NUMBER 14

FIELD DAY IS NEXT FRIDAY

On next Friday, May 19, the band and orchestra will go to the instrumental festival at St. James. Our own band will play a march, For Liberty, by Morris, and the Cowboy Wedding Overture, by Heyser. The orchestra will play Chanson Triste, by Tschaiakowsky. The massed orchestra, which will consist of about 200 persons, will rehearse at 1:30. The compositions to be played by the massed orchestra are Turkish March, by Beethoven, and Romance in F, by Rolff. Following the rehearsal of this massed orchestra will be the program of the individual orchestras, and lastly, the performance of the massed orchestra. At about 4:30, the massed

AWARD DAY, WEDNESDAY

The annual award and exhibit night will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock. A splendid program has been arranged. The high school orchestra will give a concert, assisted by the New Ulm Girls' Glee club. The awards for athletics, honors, and music will be made during the intermission. Some of the awards are the G. A. R. and D. A. R awards, the American Legion trophy, the Josten medals, the John Pink's, which has taken the place of the Bee Hive garment making contest, and the Eagle bread baking contest winners.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM IS SAMPLE OF FIELD DAY

"Little Bits of Big Numbers" was the title announced for the assembly program, Thursday morning, May 11. Alice Pufahl, senior "Three Star" Squad leader, announced the numbers, which were "samples" of what the numbers in the Field day program are going to be like (?) in a big way.

The number in order were as follows:

1. The Mass Exercises—Group of third and fourth grade pupils.
2. Swingball Demonstration—Lowell Quist and Eugene Grausam.
3. Sparring Match—Arthur Fussner and Donald Rice.
4. Club Swinging—Junior high girls.
5. Parrellel Bar Work—Turner squad.
6. Ring Pyramids—High school boys.
7. Tumbling and Pyramids—Junior high boys.

REGIONAL TRACK MEET HERE, TOMORROW

In the twelfth annual track meet, held at Mankato last Friday, Kading of New Ulm took third place in the 440; Oppelt was third in the low hurdles, Arbes, fourth in the javelin, and New Ulm placed fourth in the relays.

Hutchins of Mankato broke the state high hurdles record, when he finished in 15.9 seconds. Dollarhide of Montevideo, who won the high hurdles at the state meet last year, came in second, behind Hutchins.

Mankato won the track meet with approximately 52 points, Montevideo taking second. Over 150 athletes took part in the meet.

The Regional track meet will be held at the Athletic Field, Saturday, May 13, at 10 o'clock.

JUNIORS AND SENIORS ENJOY PROM

The juniors certainly proved that decorations don't mean a thing at the prom. No one even missed them. The lunch and everything was just as nice as it could be. A lot of people learned to dance, and those that didn't dance worked jig-saw puzzles. The seniors want to thank the juniors and let them know that they weren't the least bit disappointed.

Advice to Girls: Don't always expect silk presents, for you must remember that into each one's life a little rayon must fall.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEMONSTRATION, 19TH

With New Ulm's splendid high school band leading the way, more than seven hundred public school children will swing into step and parade to the athletic field to take part in the school's third annual physical education demonstration next Friday afternoon, May 19. All roads will lead to the new stadium that day. Besides the hundreds of children's parents that are sure to be on hand, there will be scores of out-of-town people present to witness the inspiring program of activities.

The afternoon's formal program will open with a mass drill in which practically the entire public school enrollment will participate. After the mass drill other numbers will follow in quick succession. The entire program will be arranged in the nature of a three-ring circus and will offer ample opportunity for pupils to demonstrate their leadership abilities, willingness to cooperate and to act in the interests of the entire group.

Among the new and novel features included in the program will be a thrilling "chariot race," in which six junior high school boys' teams will participate, a demonstration tennis tournament, an archery tournament, demonstration swing ball and boxing bouts, work on parallel bars, and pyramid building on a six-foot iron ring. All these numbers have required diligent practice sessions and

AMERICAN LEGION

TROPHY AWARDED

Jane Mueller and Frederick Meile have this year been awarded the American Legion trophy. The basis of selection is 40% for outside curricular activities, 40% for citizenship, and 20% for scholarship. The winners' names will be engraved on the trophy, which is a gift from the local Ben J. Seifert Post. Later on, two gold pins will also be awarded to these people.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM FEATURES 8-HAND DUET

Last Friday, Mr. Machula gave his assembly program, which was composed of three parts. The band opened the program by playing a number of selections, which are to be used at the Music Festival. Then we had the privilege of hearing four eight-handed piano duets. The people who played were Mr. R. Lindemann, Mr. Retzlaff, Mr. Wilbrecht, and Mr. Pelzl, and their numbers were certainly appreciated by their audience as was shown by the generous applause they received. Alfred Backer gave a reading, written by Edgar Guest, entitled "Sausages."

FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1933.

PRIVATE LIVES.

Well, it seems as if the seniors had a long wait for "skip day," and in spite of their efforts to keep it a secret, the all knowing teachers calmly assigned lessons on Thursday, for Monday. The annual outing (as the papers would say) was spent in different ways! Some went out to Fort Hill, where they report good fishing and also good kittenball. Ask Myrtle, Alfred, or Dumbo, how much fun it was rowing into shore from the middle of Lake Hanska, on a raft and only three planks for oars? Still none liked, and others took the time to catch up on lost sleep. All in all, a most successful skip day was spent by the class of '33. Here's to more of them!

In spite of mothers warning them to hang their clothes on a hickory limb, but not go near the water, some of our more daring maidens went for a swim in the river, Saturday. Evidently the hickory limb was not found, but the water was. To save the young ladies from any serious embarrassment, we'll omit the names.

Wilbert Marti thinks tennis is a pretty good game, since he and Betsy Larson have taken it up together.

The prom, in spite of people's predictions to the contrary, was a success, and we seniors thank you juniors, hoping you have as good a time next year, as we had this year! Johnny Higgs says he had a specially good time!

Young men who have a tendency to run from the girl friend's house when the rest of the family returns, should look at Cliff W. and learn. He leaped and regretted. Take this or leave it!

In the American Advance during the final days of the war, a sergeant ordered an unbleached private to go into a dugout and clean out any Germans that happened to be there.

The colored gentleman blanched a bit, swallowed his Adam's apple, and then said, huskily, "Ef you sees three or fo' men cum a runnin' out ob dat hole, don shoot de fust one."

"See if you can laugh that off," said the fat man's wife as she wired a button on his vest.

GYM NEWS

Only one more forty-five minute period and then the big demonstration! Do you know the mass drill? Are you on the tumbling squad, the archery demonstration team, the parallel bar squad, the vaulting box squad? Is your quoit tennis team going to beat the champions in the exhibition matches? What are the five men chariot races? How do those "iron men" build pyramids around a sixfoot ring? What is a dumbbell drill? All the above and many more questions are being asked each day. It won't be long now and the world and you will know all about it! Whenever you're on hand and whatever you're in here's wishing you luck, and a happy landing!

Archery.

Nearly thirty girls turned out to be initiated into the mysteries concerning the ancient and noble sport of archery. And did that fine new target take it on the chin! and other places for that matter. Hope Higgs didn't like the target, so she shot at the old barn. Finger tips were blistered and arms chafed, but the do or die spirit is in these ardent disciples of Robin Hood and the tournament next week will see some good fights shot by more than a few high school girls.

From the Pens of Great Educators Throughout the Ages.

Plato (380 B. C.)—"Lack of activity destroys the good condition of every human being, while movement and methodical exercise save it and preserve it."

Aristotle (350 B. C.)—"The principle aim of gymnastics is the education of all youth and not simply that minority of people highly favored by nature. The measures which the state should adopt for public welfare should always aim at the great mass of citizens; for only the education of all citizens, with no exceptions, will give birth to collective virtue." (Nicomachean Ethics).

"The results of good physical education are not limited to the body alone, but they extend even to the soul itself." (Dialogues, Fragments, 45).

Gladstone (1880)—"Time and money spent in training the body, yield a larger interest than any other investment."

PHYSICAL DEMONSTRATION.

will demonstrate a noticeable improvement in the school's physical education work.

Other numbers in the program will include club swinging, a dumbbell drill, vaulting box work, tumbling, folk dancing, and various games and contests. All in all the afternoon's activities should be interesting and worth while for spectator and participant. Only the weather man's help and approval will be needed to make the affair pleasant all around.

CLASS CRIMES

SENIOR SINS.

Although the weather man clouded things up for us a bit, we seniors thoroughly enjoyed skip-day. Some went on picnics or hikes; some played tennis or went fishing, and a choice few amused themselves by driving 'round and 'round the school block honking their car horn and shouting.

We've two big events to look forward to—The band and orchestra concert at St. James today is one, and our annual field day next Friday, is the other. Field day last year was lots of fun. This year the performance will be even better.

I haven't had any suggestions yet. Doesn't anybody know what is going on in school? Don't tell me that review is so strenuous as to cease all student activities!

Last, but not least, we seniors wish to express our appreciation to Miss Kearns for the splendid English IV. outlines she gave us. Now we'll have an idea of what the course was about.

JUNIOR JOTS.

Another love affair will be broken up if Mildred G. finds out that John Richard danced with a teacher at the prom.

Each year the teachers are bringing fewer boy friends to the prom. What's the matter? Isn't dancing exciting enough for them?

On behalf of the junior class, I ask the teachers not to be so cruel to Reinhold Mau. They've even started to call him names.

Help solve the mystery! Who curled Lloyd Doe's hair? Could it have been Elsie Olson.

Winfield B. thinks Sally Meidl is a "honey," but he's afraid to tell her so.

George Fisher has a hard time remembering what he did with his archery medal. It isn't Theo who was lucky enough to get it.

SOPHOMORE SINS.

It is altogether very fitting and proper that we should publish this time the thumbtack biography of the respective retiring senior president, the Honorable Arthur Fussner, who will not be with us much longer, much to the disappointment and grief to all those he leaves behind.

Born Jan. 6, 1915. Died 19.....
President Fussner was born in New Ulm, Minnesota, of German parents, who immigrated to this city during the terrible potato famine in Ireland. At the early age of nine, while in the third grade, he learned how to steer his father's model "T" Ford, and even to this day he still thrills the hearts of many sophomore girls when he takes them for a ride in it. On September 22, 1925, he had an unfortunate accident with the car, when he bumped into a hay load on Summit avenue and was buried under it for twelve hours. The paper reported that the poor little chap barely escaped a terrible death through hay suffocation, but to the joy of all he was discovered and rescued by little Frank Marti, Elmer Kading, Theo Hagberg and Jane Mueller, while they were looking for needles and snakes in the haystack on top of Arthur. He met his supreme glory when he became captain of the New Ulm High school football team in 1932. During that year the boys won all of their sixteen games played, except ten, which they lost. He made his stage debut when he played the important part of a captain in the junior-senior class play, and since then he has made several dramatic performances both on and off the stage. He greatly distinguished himself on April 29, 1933, by giving a splendid speech at the junior-senior prom, with giggles and all that goes with it.

Betsy Larson, Jean Veeck, Ruth Langmack and Mary Mueller have beaten us all to it by opening the swimming season last Saturday by swimming at the dam. Quite early, wasn't it, girls?

The routine of school goes on, broken only by being sent out of various classes for forgetting and closing state examination booklets.

La Donna was sent out of the Modern History class for not knowing what we gained through the War of Independence. Were you listenin', Donna?

Ask James Haynes whom he talks to all during the eighth period!

FRESHMAN FOLLIES.

HAVE YOU HEARD?

That Joseph G. is falling fast and hard for Lyla H.'s new permanent.

That Jean M. has to stay in the house after six o'clock for one month.

That Jack J. didn't go to the prom because Ruth F. couldn't go.

That the story is going that Civet hurt his foot jumping out of Backer's window, because Mr. and Mrs. Backer were coming home.

That Janet L. is using Babes B. as a caddy when she plays golf.

That Burdette D. actually had the nerve to go riding with Hope Higgs.

Mr. Smith: "I hear your boy has a gift for recitation, Mrs. Brown."

Mrs. Brown: "Yes, sir, indeed he has. His uncle says that all he wants is a course of electrocution, just to finish him off."

Teacher: "John, do you know what memory is?"

John: "Yes, sir, that's what you forget with."

"See that man, Johnny? Well, he's six feet in his boots."

"Gwan; you don't expect me to believe that. You might as well say he's six heads in his hat."

The human brain is truly a marvelous thing. It starts working the minute you wake up and never stops until you get to school.

Second-Hand Car Salesman (on trial ground): "This car is sound in every part."

Buyer: "So I hear."

Mother: "What did your father say when you smashed the new car?"

Son: "Shall I leave out the swear words?"

Mother: "Yes, of course."

Son: "He didn't say a word."

Teacher: "Willie, can you name a city in Alaska?"

Willie: "No'me."

Teacher: "Correct."

The absent-minded professor returned home one evening, after ringing his front door bell for some time to no effect, heard the maid's voice from the second-story window:

"The professor is not in."

"All right," quietly answered the professor, "I'll call again." And he hobbled down the stone steps.

DID YOU KNOW?

Chuck O'Malley has a crush on a young (?) girl.

John R. Higgs thinks the sun comes up at 2 o'clock. That's junior intelligence.

Alfred B. got stuck in the mud after coming back from St. George.

All the seniors went on picnics and didn't do much but eat.

Carl Lindmeyer likes to be a butterfly when he dances.

Winfield and Jack Jordan like to hold each other's hands. How romantic.

Lowell Quist wouldn't give anybody but Miss Leonard a break at the prom.

Alfred Bechner won't let Miss Holzinger pull his ears because they're so delicate.

Alex Oppelt can blush beautifully when Myrtle is mentioned.

Howard Alwin can stuff a whole orange in his mouth during school time without having the teacher catch him.

One teacher yawned nine times in a single period. Where was she the night before?

STUDENT OPINION.

The prom certainly was a surprise to a lot of us. We expected to have about as good a time as we did at the Sunlight dances and were surprised in a nice way.

Senior skip day seems all wrong to me. I should think the seniors would want to be in school as much as they could, seeing that they only have a few more weeks and we who have a couple of years ahead of us should get a day off.

Fresh Man.

The senior girls make me tired. They're always arguing and talking about somebody. Can't they learn to keep still?

Senior Boy.

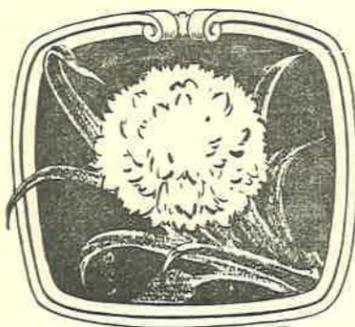

The class meetings surely show how childish some people can be. Why don't they keep people out of high school until they're at least out of the cradle?

Customer (in drug store): "A mustard plaster."

Clerk (force of habit): "We're out of mustard; how about mayonnaise?"

BASEBALL, FRIDAY: NEW ULM VS. FRANKLIN.

The New Ulm High school baseball team will play its first game with Franklin High school, here, Friday, the 12th. Game called at 3 o'clock.

Remember
Sunday is MOTHER'S DAY!

Cop: "Hey, there, don't jam up traffic! Why don't you use your noodle?"

Lady: "I didn't know the car had one."

Social Worker: "What's your name, my man?"

Convict: "No. 888."

Social Worker: "Oh, but that's not your real name."

Convict: "No, my pen name."

"I weigh my words before I speak."

"Well, no one could accuse you of giving short weight."

"Yes," said the cheerful one, telling of a harrowing experience, "we had reached the place where we had eaten the last dog."

"It must have been terrible!" exclaimed the fair listener.

"It was," he said, "they didn't even have mustard to put on it and it was at least 20 miles to the next stand."

Hubby and friend wife were going over the family budget. Frequently he ran across an item, "H. O. K., $3.00," another "H. O. K.," $7.00."

"My dear," he said, "what is this 'H. O. K.'?"

"Heaven Only Knows," she replied.

"You start the engine, sir, by pressing the horn button. You see the previous owner did all his own repairs."

"Did you see in the paper that they already caught that burglar?"

"Fine work, and yet a lot of people call the police inefficient. How did it happen?"

"He parked on the wrong side of the street."

"An eskimo woman is old at forty," says an explorer. An American woman is not old at forty. In fact, she's not even forty.

"You fool, you bumped off the governor instead of the mayor."

"O. K., that's ten dollars more."

Mother: "Quiet, dear, the sandman is coming."

Modern Child: "O. K.; a dollar and I won't tell pop."

Lady: "I want a wart removed."

Hardware Clerk: "But, lady, I'm not a doctor."

Lady: "I know it. I want to buy a revolver."

When the beer bill passed, it was broadcast over a national hiccup.

He: "Look, dear, isn't the rainbow beautiful?"

She: "Oh, yeah; what's it advertising?"

Wedding Guest: "Isn't this your fourth daughter getting married?"

Canny Scot: "Aye, and our rice is getting a wee bit dirty."

Son: "Ma, what's the idea of makin' me sleep on the mantelpiece every night?"

Mother: "Hush, sonny, you only have to sleep there two more weeks and then your picture will be in 'Believe It or Not.'"

Landlady: A professor formerly occupied this room, sir. He invented an explosive."

New Roomer: "Ah! I suppose those spots on the ceiling are the explosives."

Landlady: "No, they're the professor."

High Mucky-Muck: "Let's get our wives together tonight and have a big evening."

Brother Lion-Tamer: "O. K., but where shall we leave them?"

"Mother: "I advertised under an assumed name that I would like to make the acquaintance of a refined young gentleman with an eye for romance."

"Marjorie: "How awful! Did you get any answers?"

"Only one, from father."

She: "How's your companionate marriage coming on?"

He: "Not so good. I lost my wife's address."

He: "We came for the dyer's convention."

She: "Oh, yes. Where are you stain?"

The secret of polite conversation, from what we've observed, is never to open your mouth unless you have nothing to say.

And there they were—the ice all around them was cracking—they couldn't do anything—they were desperate—would nobody bring the liquor?

The India Rubber Man: "Hey Sadie! Tie a knot in my finger so I won't forget the groceries, will you?"

1st: "Is Bruno a good watch dog?"

2nd: "Is he? Why, our house was robbed three times and Bruno watched intently."

"I've lost my job."

"Don't worry, dear, we have our budget to fall back on."

"Now," said the super-salesman, "this instrument turns green if the liquor is good—red if it is bad."

"Sorry, but I'm color blind," apologized the prospect. "Got anything with a gong on it?"

Dentist: "Which tooth do you want extracted?"

Pullmann Porter: "Lower seven."

"Eliza," said a friend of the family to the old colored wash woman, "have you seen Miss Edith's fiance?"

"No, ma'dam. It ain't been in the wash yet."

Operator: "Number, please?"

Sultan's Wife: "Oh, why rub it in?"

"My girl has a beautiful gown that she wears only to teas."

"Who?"

"Me!"

bands will rehearse their numbers, which are as follows: Indiana State Band March, by Farrar; Poet's Dream Serenade, by Huff, and Grandiose Overture, by DeLamastar. The massed band will consist of 400 or more people. This rehearsal will conclude the afternoon program. In the evening the individual bands will play, and the last will be the massed band performance. The critic and festival director will be Alonzo Leach, a prominent Iowa band master.

The band played at the Armory on Achievement day from 11:30 to 1:00, and then were rewarded with a delicious dinner. They received many compliments on their fine performance and beautiful uniforms. The band played also, for the district track meet on April 29.
