

HARMANITES BEAT MORTON 12-11

COMMERCIAL STUDENTS FROLIC AT PARTY

The party given by the Commercial club last Wednesday was a decided success. The members of the club as well as the boys from the first-year class were there and made merry by dancing to the music of the phonograph and playing games. The affair began at seven o'clock, when a meeting was held and a program presented. Alice Marie Kaping and De Ette Dorn read articles on business matters after which Virginia Frenzel played some pleasing violin selections with Myrtle Grussendorf accompanying her on the piano. After the dance and games an appetizing lunch was easily disposed of by the hungry revelers.

ORCHESTRA AND GLEE CLUB ENTERTAIN

Last Tuesday the girls' glee club and the high school orchestra entertained the superintendents of the district and the members of the school board.

The orchestra played the following selections: "Festal March in C," by Cadmen, "The First Movement of The Unfinished Symphony," by Schubert, and "Operative Gems," compiled by Delanter. The girls' glee club sang "Carrillon," by Biel, "Dear Land of Home," by Sibelius, and "Lift Thine Eyes," by Mendelssohn.

The date for the Annual Music concert, when all musical organizations of the high school participate, has been set for January 25.

The orchestra now has two string bass players.

JINGLE BELLS

For the Benefit of Those Who Didn't Know It Tuesday.

I.

Dashing through the snow
In a one-horse, open sleigh,
O'er the fields we go,
Laughing all the way;
Bells on bobtail ring,
Making spirits bright,
What fun it is to ride and sing
A sleighing song tonight!

Chorus:

Jingle bells! jingle bells!
Jingle all the way!
Oh, what fun it is to ride
In a one-horse, open-sleigh!
(Repeat)

II.

A day or two ago
I thought I'd take a ride,
And soon Miss Fannie Bright
Was seated by my side;
The horse was lean and lank,
Misfortune seemed his lot,

LAMBERTON HERE TONIGHT LOSE TO WINTHROP, 20 TO 17

The New Ulm and Winthrop High schools opened their basket ball seasons December 2, and Winthrop finished the game holding the bag. Only one personal foul was called in the first half, that being called on New Ulm. The locals found the basket hard to hit during the first half. Winthrop scored four baskets and one free throw to the locals' four baskets, in the first part of the tilt. The half ended with the score 9 to 8 in favor of the guests.

The second half proved to be even more exciting than the first. The score was tied most of the time, and because of the speed taken on by both teams, more fouls were committed. Three were called on New Ulm and one on the visitors. New Ulm scored four baskets and made one free throw, while Winthrop sank three baskets and made four points on free shots. The game ended, and the score board showed Winthrop to be the victors by a score of 20 to 17.

Substitutes: Winthrop—F. Schreiner. New Ulm—F. Meile, J. Jordan, C. Walrath.

The Harmanites defeated the Morton quint last Friday night by a score of 12 to 11. New Ulm was behind until the last few seconds of the game, when a local man scored. The game went into an overtime period with the score 11 to 11, and a Harmanite won the game by sinking a free throw.

Due to the small floor, numerous fouls were called; five were called on the locals, and fourteen on Morton. Two Morton men went out on fouls. New Ulm took two time-out advantages. The Harmanites made four free throws out of fourteen attempts. Morton sank five out of five free throws. The New Ulm quint made four field goals, and Morton sank three field goals.

DEBATE IS HELD THURSDAY NIGHT

Thursday night a non-decision practice debate was held in the New Ulm High school assembly between New Ulm and Mankato. Our team took the affirmative on the question: "Resolved, that at least one-half of all taxes for state and local purposes should be derived from sources other than tangible property." Mabel Brown, Ora Schleuder, and Byrll Edmiston comprise the New Ulm team.

PLAY DRAWS HUGE CROWD

A large crowd of eager spectators crowded the High school auditorium, last Wednesday, to see the Junior-Senior class play, "Arms And The Man." The colorful, picturesque costumes and scenery, immediately attracted attention, which was held by the acting of the cast as the play proceeded.

Jane Mueller, portraying the character of Raina, the beautiful but spoiled daughter of Major and Catherine Petkoff, (Alfred Bechner and Melba Bach), was engaged to Sergius (Donald Pollei), handsome Bulgarian officer yet secretly in love with the "Chocolate Soldier," (Alex Oppelt), who had taken refuge in her bedroom when pursued. The situation was further complicated by the pert little servant girl, Louka (Verona Vee), and the very practical, unemotional servant, Nicola, (J. R. Higgs). However, everything as usual, ended happily, and the heroine got her chocolate soldier, and Louka found her hero in the person of the handsome young officer, Sergius.

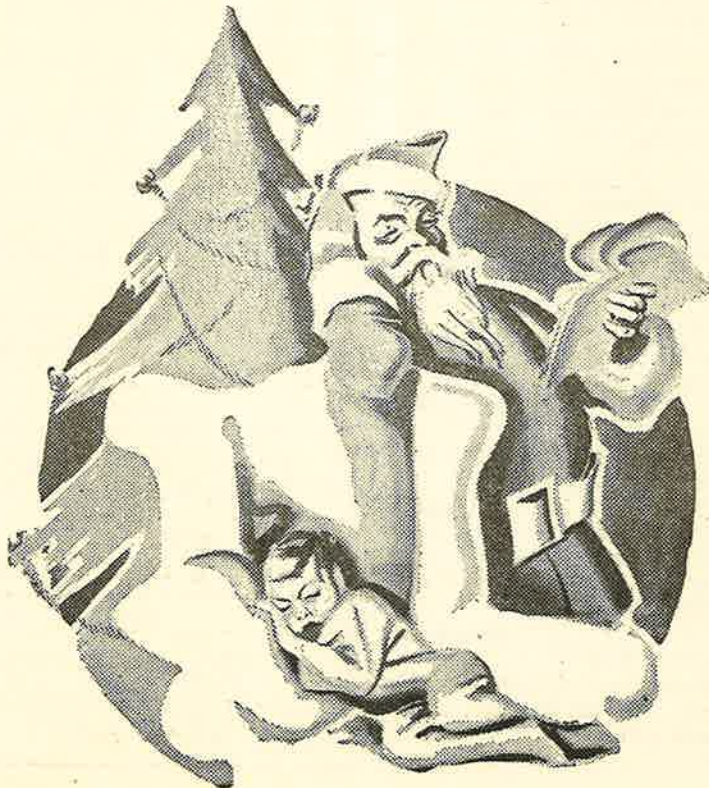

The cast, coach, and various committees are to be congratulated on the success they made of the play. Music between acts was furnished by "Slim's" band.

BASKET BALL IS DEMONSTRATED

Last Friday morning our assembly program consisted of a talk on democracy, as applied to schools, by Mr. Dirks, and some enlightening information concerning basket ball from Mr. Harman. Jimmie Huelskamp and Winfield Backer assisted Mr. Harman in demonstrating several important rules and frequent violations of these rules. The program was due, to a great extent, to the boozing which met one of the referee's decisions at the Winthrop-New Ulm game. Now that we are better informed on the technical principles of basket ball, let's hope there'll be no more un-sportsmanlike exhibitions at our games.

PLAY IS WELL RECEIVED

The play, "The Taming of the Modern Shrew," given in the assembly, last Wednesday afternoon, was immensely enjoyed by all who saw it. Besides being very humorous, the action proceeded without any let down so that there was not a dull moment in the entire play. Things would probably have been different if there had been a mother-in-law for the hero to contend with. However, the surprise ending fixed everything up so that after all the right parties "lived together happily ever after."

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1932.

PRIVATE LIVES.

Erwin Christianson wishes his mother would go to Mankato every Monday, because Betsy Larson and he had so much fun taking the wash off the Christianson line.

Did you know that our next year's football captain, Jimmie Arbes, has more fun playing with his electric train; and Gretchen K. and La Donna S. play with their dolls every Saturday afternoon? Children will be children, no doubt!

Another romance hit by the depression is the C. Walrath-Mary Mueller affair.

When the "little things in life" go together, we see Le Vere Zschunke taking Eleanor Nelson home.

Well, it seems as if the first is the best after all. Winfield is again spending his evenings at the Olsen residence.

Hope Higgs' affections have switched from Ralph Rieke to Thaxter Miller. Thaxter was heard to remark that he thinks Hope has really grown up.

I asked Altha S. and Evelyn L. for some scandal about them and they informed me that their lives are a blank! It can't possibly be as bad as all that!

Grace S. wants me to tell you that it is St. Paul she goes to and not Minneapolis.

Betty Backer and Jean Muesing would like to get the Besmehn boys back again. If you don't succeed the first time, try and try again!

YOU KNOW HIM—

He's always down and out, and he Blames others for every error; But he could see his enemy If he looked in a mirror.

George (from next door): "Mrs. Jones, may I use your telephone?" Mrs. Jones: "Certainly, George. Is yours out of order?"

George: "Well, not exactly, but Sis is using it to hold up the window, Ma's cutting biscuits with the mouth-piece and baby's teething on the cord."

"Why didn't Kitty sing for you last night? Did you press her?" "I did. That's why she didn't sing."

STUDENT OPINION.

If it doesn't warm up around this school, everyone will have to start wearing red flannels.

B. V. D.

It's just as I thought, we're promised dances and then get one about every three months.

The teachers that call on the freshman for library passes before they call on the upper classmen make me sick. What reference work have freshmen got anyway?

Senior.

What's the use of having Graphos boxes? The editors never put anything we give them in the Graphos.

I think the way we get our marks in gym is unfair. Why should we get credit for going skating? Many of us would skate if we had skates, but we can't afford them.

Why have some people three study periods a day when others haven't any?

We wonder what the sophomore reporter meant by making certain remarks, which she probably considered bright, about the junior class in the last issue of the Graphos.

Resentful Junior.

We resent some of the remarks made about us. The way everyone talks you'd think we belong in some of these institutions, Mr. Dirks is always talking about.

Another Junior.

I think we ought to get new teachers every year. The old ones are getting tiresome.

The senior notes sound as though they are a weekly account of the reporter instead of the class.

Mr. Harman's explanation of the new rules in basket ball were appreciated by me.

Dummy.

SANTA'S MAIL.

Dear Mr. Claus: Bring us all the news, scandal, etc., you can.

Editors.

Dear Santa Claus: Please bring me a new set of juniors. The present bunch are not up to the standard.

Miss Ritt.

Dear Santa Claus: Please give some of my many boy friends to some poor girl, who is not as fortunate as I am.

Janet Landrum.

Dear Santa Claus: Please send the depression up to Mars forever.

N. U. H. S.

Dear Santa Claus: Please, take some of my students who are so very unsocialized, to an institution about 30 miles from here.

Mr. Dirks.

Dear Santa: Please bring me a fur cap so that I won't freeze my other ear.

George Fisher.

Dear Santa Claus: Please, send me your latest book, "The Noiseless Library."

Miss Holzinger.

Dear Santa Claus: I want a tam. I always have to wear some of the girls, and I don't think Edith likes it.

Donald P.

Dear Santa Claus: If my Ford doesn't behave better by Christmas, send me a horse, an old gray mare will do.

Miss Kearns.

CLASS CRIMES

SENIOR SINS.

Wouldn't it be grand if we had double seats in school? I'm sure our ancestors didn't appreciate theirs. I know Fritzie Meile and I would enjoy one so much. My desk is slightly narrow for comfort. I suppose we could manage in a pinch, though.

I wonder how "Jess" Nicholson liked Melba in the role of mother?

We found lots of pupils in school who enjoy playing "ping-pong." Ask somebody about it—Virginia Frenzel or Jane Mueller.

There's a cute new red-and-green plaid book in the library for thirsty souls. It's called "Wee Drappies," by Sir Harry Lauder. And would you believe it? It's got a real bottle of Scotch in it. Ahem!

In conclusion:

When you're sitting in the library, and making lots of noise, With little chats and giggles which everyone enjoys,

Instead of doing reference work or reading dry old books,

And the librarian gives to you a few reproving looks,

You'd better mind your manners, or else beyond a doubt,

Miss Holzinger'll get you, if you don't watch out.

JUNIOR JOTS.

We really hope our English III. public speaking is over. Every speech made the junior class dumber than before. It's getting to a point where the junior class of 1932-33 is the dumbest in the history of New Ulm High school. (Founded sometime before 1868.)

A new game has been originated by some clever freshman girls. The game is known as "Truth and Consequence," and is played when one is in a romantic mood.

Mr. Dirks told six little "upper classmen" to be quiet if they wished to occupy the front seats at the class play.

We hope everyone knows how to play basket ball now. "Winnie" and "Jim" made a very brilliant exhibition of how to make fouls.

If the class play was a financial failure, blame it on the junior class. It wouldn't seem right if some other group were blamed.

DID YOU KNOW?

John Richard Higgs doesn't wash his neck every day, at least he didn't after the class play.

Florence Sjogren likes to hang around the library, and not because she is so fond of Miss Holzinger.

Jimmy Huelskamp controlled himself quite well when he saw all those handsome soldiers kiss his girl friend in the class play.

Miss Sogn can understand the language Elmer Kading speaks. It must be funny because she always laughs.

Some people want Miss Ritt to instruct them in love making.

Virginia Frenzel thinks Winfield B. is cute.

Miss McGee looks quite distinguished in her new specks.

Jean Muesing likes to play truth and consequences.

A lot of people don't know what to do with themselves Wednes-

SOPHOMORE SINS.

THEY SAY THAT:

The only man who is willing to face the music these days is the orchestra leader. Mr. Halling certainly is a fine illustration of this fact.

Talking is a pleasant pastime, whether you say anything or not. We've found this out in the library. Ask Miss Holzinger if this isn't true.

Erwin C. believes in the Einstein theory, but they also say there are only two people in the world who can understand it. Erwin must be one of them.

To stop your nose bleed stand on your head till your heart stops beating. Wilford Hamann tried this and never was troubled with nosebleeds again.

Mary Ellen B. has perfect poise because she doesn't look self-conscious in a rumble seat.

The modern dance has developed in leaps and bounds. There may not be so many bounds at our Sunlight dance, but there are plenty of leaps.

Automobiles get their habits from their owners. Haven't you noticed that Leo Esser's car acts just as he does?

Lloyd Eyrych is going to be a minister, and he's going to rely on a long line of ministerial ancestors for his background.

The honeymoon is over when he stops calling her "darling" and calls her "say."

FRESHMAN NOTES.

That distinguished looking lady, who complimented the sophomore class so highly was certainly deceived. Here's proof:

Ripley says, "Believe it or not, sophomore means 'foolishly wise.'"

If the sophomore class think they're so talented, look at this:

Joseph G.—Future cornet player in Guy Lombardo's orchestra.

Audrey M. is promised Marie Dressler's position when she retires.

Kenneth B. and Lyla Hoffmann, best match ever made.

Harvey H.—Very promising specimen of a famous algebra professor.

Elinor R.—Champion bread maker.

Jean M.—Best informed woman on how to get dates.

Slick E.—New York's fastest chauffeur.

Hope H.—1932's best flapper.

day nights now that the Armory dances are over.

Hope Higgs has a terrible secret that she doesn't want any one to find out.

Why De Ette Dorn got mad at her boy friend, the big one.

Heavy pink underwear seems to be pretty popular with some of the girls.

Some of the teachers need to become just as socialized as we do.

Judge (to lady witness): "Married?"

Witness: "Yes, Twice."

Judge: "Age?"

Witness: "Twenty-six."

Judge: "Also twice?"

She: "I understand that you made a bet that if you proposed to me I would accept you?"

He: "Yes, will you marry me?"

She: "How much did you bet?"

Mrs. W.: "Do you suppose we shall ever have universal peace?"

Mr. W.: "Hardly. I fancy marriage will never be entirely abolished."

Miss McGee: "What are the Middle Ages?"

Howard A.: "Why, the middle ages are the ones which, when the women reach, they stop counting."

"Jim is perfectly devoted to that blonde. His family thinks it is a case of hypnotism."

"Huh! Seems to me more like a chemical attraction."

Gossip: "I saw your wife out riding yesterday with a strange man!"

Husband (wearily): "He must have been a strange man."

"That girl on the sofa looks all broken up."

"Yes, her fiance just crushed her in his arms!"

Teacher: "Johnny, if you don't behave I'll have to send a note to your father."

Johnny: "You'd better not. Ma's as jealous as a cat."

Mother: "Poor Danny is so unfortunate."

Caller: "How's that?"

Mother: "During the track meet he broke one of the best records they had in college."

I heard one recently about a little boy who went to school for the first time. When he returned home his father inquired how he liked it.

"It's all right, but they ask too many questions," said the lad. "First they asked me where you were born and I told them. Then they asked me where mother was born and I told them. But when they asked me where I was born I had to tell a lie."

"Why?" asked his father.

"I didn't want to say I was born in the Women's Hospital and have them think I was a sissy so I told them it was in the Yankee Stadium."

Two colored boys were having an argument about ghosts. One of them claimed to have seen a ghost as he passed the cemetery the night before.

"What was dis here ghos' doin' when yo' las' seen him?" asked the doubting one.

"Jes fallin' behin', mistah; fallin' behin', rapid."

The speaker at a political meeting was being heckled. At last he could stand it no longer.

"Who brayed there?" he asked sarcastically. "No one," retorted a voice. "It was only an echo."

Patient: "Doctor, what I need is something to stir me up—something to put me in fighting trim. Did you put anything like that in this prescription?"

Doctor: "No—you'll find that in the bill!"

Motor Cop (after hard chase): "Why didn't you stop when I shouted at you back there?"

Driver (with only five bucks but presence of mind): "I thought you just said, 'Good Morning, Senator'."

Cop: "Well, you see, Senator, I wanted to warn you about driving fast through the next township."

Five-year-old Thomas was taken into the room to see his new little brother. Thomas gazed soberly at the baby a few seconds and then, shaking his head, muttered disgustedly, "He should have been a girl, there's too many men out of work in this country now!"

New Assistant: "No, madam, we haven't had any for some time."

Zealous Manager (overhearing): "Oh, yes, we have it, madam: I will just go into the warehouse and find it for you." (Aside to the New Assistant): "Never refuse anything, send out for it!"

As the lady went out laughing, the manager demanded: "What did she say?"

Assistant: "She said we hadn't had any rain lately."

Kelly and Cohen were having dinner together. Cohen helped himself to the larger fish and Kelly said:

"Fine manners ye have, Cohen. If I had reached out first I'd have taken the smaller fish."

"Vell," Cohen replied, "you got it, didn't you?"

A merchant being told he had only a few days to live, called his lawyer and said:

"Make my will so my overdraft at the Bank goes to my wife—she can explain it. My equity in my car to my son—he will have to go to work to keep up the payments. Give my good will to the supply houses—they took some awful chances on me and are entitled to something. My equipment you can give to the junkman—he has had his eye on it for several years. I want six of my creditors for pallbearers—they have carried me so long they might as well finish the job."

Doctor (examining West Side brunette): "You've got acute appendicitis."

Patient: "Don't get fresh! I came here to be examined—not to be admired!"

Aunt Hetty: "Sakes alive, I don't believe no women could ever be so fat."

Uncle Cy: "What y' readin' now, Hetty?"

Hetty: "Why this paper tells about an Englishwoman that lost two thousand pounds."

On January 9 another practice debate will be held with Worthington, here. The first district debate will be held on February 15, at Sleepy Eye. This time New Ulm will take the negative.

WHAT TULSANS READ.

Tulsa, Okla. (ABS)—English students at Tulsa High school recently questioned 268 persons concerning their reading habits. They found that 110 read the front page first, 83 the comics, 26 the sports page, 11 the columns and features, 8 the editorials, 6 the ads, 5 the society page, and 3 the stock market reports. Will Rogers proved the most popular columnist.

A PLAY FOR A PLAY.

Milwaukee, Wis. (ABS)—Plays produced by Shorewood High school's dramatic club are soon to be presented in Wauwatosa and West Allis High schools in exchange for plays these schools will later put on at Shorewood.

TOWARD BETTER VOICES.

Martinsville, Ind. (ABS)—Better speaking voices among students and teachers is the aim of the dramatic art class at Martinsville High school, and a campaign is now in progress. Posters are up, a publicity committee is at work, and a contest to discover the boy and girl with the most nearly perfect voice is under way, The Artesian Herald says.

"Unless you pay up soon," wrote the blackmailer, "the gang will be instructed to kidnap your wife."

"I have no money," came the reply, "but I am interested in your proposition."

WHY TEACH IT?

Milwaukee, Wis. (ABS)—Salesmanship is a popular subject at Washington High school here. Some students learn the art of fast talking so perfectly that they are even able to talk teachers out of "ninth hours," reports the Washington Scroll.

SMART, IS IT NOT?

Minneapolis, Minn. (ABS)—Girls at Mary Miller Vocational High school here are given training in all steps of selling wearing apparel from wrapping to superintending. The school has a "Retail Store," where uniforms, dresses, hats, and other articles made in the school are sold to outside customers as well as students and teachers, the Vocational Crier reports.

IN ROMAN TYPE, TOO.

Binghamton, N. Y. (ABS)—Redactor Princeps! Redactor Literarum! Redactor Iocorum! These are the titles of some of the editorial staff members of the Spectator, published monthly by the Latin department of West Junior High school. The titles, translated, stand for editor-in-chief, book editor, and joke editor. The paper is an eight-page multigraphed affair, bright with jokes and puzzles and filled with much solid information.

Here He Is Again.

And then there was the absent-minded professor who made the students write the questions while he answered them.

We Find 'Em So.

Dumb: "Did you ever study a blotter?"
Dumber: "Don't believe I have."
Dumb: "It's a very absorbing thing."

First Golfer (looking at a shaky player): "What's that chap's handicap, I wonder?"

Second Golfer: "Drink, I should say."
