FOSTER PARENTS SLAY CHILD

On Wednesday night the annual music contest by our musical organizations, was given. The program was a success and the assembly was well filled, which is probably the reason it was successful. During the program a collection was taken up. Mr. Halling has completed the new school song, also the words for it. Anyone, interested in doing so, is invited to go to him and get the music. They may then contribute words. The best set of words will be chosen and used for our school song. The band played the composition at our assembly program, Friday morning.

ELIMINATIONS FOR SIEGEL TROPHY CONTEST IN WEEK

Next week, beginning on Monday, the eliminations for the Siegel Trophy contest are to be held. They will be held on regular practice periods, and all high school students are cordially invited.

On Monday, at 3:30 the sophomore dramatic elimination is to take place. Aleen Alwin will recite "The Alley Cat"; Byrll Edmiston, "Courage"; Theo Olson, "The Young King", and Elsie Olson, "The Perfect Tribute."

Immediately following the sophomore dramatic eliminations the senior dramatic elimination contest will be held. Evelyn Larson will give "The Telltale Heart" and Jane Mueller will offer "Submerged."

Tuesday, at 3:30 the freshman humorous eliminations will be held. Hope Higgs has "Let Brotherly Love Continue," and Kenneth Barnell will give "Day of Judgment."

There will be no eliminations in the sophomore humorous section, because Doris Dahl is the only contestant. The same is true of the junior humorous section. Lorna Frank is the only contestant. Doris will entertain with "Ma" at the P.-T. A. Lorna has also chosen "Let Brotherly Love Continue."

The freshman dramatic eliminations will be at 3:30, on Wednesday. Charline Stuebe will recite "Bobby Unwelcome"; Ruth Furstenau, "The Unwelcome Guest"; Janet Landrum, "The Necklace"; Betty Backer, "Sacrifice"; Irene Jones, "The Selfish Giant"; Lorraine Schuler, "White" (Continued on page 3.)

LOCALS LOSE TO REDWOOD FALLS

The Redwood Falls High School quintet defeated the locals in last Friday's basket ball game by a score of 28-18. The game drew a large crowd of New Ulm fans, and the Redwood team drew about 20 cars from Redwood Falls.

The "Redcoats" team, is composed of big men, ranging in height from five feet nine inches, to six feet two inches. The visiting team played a little over New Ulm's head during the second half and ran ahead about 12 points by the middle of the fourth quarter.

Redwood Falls outpointed New Ulm in the first half, the score being 18 to 6 at the half. The locals outpointed Redwood Falls in the last half, 12 to 10.

The Harmanites are beginning to show more intelligence, and the greenness is beginning to disappear. The locals got off to a bad start this season, but watch them from now on. As soon as a little more polish is applied to the squad, New Ulm will be in the race again.

Gaylord Here Friday.

The strong contestants for the district championship, Gaylord, will play here Friday night at the New Ulm Armory. Game at 8 o'clock.

BURGLARS GET $13

Last Thursday evening several burglars entered the school building through the boys' shower rooms. The lock on the library door was broken and the safe in Superintendent Andreen's office ransacked. About thirteen dollars was taken, but some damage was done. It is thought that this is an outside job because several robberies at other schools like those of Mountain Lake and St. Cloud, have left similar evidence. Now even Miss Holzinger hides her pennies every night for fear the robbers may come back.

SCROUTCHER'S FUR ADDED TO COLLECTION

Elmer Kading, Arthur Fussner, Frank Marti, slaughtered their little adopted son, Scrotcher, Thursday night. The little waif was found in Grandfather Marti's out bin. The foster parents became very fond of the little creature until it began biting them. Then the heartless three cruelly scalped Scrotcher with a razor and mounted his back on a piece of paper and brought it to Miss Blair. Miss Blair would like to add it to her collection of furs, but a rare specimen as this rightfully belongs in the trophy case. Elmer Kading must have repented the horrible deed, which he and his partners in crime committed, because he kept the remaining part of the little body. Funeral arrangements have not been made at present, but if the body is embalmed, I'm sure it will keep until next week. In case Scrotcher is unknown to you, maybe you have been introduced to him under his alias—which is Mouse.

SENIORS DONATE $50 VOCATIONAL LIBRARY

The senior class donated $50 for a set of Monographs, which will assist one in choosing one's career. A special shelf has been set up in the library, where these books may be found. The present seniors will find these monographs interesting, as they will have to decide soon as to what they will do in the future. These monographs should be good for about fifteen years and surely will benefit many. The following is a list of the Research Monographs:

1. Selecting a Career.
 2. Civil Engineering as a Career.
 3. Biological Work as a Career.
 4. Accountancy as a Career.
 5. Interior Decoration as a Career.
 6. Physical Education as a Career.
 7. Law as a Career.
 8. Librarianship as a Career.
 9. Publishing as a Career.
 10. Dentistry as a Career.
 11. Music as a Career.
 12. Architecture as a Career.
 13. Landscape Architecture as a Career.
 14. Commercial and Industrial Art as a Career.
 15. Geological Work as a Career.
 16. Chemistry and Chemical Engineering as a Career.
 17. Advertising as a Career.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 27, 1933.

PRIVATE LIVES.

We found this essay under a senior boy's desk the other day. We thought you might find it interesting:

A Boy's Essay on Girls.

"Girls are very stuckup and dignified in their manner and behavior. They think more of dress and payents than anything else. They cry if they see a cow in a far distance and are afraid of a gun. They stay at home all the time and mow their fate. They are always sick. They are al-ways funny and making funn of the boys. I pity them poor things. They can't play football. They make fun of boys and then turn round and love them. They look out every nite and say, "Oh ain't the moon lovely." Their is one thing I have not told and that is they always now their lessons bettern boys."

I wonder if all the boys—and the girls—agree with the writer.

It seems to be an established custom that at least once a year a list of theme songs shall be chosen for various members of high school.

Here is mine:

"Me Me"—Charles O'Malley.

"Let That Be a Lesson to You"—Theo Hagberg.

"On a Bicycle Built for Two"—Dumbo.

"Three's a Crowd"—Gretchen Kretsch.

"Lonesome Lover"—Frank Marti.

"My Man"—Jean Veeck.

"We Just Couldn't Say Goodbye"—Kate R. and Jim A.

"Me and My Shadow"—Lila Hoffmann.

"I'd Love to Call You My Sweet-heart"—Hope Higgs.

"Let's Do Something Different Tonight"—George Fisher.

"I'm Following You"—Morton Broste.

HERE'S NEWS OF OTHER SCHOOLS.

The school library at Devils Lake, North Dakota, has an addition of fifty new books. The library is just newly organized and far from being complete. In front of each book appears the rules, which the students are expected to follow.

The Forum, a Sunday afternoon gathering of all young people interested in discussing the subjects that are common to them, will be started in the near future by the Senior Hi-Y of Central High school, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

The Kobarger Bible, the oldest printed bible in the state of Texas, was among the rare books displayed during Book Week at Thomas Jefferson High school, San Antonio, Texas. The bible was printed at Nuremberg in 1848 by Antone Kobarger, and the illustrations and decorations were done by hand by the monks and scribes of that century. There are only three identified copies of this bible in America.

The sewing classes of J. Serling Morton High school, Cicero, Illinois, gave talks over the radio on styles of famous periods of history, which made lasting impressions on the styles of today.

Girls' Rifle clubs have been started at Lincoln High school in Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Centennial High school, Pueblo, Colorado.

Three hundred students of the City college of New York called a strike under the leadership of the Social Problems club on a protest against the alleged gagging of student free speech and the dismissal of one of the faculty members.

The weekly publications of the Spectator, runs a Movie Movement column, discussing the motion pictures being shown at the local theatres.

Did you know that good old Santa fills the shoe instead of the proverbial stocking in France? This tip was divulged by Central High Register of Omaha, Nebraska.

DID YOU KNOW?

Lorna, DeEtte and Marcella have worn the same blouse to gym without washing it, and what's more they're going to keep right on wearing them until June.

Mr. Dirks almost danced up the aisle when he heard the new orchestra.

Leonard Tauer doesn't like to admit that he knows what a love lyric is.

Miss Kearns is disgusted with the first period English IV. class.

"It's positively rude to talk when somebody comes in to speak to the teacher." Who gave us that quotation—Emerson or Bacon?

Arno Bergstrom smokes a pipe.

Miss Holzinger lets Donald P. tickle her, and kicks other people out of the library for whispering.

Florence and LaDonna tried to kiss Babe.

Luther Gunberg is the mayor's son.

Marjory S. likes to be teased about a certain John and not Bauer either.

New Ulm High School has two freshman poets. Here is one of their best:

A Walk.

As we were walking in the gloom,
 We saw a sky without a moon,
 And polarus in the northern sky
 Looked down at us from up on high.

As we went on our homeward ways,
 Memories came back from other days,
 Happy and sad thoughts passed as one,

We finally reached home, our journey was done.

CLASS CRIMES

SENIOR SCANDALS.

I thought the boys were beyond the stage of believing anything a girl tells them. I heard Edwin Hage's been walking around with his chest puffed out since the last sunlight dance. It seems three girls kidded him about his handsomeness, and he took it all in! Can you believe it?

I suppose glory and victory in the field of basket ball is only history now! If only several of the players would decide to study so as to be eligible for a change, we could stage a comeback. It's hard to accustom oneself to defeat!

Rumors are:

1. That there is to be no prom. (Can't the juniors sponsor a show or something?)
2. That there might be a Valentine dance. (After supper, mind you! Let's hope it materializes!)
3. That V. Frenzel was very proud of her B. F. at the game last Friday.

FRESHMAN NOTES.

What did Alfred B. do over the weeknd, while Arloine M. was feeding the pigs out at A. M.'s farm?

Jean M. and Betty B. enjoyed scrubbing sinks, polishing woodwork, cleaning out the garbage pail, and other domestic duties, last Friday.

I heard that the skating rink is being flooded especially for Helen G. and Billy B., since they are down there everyday.

Carol V. is still walking about in a daze and talking rapturously of "those hikes" she and some other girls took up to Camel's Back last fall.

Each morning Hope H. comes breezing into home economics and starts relating each incident of her last night's jag.

Mildred S. hasn't let anyone in on the joke that caused her outbreak last Thursday.

JUNIOR JOTS.

Where are our wandering alumni these days? Our halls are so forlorn. We hope they aren't disgusted with New Ulm High School.

Hands of Telham," and Arline Brust, "White Hands of Telham."

On Thursday at 4:30 the junior dramatic elimination contest will be held between Mary Mueller, "Man Who Opened Eyes," and Virginia Meile, "Pieces of Silver."

Thursday evening at 7:15, the sophomore oratorical eliminations will be given. Strictly speaking, this is not really to be an elimination contest. Because only three boys are in the section there will be no eliminations. The winners of the various sections will represent their own classes at the Siegel Trophy contest at 7:30 o'clock on Thursday night, February 9th.

DID YOU KNOW?

Miss Blair even considers the Graphos so important that she sends it way to Oregon.

Fuzzy Fussner thinks business men is trying to sprain an ankle, so the girls will shower their sympathy on him. (Ask Jimmy Arbes.)

Virginia Frenzel, New Ulm High school's vamp, added another victim to her long list, by subduing Lloyd Eyrich, the woman hater.

Elsie Olsen still has a slight yearning to be Beck's one and only.

Thaxter Hanson Miller, the Viking, has wooed another Norseman into his harem of Swedes. (Jack Jordan tries to make us believe he isn't jealous.)

There will be a good many bachelors in the Junior class, according to the demand for a boys' cooking class.

SOPHOMORE SINS.

A Few Definitions to Strengthen Your Vocabulary.

1. Spoiled child—a child handicapped by parents who have less sense than it has.
2. Education—what you know after you've forgotten what you learned.
3. A perfectly darling little thing—an article that is utterly useless except as a present for somebody.

Just a Bit of Everything.

A Sioux Indian in North Dakota was sentenced to serve two years in the state penitentiary for biting off his wife's nose, so she would be less attractive to other men. Now don't you ever try this or maybe you'll have the same fate.

Don't take things too seriously. The person who said that eating onions would prevent a moustache from coming on a woman's lip, was either joking or had visited his girl the previous evening.

Five Things to Learn.

1. Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine.
2. Learn to tell a helpful story.
3. Learn to keep your troubles to yourself. Your classmates are too busy to linger over your ills and sorrows.
4. Learn to stop croaking. If you can't see any good in school, keep the bad to yourself.
5. Learn to greet your friends with a smile. They carry too many frowns in their own hearts to be bothered with yours.

That it's easy to get shocked in gym.

"They tell me your engagement is broken."

"Yes, and Bill behaved abominably."

"But I thought you broke it yourself?"

"So I did, but he made absolutely no fuss about it."

"We better make a front-page story of this wedding," remarked the editor.

"Why?" asked the society reporter in surprise. "They aren't very prominent people."

"That may be," he replied, "but this is the first account of a wedding you have turned in for ages that hasn't had as a last line, 'they will reside with the bride's parents.'"

"What is your occupation?"

"It isn't an occupation, it's a pursuit. I'm a bill collector."

STUDENT OPINION.

* * * * *
Some of the class reporters surely can't write up anything interesting. They're not paid to copy sermons either.

Disgusted Critic.

Miss Blair has such informal, interesting classes. A person doesn't have to be afraid of asking a question once in a while.

Timid Law Student.

Some of the teachers certainly can hand out deep satire. Don't they know that silence is golden?

Cynic.

It wouldn't hurt some of the freshmen and sophomores to get over their affectedness. This applies especially to the girls.

Never-The-Snob.

Sometimes when I read the Graphos, I wonder if the editors are abnormal.

Modern Coleridge.

Why can't the new orchestra play longer? Every time we hear them,

Schnitzelbunk

Teacher: "When was Rome built?"
Don: "At night."
Teacher: "Who told you that?"
Don: "You did. You said Rome wasn't built in a day."

"Papa, I saved ten cents today. I ran all the way to school behind a street car."

"Why didn't you run behind a taxicab and save a dollar?"

Little Marvin found a button in his salad. "I suppose it fell off while the salad was dressing," he remarked.

Financier's Son: "Mother, I have an idea."

Mother: "Well?"

Son: "Lend me ten shillings, but only give me five, and then I shall owe you five and you will owe me five and so we shall be quits."

Father: "I hear you are always at the bottom of the class. Can't you get another place?"

Son: "No, all the others are taken."

"Smith wants me to lend him five dollars. Do you advise me to do so?"

"You would be doing me a personal favor."

"How's that?"

"If he does not get the money from you he will come to me."

"Buy a bunch of violets for your sweetheart, sir?" urged the small boy.

"Haven't got one," replied the young man.

"Take a bunch home to your wife."

"Sorry, I'm not married."

"Here, buy the lot to celebrate your luck!"

The wife's birthday is next week. I'm buying her a washing machine."

"A surprise for her, eh?"

"Yes, she's expecting a new car."

Farmer: If I pay so much a month and my farm is burned out, I get one thousand dollars?"

Fire Insurance Agent: "Certainly, only you must not set fire to the farm yourself."

Farmer: "I knew there was some swindle in it."

Voice Over Telephone: "Hello! Hello! This is Judge Babington Peterson McFetherson the Third. Will you please tell my son, Cravenwood Rutherford McFetherson the Fourth that I would like to speak to him?"

Frosh: "Hey, Mac, your dad wants to speak to you."

Author: "You are late; my play started half an hour ago. Go in on tiptoe."

Friend: "What? Is everybody asleep already?"

"Daughter, your hair is all mussed up. Did that young man kiss you against your will?"

"He thinks he did, mother."

Jazz Fiend.

I didn't like that crack about the unemployed Alumni, which appeared in the last issue of the Graphos.

Alumni.

A certain golf course near London is visited each Monday morning by a party of sporting clergymen, none of whom is an even moderately good player. The caddies sometimes became mildly amusing about their prowess.

One day as the clergymen were seen approaching the club house, the wit of the caddies' shelter said in a solemn tone: "Let us join in singing, 'We plow the fields and scatter.....'"

"Thinking of me, dearest?"

"Was I laughing? I'm so sorry."

"How long have you been working for the company?"

"Ever since the boss threatened to fire me."

"Did you give a penny to the monkey, dear?"

"Yes, mamma."

"And what did the monkey do with it?"

"He gave it to his father, who played the organ."

Fuzzy: "And she was the dumbest girl I ever saw."

Frank: "What makes you think so?"

Fuzzy: "I mentioned bacteria and she thought that was the back door to a cafeteria."

Smith: "What outfit are you working for now?"

Jones: "Same people—wife and five children."

Little Johnny came into the nouse eating a cookie which he had apparently got at the house of a neighbor.

"Haven't I often told you not to ask Mrs. Mason for a cookie?" said his mother reprovingly. "How many times must I tell you that polite little boys don't do such things?"

"But I didn't ask her, mother," said Johnny defensively, "I know where she keeps them."

Father: "Your first fiancee was Albert, your second Bertram, and your third Clement. Is that just chance, or are you thinking of going through the alphabet?"

Lady (who had brought her small son to the hospital for treatment): "It's his head, nurse. He's had it off and on ever since he was born."

"Hi, pal!"

"Lo."

"What's the matter? Sleepy?"

"Naw, I get lots of sleep."

"Must be love then?"

"Naw, it's a girl."

"You shouldn't let a girl let you down that way. Be masterful. Turn that old personality plus on, and she'll fall for you."

"Yeah?"

"Sure, don't be discouraged, pal. But remember, early to bed and early to rise and your girl goes out with other guys."

Mrs. Noggs: "Before we were married you used to say you could listen to my voice forever."

Mr. Noggs: "Well, at that time I had no idea I'd ever have to do it."

Flapper (in cosmetic shop): "My boy friend is such a motor crank, whenever he sees the red he stops—have you any green lipstick?"
