behind?" I guess only a few years after the marriage.

STUDENT OPINION.

The nicest teachers always give the longest lessons. I guess they just can't be perfect.

I'm going to get myself a husband, not from the north side either.

For the last time, with tears in my eyes, are we going to have any dances?

We've had some good assembly programs lately. I wish we'd have one once a week though. With the talent in our high school, I should think we could have them more often. Any girl who wants my opinion on

Peg: "Life is nothing but a book,—since we know just where to park."

Wayne: "We see through windows, but do windows see through us? Roosters can crow, but can a crow rooster? Writers can read, but can all readers write? We walk on sidewalks, but do sidewalks walk on us?"

Donald: "What we need in the Dairy World for real success is one cow for every grass widow."

B. B. Team: "Would you like to take a walk?"

Bill: "Cobria, Frabria, Sabria—where are you?"

Helen: "Tis better to have loved and lost, than never to have loved at all."

Florence: "John Anderson, my Jo, please don't disappoint me again like that."

Richard: "The guys I'd like to see in tombs, are those who call their gums their gooms."

Eileen: "It's great to be in love."

Eldred: "There's romance in the air, we're such a loving pair."

Babe: "Faint heart never won fair lady—neither did faint praise."

Newly Formed Club: "Eat and be merry."

Nehls: "Don't, my darling, be too sore, if I've used this one before."

Fashion Decree: Two-piece skirts will be worn this spring. Boys aren't interested except possibly in how big the pieces will be.

Girls, do you know it's leap year? Have you taken your best boy friend aside and told him about your ideas of a good time?

A new novel has been published by the noted "Vola Hi Literary club entitled, "Things the People Should Know." In it is told of the things done by well known romancers and their romances. For instance, what Bibs M. does down at Muellers, Thaxter M. down at Betsy L.'s place, Winfield B. over at Olsen's place; Arley R. at Kathryn R.'s place, the "Three Musketeers" (Howard L., Francis O., and Harold H.) down at Byrll E.'s place quite often. Then last, but not least, what do you do when your everything comes to call on you? (Or rather, what you should do). This book may be obtained from Ralph R., honorary member of the Four H club, under the condition that you buy eggs from him.

Judge: "Chester, you're under arrest."

Chester: "Y-Y-Y-Yes, but what for?"

Judge: "For kissing your neighbor's baby after she had eaten her ice cream cone."

FRESHMEN NOTES.

All letter men who wish to get some fine points on dribbling and how to shoot baskets into correct basket are urged to see Marvin Earl, and make arrangements. You are advised to come early to register your entry as there is little room left.

Walter Ratzke, ex-pugilist, spends one-half of his time writing love letters to Elsie Olsen, one-fourth of his time in front of the mirror, beautifying his looks, and the remaining fourth, raising white mice and trying to make a crow talk.

We, freshmen, appreciate the enthusiasm of La Donna S.'s "B.F." in assiting her and Mary Ellen in chewing at basket ball games.

Flapper to Cop at Busy Intersection: "What's the idea, no lights here?"

Guardian of the Law: "I'm the light at this corner, lady."

Her Majesty: "Then turn green so I can cross."

Pat: "What be yer charge for a funeral notice in yer paper?"

Editor: "Fifty cents an inch."

Pat: "Good heavens, an' me poor brother was six feet tall."

Pat: "How's yer husband?"

Mrs. O'Regan: "He's underground now."

Pat: "Shure, I didn't know it. Poor man!"

Mrs. O'Regan: "Faith, he's got a good job in the subway."

Fair Young Thing (as football players go into a huddle): "I'll bet Bob is telling that funny one I told him last night."

"Are you laughing at me?" demanded the irate professor of his class.

"No," came the answer in chorus.

"Well," insisted the professor, "what else is there in the room to laugh at?"

C. W.: "What purpose does that bridge serve on your violin?"

W. B.: "Oh, that's to get my music across."

Mr. Esser: "My son, Leo, has many original ideas."

Miss Ritt: "Yes, especially in spelling."

Judge: "I cannot conceive of a meaner, more cowardly act than yours of deserting your wife. Do you realize that you are a deserter?"

Rastus: "Well, if you all done knowed dat lady as Ah does, boss, yo all sho wouldn't call me no deserter. Ah is a refugee—dat's what Ah is."

Billy: "So your father is a southern planter?"

Betty: "Yes, he's an undertaker in Atlanta."

"You'll fall," cautioned his mother, as Tommy climbed up on the fence.

"No, I won't, mamma; I won't fall," remonstrated Tommy—and at that moment tumbled down with more or less disastrous results. But the young man was nothing daunted.

"Did you see me jump?" he questioned, righting himself hastily.

The little girl was a very timid little soul, and her father was trying to reason her out of her fears. He tried to tell her that there was nothing to fear in mice and frogs and bugs.

"Papa," she asked, "ain't you 'fraid of bugs?"

"No, dear."

"Ain't you 'fraid of snakes?"

"No, dear."

"Papa, ain't you 'fraid of nothing else in the whole world but just mamma?"

The shows have gone from bad to voice.

Mr. Harman: "Give me a definition of 'oboe.'"

Dumbo F.: "It's the ill woodwind that nobody blows good."

He: "One has to know how to help himself. For example, if I say something dumb, I just laugh it off."

She: "So, that explains why you've been so merry this evening."

Miss Blair was trying to make her class understand what a volcano was like. In reviewing the lesson, she drew on the blackboard her own conception of a flaming mountain, using colored crayon with extraordinary effect.

"What is it?" she asked. The pupils shook their puzzled heads. "What does it look like?" pursued Miss Blair. Richard Hauenstein soberly answered: "It looks like hell, ma'am."

Mr. Harman was giving a lecture on "gravity."

"Now, he said, "It is the law of gravity that keeps us on this earth."

"But, please," inquired Elsie Olsen, "how did we stick on before the law was passed?"

"Do you take this woman for better or wurst?"

"Oh, liver along, I never sausage nerve."

"I want a very careful chauffeur—one who doesn't take the slightest risks," warned the would-be employer.

"I'm your man, sir," answered the applicant. "Can I have my salary in advance?"

Grace S.: "We've been waiting a long time for my mother."

Eddie S.: "Hours, I should say."

Grace (rapturously): "Oh, George."
